Nixon, Tito Agree: Long Road Ahead In Mideast

"WE ARE ALL NASSERS" — Egyptian soldiers wept uncontrollably today at the funeral of President Gamal Abdel Nasser, who died Monday of a heart attack. An estimated four million persons jammed into Cairo for the event, turning the Egyptian capital into a cacophony of weeping, wailing and shouts of "to Heaven, Gamal." The soldiers chanted, "We are all Nassers. With the army and the people, we will conquer Israel." The mourning throng turned the funeral procession into chaos. (UPI Telephone)

Judges Rule Out Trials At Prison Quentin

Facilities Lacking

By MARY LEYDECKER

The judges of Marin Superior Court have decided against holding jury trials for San Quentin inmates inside the prison, but preliminary legal proceedings will continue to take place there.

In a letter to the Marin County Board of Supervisors, who had urged prison trials, Joseph C. Wilson, presiding judge of the Superior Court, explained the reasons for the decision.

He cited lack of suitable physical facilities, possible impact upon jurors entering the prison and the providing of a provocation for disruptive tactics by activists.

CANCELS PLANS

The judges' decision canceled the possibility that trials of two San Quentin inmates earlier set for the prison courtroom would be held there. Cases of Leo Estrada Robles, Death Row inmate facing a new penalty trial, and Clarence Jacobs, charged with an offense while in prison, will apparently be held at the Hall of Justice later this month.

During the period since the Aug. 7 shootout at the Hall of Justice, preliminary proceedings involving inmate cases, such as arraignments, appointments of lawyers and setting of trial dates have been held at the prison. This will continue, the judge said.

As for jury trials, Judge Wilson and his colleagues do not think it is possible "to provide satisfactory physical facilities at the prison."

LACK OF SEATING

Unsatisfactory acoustics, lack of suitable seating for jurors and witnesses, lack of jury rooms were cited as faults with the makeshift courtroom in a prison training-recreation building.

Even if these faults could be corrected with the spending of enough money, the judges saw another problem.

"All of us have grave doubts as to whether it would be possible for a fair trial to take place within the prison, the letter said.

"There is no question that taking jurors, many of whom would not have been there before, onto prison grounds cannot fail to have some impact on their ability to be fair and objective," Judge Wilson wrote.

He suggested that "some would be unduly sympathetic towards an inmate defendant, while others might react with fear and antagonism . . ."

A further factor, according to Judge Wilson, "is the extent to which holding trials at the prison would be regarded as a provocation by those disruptive elements who are only too eager to seize upon any excuse to attack our institutions."

PHOENIX LAKE

Bon Tempe Plant Pollution Claimed

By LARRY MOWELL

(First of two articles)

Phoenix Lake is being polluted with sludge from the Bon Tempe water treatment plant of the Marin Municipal Water District and has been for 12 years, according to a 23-year-old Ross School teacher who studied English literature in college.

Furthermore, he charges that the sludge being discharged at night was partially responsible for the death of at least 1,000 trout in the lake in late July.

Last summer, Campbell conducted a course for junior high school students on the basic concepts of ecology, under sponsorship of Ross School, and the group devoted 10 weeks to study of the Phoenix Lake area.

His conclusion: "Phoenix Lake is being needlessly polluted and poisoned by both the MMWD and the Department of Fish and Game."

Ordinarily English majors aren't reliable sources of scientific information on ecology even when they have minored in biology, Dan K. Campbell's claim that Phoenix Lake is a "sludge sump" seemed unfounded when William R. Seeger, general manager of the water district, last week assured the Independent-Journal, "No alum is getting into Phoenix Lake."

However, sludge, which is being dumped into the lake — though this was at first denied by Seeger — is primarily alum combined with water, according to James Farnkoph, senior district engineer for purification.

Seeger said the lake is strictly for public recreation and the water district does not disturb the lake. But this appears not to be so, because Bon Tempe lacks sludge treatment facilities such as those at the district's San Geronimo plant.

At San Geronimo, Farnkoph said, most of the 5,000 pounds of sludge a day is placed in a sludge drying bed where alum, sodium silicate, chlorine, silica and lime used for water treatment are removed.

How then is sludge treated at Bon Tempe without a treatment bed? "That's a $64 question," Farnkoph said, and promised to call back with the answer. He never did.

However, a check with Robert Ryder, project engineer for Kennedy Engineers of San Francisco when the firm built the Bon Tempe plant in 1958, produced the answer: "It was the idea at the time of design of the plant to discharge in the stream that went down to Phoenix Lake."

Seeger, approached again by the I-J and asked where the alum-bearing sludge is dumped, said, "It is discharged into a canyon within the watershed." But when confronted with the engineer's statement, Seeger conceded the sludge flows into Phoenix Lake.

He also called Campbell's six-page outline of charges and evidence "a real good report" and promised to meet with Campbell next week to discuss

Firemen Battle Blazes

MONTEREY (UPI) — A blaze that has charred 36,000 acres of brush and timber in the Santa Lucia mountains burned slowly today toward the Big Sur area as a force of some 1,300 firefighters worked to control the flames.

The fire, mostly in Los Padres National Forest, is one of three major blazes still uncontrolled in California after more than a week of hot, dry, windy weather.

U.S. Forest Service officials said the Los Padres fire was 75 per cent contained, but no estimate could be made on when the blaze will be fully controlled.

Authorities were concerned about today's weather report, which called for more warm weather and strong, dry winds.

"This could make for a bad scene," one official said.

The flames broke out on the southeast perimeter Wednesday night, and the U.S. Forest Service had to call in support from the California State Division of Forestry.

Thirty-five ground tankers, eight aerial tankers, 15 bulldozers and eight helicopters were being used in the battle. On the east sector of the fire, burning in Hunter Liggett Military Reservation, eight aerial tankers were being used.

The Los Padres fire was so hot that it cracked rocks, causing slides which made automobile driving dangerous on parts of California Highway 1 which parallels the Pacific ocean.

Other fires were burning in Sequoia National Forest near Bakersfield and in Cuyamaca State Park near San Diego.

A four-mile front of flames burned through rough terrain in Cuyamaca State Park, although more than 1,000 men put lines around 20 per cent of the 12,000-acre fire.

Four Million Mourners Bid President Nasser Good-Bye

CAIRO (UPI)—Gamal Abdel Nasser, the revolutionary who gave all Arabs a sense of nationhood, was buried today in a simple black shroud beside an arabesque mosque within sight of the Pyramids while the millions who had turned his funeral procession into chaos chanted, "to heaven, Gamal."

The body of the 52-year-old president of Egypt, who died Monday from a heart attack, was borne through the streets of Cairo on a gun carriage draped with the Egyptian flag and pulled by six black Arabian steeds. An estimated four million mourners surged forward in an outpouring of love.

Twice they tore the black, red and white Egyptian flag with its two green stars from the wooden casket. At one frightening moment, with cries of "let us carry him ourselves," they tilted the carriage until the coffin almost slipped to the ground. Once they lifted the carriage from the ground.

The crowd chanted, "Nasser! Nasser! Nasser!" but they were outdone by the soldiers who led them with yells of "we are all Nasser's. With the army and the people, we will conquer Israel." Palestinians in the crowd joined with cries of "with our souls and blood we shall continue the march."

By sheer force of numbers the crowds pushed aside dignitaries, the honor guard, the armored cars that had been sent in as reinforcements. At the end, police lines disintegrated and there was no funeral route at all.

Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin led 18 heads of state, nine prime ministers, four vice presidents and dozens of ministers and special envoys for the man who ruled Egypt for 14 years. They were lost in the outpouring of grief today.

Nasser's death left a void in Arab leadership so great there was none who was sure to succeed him. Sudanese Prime Minister Jaafar el-Numeiry called the visiting Arab heads of state to a summit conference this evening to consider the future of the Middle East without Nasser.

Nasser was borne by helicopter from the Kubbeh Palace across Cairo to the former headquarters of the Revolution Council on the banks of the Nile where Nasser and his fellow army officers plotted the 1952 coup which overthrew King Farouk and ended 5,000 years of rule by kings. The Pyramids loomed on the skyline.

MIG21 jets screamed through the Cairo skies, a present from the Soviet Union which had backed his army against Israel. Artillery boomed a 101 gun salute and the funeral cortege set out across Cairo to the mosque and the Moslem funeral rites.

Boys and men climbed on light poles, trees and housetops and fences along the route. At one point a section of fence collapsed with a roar, throwing 12 men to the ground and injuring many of them.

The tension grew as the

Peace Still Remote, Says Israel

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Seven Palestinian guerrillas released by Western governments in exchange for the hostages of three hijacked airliners flew to Cairo today in time for the funeral of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

The seven included Leila Khaled, a pretty, 24-year-old Palestinian who failed in an attempt to hijack an Israeli El Al jetliner near London Sept. 6. Her companion was killed in the attempt, but Miss Khaled, who had participated in an earlier, successful hijacking, became a hero to the guerrillas.

Miss Khaled wah released by the British government, while three other commandos were released by West Germany and three by Switzerland.

In the meantime, Arab truce officials were supervising the withdrawal from Amman of Jordanian government troops and guerrilla forces. Under a truce agreement negotiated by Nasser shortly before his death Monday, they must withdraw to at least three miles from the boundaries of the city.

The pullout started late Wednesday.

Damascus Radio said the North Jordanian cities of Irbid and Ramtha, the guerrila strongholds that were the scene of fresh fighting Wednesday, were quiet, but that 20 persons were killed and 45 wounded in the clashes.

White the Arab world was in mourning for Nasser, Israel ushered in the year 5731 on the Jewish calendar today. Premier Golda Meir, in a holiday statement, appealed for the beginning of an "epoch of peace and regional cooperation in the area."

However, she said "peace is still remote. The failure of Arab aggression was followed in recent months by an unprecedented escalation on the part of the Soviet Union."

Nixon, Tito Agree Long Road To Peace In The Turbulent Mideast

BELGRADE (UPI) — President Nixon was reported today to have won agreement from Yugoslav President Tito in nearly two hours of talks that "further patient work and new efforts" were needed to bring peace in the turbulent Middle East.

The Nixon-Tito talks, described by Yugoslav sources as frank but mutually beneficial, also touched on Southeast Asia and Africa and included a call for further economic development and cooperation between the United States and Yugoslavia.

Their formal talks concluded, Tito and Nixon flew 250 miles northwest of Belgrade for visits in drizzling rain to Zagreb, the Croatian state capital, and Kumrovec, where the birthplace of the 78-year-old independent Communist ruler is a national shrine.

An estimated 100,000 persons turned out at Zagreb. "You know they say we can get people to come out," Tito told Nixon at one point, "but you know, Mr. President, you cannot get them to smile or show the warmth they have here."

The two leaders flew back to Belgrade in late afternoon following a 3 1-2-hour tour of the countryside, including Tito's white stucco, red-tiled birthplace, for a state dinner given by the American President in his host's honor. Nixon flies to Spain on Friday.

Yugoslav officioals indicated that in their talks, Tito, who has strongly supported the Arabs, and Nixon, who has continued U.S. military and political aid to Israel, did not fully agree on the Middle East.

Both expressed anxiety over "the very grave and delicate situation" there.

Nixon sought Yugoslavia's nonaligned support for U.S. peace efforts in the Mediterranean while opposing foreign intervention.

Both were said to have stressed the need for "further patient work and new efforts to create conditions for the peaceful solution of the crisis," including the problem of Palestinian refugees.

Tito was reported to have noted African efforts "to prevent interference by the big powers in the affairs of African countries, which certainly is also in the interest of all big and advanced countries."

The two leaders joined their wives for drinks after their morning talks that touched on the dramatic change in the Middle East power structure brought by Gamal Abdel

Equality In Education Held 'Mere Pipedream'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A California educator said Thursday the prospect of equal education is a "mere pipedream" since those in power won't cheat their own children in order to help disadvantaged youngsters.

Prof. Henry M. Levin of Stanford University, in blunt testimony to the Senate Select Committee on Equal Education Opportunity, said it is this "crisis of values," and not just money problems, that most plagues American education.

He accused local, state and federal officials of boasting about programs to aid poor children while actually continuing to funnel the bulk of school funds into affluent schools.

"It is a mere pipedream to assert that equal educational opportunity is close at hand...," Levin said. "Why would the wealthy ever encourage a system of educational finance that would allow as much or more investment in the children of the poor than in their own children?" ...

"The children of the powerless are hardly going to receive assistance from those powers that see the status of their own children threatened."

Levin also said "simply mixing bodies" to achieve racial balance in schools would provide neither true integration nor equal opportunity without improved attitudes and programs.

He said disparities between poor and rich areas is so great that new york spends three times as much per child in its

SEARCHES FOR FOOD—A woman looks for food scraps in the rubble of a building in the village of Tang Kauk, north of Phnom Penh, Cambodia. It is in an area where Red troops have launched an all-out offensive to cut the nation's rice bowl line. (UPI Radiophoto)

Reds Ignore Cambodian Religious Holiday In Drive On Rice Bowl

By FRANK FROSCH

PHNOM PENH (UPI) —Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces ignored a Cambodian religious observance to launch attacks against four towns on Highway 5 connecting Phnom Penh with the nation's rice bowl, the Cambodian Command said today.

Military spokesmen said the attacks Wednesday night were in a stretch of the road running from 30 miles northwest of the capital to 58 miles northwest of Phnom Penh. The rice crop is only weeks away from harvest.

"We must keep the highway open if we hope to have any sufficient rice crop at all," an Agriculture Ministry official said. "If we lose Highway 5, we may be faced with a very serious rice shortage in Phnom Penh."

Western diplomats have theorized that may be just what the Communists have in mind.

The government has already begun a campaign to urge the people of Phnom Penh to raise their own vegetables in case of a siege of the capital.

Communiques from Saigon said an American OV10 Bronco spotter plane was shot down near the Cambodian town of Tang Kauk Wednesday, killing both crewmen.

It was beleved to be the first U. S. plane downed while flying in support of Cambodian ground troops.

The U. S. Command said 63 Americans were killed and 344 wounded in the war last week compared with 52 dead and 333 wounded the previous week. South Vietnam lost 246 killed and 690 wounded.

The Saigon government also said it had finished a series of operations in the northern quarter of South Vietnam, killing 2,371 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong over the past three months at a cost of 304 government troops killed and 647 wounded. The operation began July 1 and ended Wednesday.

The Agriculture Ministry spokesman said the Cambodian rice harvest was already expected to be down by at least 40 per cent from last year.

The Communists attacked the towns of O Sandan, Tau Laak, Sala Lek Pram and Kompong Chhang. All were hit by mortar and automatic weapons fire.

The Cambodian Command declined to say whether any of the towns were occupied by the Communists but said a number of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were killed. Cambodian casualties were unreported.

The attack on Highway 5 endangered the fifth of six key Cambodian roadways. The Highway Command listed Highways 2,3,4 and 6, all stretching out in spoke-like fashion from Phnom Penh, as either closed or insecure.

The Communists still held a three-mile stretch of Highway 4 linking the capital and the port of Kompong Som. Cambodian troops have made no efforts to open the road because of the three-day Pchum Ben holiday in which Cambodians pay homage to their ancestors.

Only Highway 1, linking Phnom Penh with Saigon, was considered secure.

Military sources in Saigon said the United States is considering withdrawing one of its three aircraft carriers in the Indochina area as part of the overall Vietnam cutback.

Meanwhile, the United States today turned over to South Vietnam 40 A37 Dragonfly jet fighter-bombers worth $16 million as part of the continuing American withdrawal.

Military spokesmen said the U.S. Army will also turn over 31 more UH1 "Huey" helicopters to the Vietnamese Friday and plans are under way to hand over a substantial portion of the American airlift under the Vietnamization program within a year.

All But Two Survive Viet Airline Crash

DA NANG, Vietnam (UPI)—Ground search teams today reached the wreckage of a crashed Air Vietnam propeller-driven airliner in mountains north of Da Nang and said all but two of the 30 passengers survived.

The plane crashed Wednesday night.

Spokesmen for Air Vietnam and military sources in Saigon said the dead were two Chinese pilots who worked for Winner Airways, the firm from which Air Vietnam had chartered the World War II-vintage DC3.

Of the remaining passengers and crew, all Vietnamese, three were injured.

Ground parties reached the crash site at 2,300-foot Hai Van Pass, 10 miles north of Da Nang, after a night of struggling up mountain trails through fog and monsoon rain.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Franco Celebrates

MADRID (UPI)—Francisco Franco observed his 34th anniversary as master of Spain today with a minimum of pomp to conserve his strength for President Nixon's arrival Friday.

The 77-year-old caudillo received foreign ambassadors in a simple handshaking ceremony when they called to congratulate him on the anniversary of his elevation to chief of state.

Civil servants got the day off while brass bands and police drill teams rehearsed for Friday.

American flags and the Spanish colors were run up on thousands of poles raised along the route Nixon's motorcade will travel.

Air Fare Tax Hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House voted Wednesday to require $92 million in higher air passenger taxes to pay for 2,500 armed air marshalls to guard against hijackings.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., the bill's floor manager, said the measure was necessary following the recent wave of hijackings by Arab guerrillas. He said hijackings pose a "mounting danger" to passengers.

The bill was sent to the Senate on a 323-17 roll call vote.

The measure would raise the 8 per cent passenger tax on domestic flights to 8.5 per cent, and the $3 head tax on international passengers to $5.

Lin Piao Speaks

HONG KONG (UPI)—Communist Chinese Defense Minister Lin Piao told tens of thousands of red flag-waving countrymen celebrating the nation's 21st birthday today the world is seeing a surge in "the struggle against American imperialism."

Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung waved to the cheering crowds before Lin began speaking, the New China News Agency said in a broadcast monitored in Hong Kong.

"A new upsurge in the struggle against U.S. imperialism is emerging in the world," Lin said. "Through the world, the people's revolutionary struggles are developing vigorously and the united front against U.S. imperialism is constantly expanding and growing in strength."

UAW Negotiations

DETROIT (UPI)—Although negotiations are dragging along on local issues in the 17-day-old General Motors Corp. strike, United Auto Workers president Leonard Woodcock says he has "certain assurances" that "lead me to hope that things will move more quickly."

Negotiations were to resume again today in issues at 145 of 155 local bargaining units still without agreements. After disposing of local issues that have delayed production resumption in past strikes, the bargainers still have to tackle a new national contract.

Adult Smut Fans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Commission on Obscenity and Pornography, says the most frequent purchaser of pornographic materials is a college-educated, married male, in his 30's or 40's, who is above average in socio-economic status.

"Even where materials are legally available to them, young adults and older adolescents do not constitute an important portion of the purchasers of such materials," the commission said.

The commission said about 85 per cent of adult men and 70 per cent of adult women have been exposed sometime during their lives to explicit sexual materials.

Delta Queen Veto

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Congressional committee has spelled the end for the big riverboats that once were the principal transportation in the Mark Twain country.

The House-Senate Conference Committee on the Merchant Marine Bill refused Wednesday to accept a Senate-passed amendment which would have allowed the Delta Queen — last of the big-time overnight river steamboats — to continue its treks. For 44 years, it had traveled the Mississippi, Tennessee, Ohio and Cumberland Rivers, making stops at Minneapolis-St. Paul, Pittsburgh, Louisville, Cincinnati, Memphis and New Orleans.

The Committee action ends an exemption it was given that allowed it to continue its travels although it did not meet maritime safety laws.

Trial Witness Says He Was Intimidated

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The telephone would ring in the middle of the night and the voice on the other end would go "oink, oink, snort, snort, oink, oink, snort, snort."

Juan Flynn, one of the most important state witnesses at the Tate murder trial, was describing the intimidation used against him to try to scare him out of testifying against Charles Manson and his "family."

Flynn, a 6-foot-5 ranch hand, said that only two weeks ago two of the hippie cult members, a man and a woman, came to his home in the Los Angeles suburbs where he was chopping wood.

"They said they were going to do me in right there," Flynn told the jury. "I had an ax and I told them to help themselves.

"They told me someone downtown (presumably Manson) wanted to see me. And they said if you are not going with us, then we are going to get you right here. When they saw I wasn't going to do what they wanted, the girl started crying."

Manson, 35, and three young women members of his cult, Susan Atkins, Leslie Van Houten, and Patricia Krenwinkel, are on trial for the seven killings in August, 1969.

Flynn had testified that Manson once told him that he was behind all seven Tate-Labianca killings. He acknowledged that it was a year before he told Los Angeles authorities about the "admission."

Truck Blasters Say They Aimed At Tires

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI)—Police said today the snipers who fired on a truck loaded with 21 tons of dynamite were poor marksmen actually aiming for the vehicle's tires. The shots exploded the dynamite and disintegrated the truck and its driver.

Two Teamsters Union members and the wife of one of them were to be arraigned today on second degree murder charges in the death of the truck driver, John A. Galt, 48, of Oklahoma City.

The suspects were identified as Gerald Lee Bowden, 27, his wife, Sharrow Lynn, 27, and Bobby Shuler, 29, all of Joplin, Mo. Police said Bowden and Shuler both were drivers for Tri-State Motor Transit Co. of Joplin, one of the nation's largest haulers of explosives. The firm has been struck by the Teamsters since Sept. 15.

Galt, a veteran driver who completed two million miles without an accident, was on his first assignment for the strike-plagued firm.

Wednesday's explosion ripped a 100-foot crater in Interstate 44, shredded the tractor-trailer rig, destroyed a farm house, damaged two gasoline stations and a candy store and shattered windows in Springfield 10 miles away.

Highway Patrol officers theorized the snipers were firing at the truck's tires or radiator on the earlier pattern of shootings in the area. Also, officers said, one of the suspects told police the gang had no intention of blowing up the cargo.

The driver of a truck moving ahead of the one that exploded told highway patrolmen he saw a rifle muzzle flash as he passed the scene. Norman Hopkins, 22, of Wichita, Kan., was quoted by troopers as saying he looked in his rear view mirror and "there was just a huge ball of fire" where the other truck had been. Hopkins said a sniper fired on his truck first. Bullet holes were found in his vehicle.

Most of Tri-State's 800 drivers are based in Joplin. About 200 work out of Lexington, Ky.

Company officials said 75 per cent of its trucks are leased from private operators, who have continued to drive during the strike.

Reagan In Hinterlands; Unruh Talks To Elderly

MERCED (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan took his reelection campaign into the fertile central valley of California today and endorsed a Nov. 3 ballot measure designed to aid disabled veterans.

In remarks prepared for a fund-raising luncheon at the Merced County Fairgrounds, the governor declared his support for proposition 13.

The measure increases from $5,000 to $10,000 a property tax exemption for certain severely disabled veterans and unmarried widows of these veterans.

"Some disabled veterans and widows are in a tremendous tax bind and many are faced with losing their homes," Reagan said. "Some of these homes are equipped with devices adapted to the needs of the disabled—wheelchair ramps, widened doorways and halls and lowered plumbing and cooking fixtures."

He said the measure would cost the state $150,000 and would affect about 860 veterans.

The Republican governor's three-day venture into the San Joaquin and Sacramento Valleys marked the first time during his fall election campaign that he has left the metropolitan centers and moved into the far less populated farm belt for an extended tour.

By bus and charter airplane, Reagan scheduled barnstorm visits at barbeques, fundraisers and fairground appearances in a dozen communities from Bakersfield in the south to Oroville in the north.

Reagan's campaign schedule Friday calls for him to visit Hanford Telephone Co. workers; tour a shopping center at Visalia; attend a picnic at Tulare; watch a children's costume parade at Delano; and attend a fundraising buffet dinner at the Bakersfield home of country and western singer Buck Owens.

On Saturday, Reagan takes his campaign to Lake Oroville, key reservoir of the California water project, for the dedication in the Loafer Creek Recreation Area of the New Coyote Campground, a state development.

The nearly $2.7 million campground includes 137 campsites, parking space for 250 cars and picnic and boat launching facilities. Reagan will be the main speaker.

Afterward, he heads south to Marysville for a barbeque and rally at the Yuba-Sutter Fairgrounds. That night he will return to Sacramento for a fundraiser before flying to his home in Pacific Palisades.

UNRUH

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Democrat Jess Unruh tried to bridge the generation gap in one day's campaigning by urging teen-agers to organize and oldsters to insist on greater social security benefits.

Unruh addressed about 50 senior citizens Wednesday telling them that Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan is "totally unconcerned about the needs of the elderly."

He said the governor last July cut the home care services for the aged, blind and disabled by $10 million, but later was forced to roll back on the reductions.

"The reason for these cuts is so Reagan could claim to the more prosperous people that he was trimming state spending," Unruh said.

"This is the rankest sort of demogoguery because people's health—indeed, their very existence—is involved," the gubernatroial condidate said.

He also told the oldsters that he supports a federal proposal to increase immediately social security payments by 10 per cent and another 10 per cent by 1972.

As he began his brief talk, Unruh informed the group that he was celebrating his birthday.

"I'm 48 today," he said.

"You're just a kid," remarked a grey haired lady to the delight of the rest of the group whose average age was about 70.

Later Unruh addressed several hundred high school students attending a "people power—winning with the system," political seminar sponsored by two radio stations (KYA and KOIT-FM)

Also Unruh pledged again to end the 1,019-day strike at the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner if he is elected.

"I think the governor has an obligation to sit people down and utilize the power and prestige of his office to end the strike," Unruh said in answer to a reporter's question.

Unruh also said he supported legislation to prohibit the use of strikebreakers.

Unruh last Sept. 12 told a group of Herald-Examiner strikers in Los Angeles that he would "settle this strike and I'll settle it decently and fairly for the working people of the state.

RAFFERTY

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) should stay on college campuses to keep such training "a democratic institution," state schools chief Max Rafferty said Wednesday.

In an address to 300 workers at the Aerojet-General Corp. plant, Rafferty said the issue that must be decided about ROTC is "whether you want future military officers coming directly from the people . . . being a part and parcel of our great democratic society on hundreds of different college campuses . . . or whether you want a Prussianized junker class—trained privately and perhaps secretly by the government."

ROTC programs have been discontinued on many colleges and university campuses because of pressure from antiwar groups.

RILES

PLEASANT HILL (UPI) — Wilson Riles asserts his opponent in the race for state superintendent of public instruction should have given more attention to providing class room facilities.

Speaking Wednesday at Diablo Valley Community College, Riles said incumbent Max Rafferty has been "so busy fretting over the minority of dissidents that he has given no attention to the majority of responsible students who want to go to class."

The state's master plan for higher education requires its colleges to accept any high school graduate or anyone over 18 years "capable of profiting from the instruction offered."

Because of a shortage of facilities, "the law was violated more than 5,000 times last fall," Riles said.

Agnew Attacks Pornography Report, 'Radical Liberals'

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has coupled an attack on the pornography commission report with a plea for an election of a Congress to help President Nixon keep Main Street from turning into "Smut Alley."

Agnew capped a nationwide campaign tour for GOP candidates Wednesday night with a broad attack against the report and against the courts and "radical liberals" he said were aiding an assault on America's sense of decency.

"Decency is under assault in almost every aspect of our lives," he told a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner.

It is most visible in the "posturing and shouting of obscenities by the scruffy, shaggy sons of the New Left. But it goes even beyond them. This assauult now comes from almost every direction, daily and in volume. "It pervades our cultural life and is inflicted upon millions of Americas who deeply disapprove but don't know what they can do about it," he said.

Among the "shabby hallmarks" of modern America, he said, were standard fare movies that "once would have brought a police raid on a men's smoker" and "nudity . . . on public display at orgiastic, drug-steeped rock festivals and protest demonstrations flamboyantly staged by social misfits and dropouts."

"This intensifying depravity has been encouraged by court decisions, reflecting our earlier wave of permissiveness," he said.

"This commission was not named by President Nixon," he said. "No sir, your honor, it's not our baby."

He said the quality of life in America will be degraded if "the floodgates are further opened and more of this garbage is dumped into the mainstream of American communications. As long as Richard Nixon is president, Main street is not going to turn into Smut Alley."

At the dinner and earlier at a street rally in front of the famed temple of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, Agnew urged the election of republican Rep. Laurence J. Burton who is running against two-term Democratic Sen. Frank E. Moss.

Earlier yesterday Agnew branded Sen. Charles Goodell, R-N.Y., as a member of "an awful radical-liberal coalition" — a category Agnew usually reserves for Democrats.

Phoenix Lake Pollution Found By Students

it. Some of the claims are faulty, he said, but would not say which ones pending the meeting.

Campbell said Seeger called Tuesday, but refused to set a meeting date.

Another group anxious to thrash around in the can of worms opened by Campbell is the State Department of Fish and Game which stocks the lake with trout each year.

The lake was emptied in 1965 because of fear the dam might burst and flood Ross. However, it was refilled after the $150,000 dam now there was built with $90,000 of Fish and Game money on condition the lake be left in a natural state and dedicated to public use, according to a fish and game official.

Eldon Vestel, fisheries management supervisor for the area, said, "If it is being used for a dumping grounds for pollutants, then this is certainly a direct violation of the plan to use the lake for recreation use."

He said that if sludge is being poured into the lake, then the water district will be subject to court action under fish and game codes prohibiting allowing substances harmful to wildlife and fish to get into water.

"They are not going to do it for very long because we would take action," he said. "I'm sure Warden Al Giddings has been on the alert for a long time."

Vestel said the Fish and Game Department had no official notification of sludge being dumped into the lake from the plant on a hill high above it and knew nothing of a trout kill in the third week of July claimed by Campbell. Campbell has slides to prove his dead fish story.

That alum kills fish is clear from the thousands of fish found floating dead in Lagunitas Creek in May after alum entered the water. Are the other components of sludge as deadly?

Chlorine, according to Farnkoph, kills all life in water. Campbell said there is a strong odor of chlorine near the mouth of the pipe dumping into a tributary stream from about 6 p.m. to noon almost daily.

Lime, a base, eradicates the slightly acidic character of most lake water required by lake life, Campbell said.

Of course, the chemicals would be harmless in small enough quantities, but Farnkoph said Bon Tempe, which produces about 12 million gallons of water a day for Southern Marin in the summer, also produces about 36 cubic yards — a ton and a half according to a soil expert — of chemical-bearing sludge each day.

According to Ryder, project supervisor for construction of the plant, about 25 per cent of that sludge flowing into the lake are treatment chemicals, the major portion of that alum, which is a claylike substance occurring in nature.

Campbell pointed out symptoms that this sludge seriously affects the environment of the lake. In addition to a chalky color which indicates silt, there is red algae — not a natural phenomenon in lakes and associated with oxygenless water, he said.

Fish and Game supervisor Vestel said he would not drink water with such algae in it because it is dangerous.

The sludge which flows in during the night also turns the surroundings white, Campbell said. This means salamanders, frogs and other previously camouflaged life stand out clearly and are eliminated by predators, according to Campbell.

However, the most obvious sign that the lake is being tampered with is the lack of growing things, Campbell said. Such a body of water should be rich in green algae and floating plants but, Campbell said, "the lake is barren of most floating and emergent plants, has little or no bottom substrata and few living things." This also indicates a lack of oxygen, he said, and fish require oxygen to live.

Seeger said in 1968 when the lake was dry that the sludge was non-toxic and did not create any problems in the lake. Warden Giddings said at the same time the district would not be allowed to dump backwash into the lake when it was refilled, but the district has done so anyway.

Why is the water district fouling the lake? Ryder said that in 1958, it was considered the correct means of disposing of the sludge. It is certainly the less expensive way, Seeger and Campbell agreed.

"Ultimately, it is a matter of economics," Campbell said. "Phoenix Lake is a very handy sewer. It's cheaper than building a sludge drying plant; it is cheaper than hauling it away," he said.

There is no question, Campbell said, that the chemicals now flowing into Phoenix Lake are required for water treatment. The question is whether they should be allowed in the lake.

He recommended that the water district construct a sludge drying facility and the district may be forced to. Not only does the night-time dumping violate the Fish and Game Code, it also may violate regulations of the Bay Area Water Quality Control Board.

The sludge ingredients eventually escape the lake and flow into the bay through Phoenix and Corte Madera creeks.

The water quality control board can prohibit waste discharges and levy a $6000-a-day fine against offenders.

Four Million Mourners Bid President Nasser Good-Bye

crowd waited. Great roars met every helicopter that flew overhead. Finally when troops lost control mounted police came in.

Five thousand soldiers had marched toward the square where the wagon waited and then the gun carriage raced into the square behind the horses, the crowd scattering before their hooves. The wailing and the shouting was deafening.

And throughout was the steady shout of "Nasser; Nasser; Nasser;" It was by shouting his name that Egyptians in 1967 encouraged him to rescind his resignation as president after the disastrous war with Israel.

There were other shouts from the crowd:

"Gamal, we will continue the struggle;"

"Soldiers, cross the canal and heed the advice of Gamal!"

At the mosque the black shrouded body of Nasser was borne to the grave by his revolutionary companions from whose midst the next ruler of Egypt may emerge. Dr. Mohammed al-Fahham, the grand Sheikh of Al Azar, officiated at the funeral and chanted verses from the Koran.

The funeral procession took three hours. Describing its final stages, the Middle East News Agency said:

"People went out of their minds as they saw the hearse approaching the mosque. They broke into hysterial sobs. Many collapsed."

Cairo Radio's announcer repeatedly shouted, "Allah Akbar" (God is greater) as the son of a peasant postman went to his grave.

Policemen and troops manning barricades dropped their rifles and collapsed, tears running down their faces, as the mourners overwhelmed them with sheer numbers.

"All attempts to maintain an official aspect of the procession failed as masses joined high-ranking mourners in a scene the like of which the world has never witnessed," the Middle East News Agency said.

"Observers are unanimous the procession is the biggest the Arab nation has ever witnessed."

FIRES

1,000 men had a 24,000-acre fire 88 per cent contained, although it still was described as "burning open."

Firemen, hoping for higher humidity and fearing winds, surrounded the 120-mile perimeter of the largest brush fire in state history in Cleveland National Forest near San Diego.

Near Los Angeles, a smouldering brush fire that was all but contained broke loose again today driven by a warming Santa Ana wind in the Lytle Creek area north of San Bernardino. A forest service spokesman said there was a "slopover" this morning that swept over about 500 acres in the San Bernardino Mountains and pushed the total blackened area there to 9,000 acres.

The spokesman said the winds from the northeast were blowing at 30 miles an hour and pushing the fire downhill which he considered dangerous.

There was no immediate outlook for containment of the breakout which was being fought by 600 firefighters on a mile of open fireline.

State and local agencies have, meanwhile, initiated emergency crash programs to head off floods and mudslides over fire-ravaged Southern California, but some officials predict the charred areas will be at the mercy of winter rains.

A series of conferences began Tuesday and Wednesday throughout the state to plan programs of mudslide and flood control.

NIXON

Nasser's death. They met in the Adriatic stone and marble federal government building on the Sava River.

White House officials said Nixon sought Tito's advice on getting Arab-Israeli peace negotiations moving despite confusion following Nasser's death.

Nixon also was said to have stressed that the United States wanted only to ensure that the people of the Middle East could live their own lives without foreign influence.

After their meeting, Nixon had a glass of red wine with a lemon twist. Noticing the amber-colored liquid in Tito's glass, he asked, "Are you having a Scotch?"

"When you get old, whisky is much better for the blood than milk," Tito replied.

Tito flew ahead to welcome Nixon when he landed in Zagreb, the Croatian capital, and was at the steps of the federal government building when Nixon—who had paused along the way to shake hands with friendly Yugoslavs—arrived for the talks.

While their husbands met, the two first ladies visited a modern educational and recreational "pioneer center" for children in Belgrade.

Development Tax Report Corrected

A tax on development in Tiburon being considered by the city council would be a one-time levy on new construction, not a new property tax as reported by an article in Tuesday's Independent-Journal.

The tax would be $125 for each residential unit in a single-family or more restrictive zone, $100 for residential units in any other zone and 15 cents per square foot of gross floor area in commercial units. The tax would provide funds for public improvements.

The council will hold first reading on an ordinance establishing the proposed levy when it meets Oct. 13 at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

Doctor Arrested In Dope Violation

OAKLAND (UPI) — Police have arrested a 60-year-old physician on narcotics charges for the third time in nine months.

Five vice squad officers raided Dr. Nathan Mann's office Wednesday after an undercover policeman bought illegal drugs from the doctor earlier this week.

The raid turned up an estimated $500,000 worth of dangerous drugs. The doctor had to be forcibly restrained after he kicked one officer and bit two others, police said.

SCHOOLS

public schools as does Alabama, and that in California alone some districts spend five times as much per pupil as others. Even in large school districts such as Los Angeles and Detroit, he said, rich schools are better funded than poor ones.

Levin said the federal government would have to begin insisting on greater equality in school spending and full accountability if it wants to insure all children an equal chance.

"Many of us will have to grapple with our values if we are to support a system that puts the children of rich and poor on the same starting line in life's competition," Levin said.

"This is a tough prospect to accept for those who have always taken their inherent advantages as God-given and any attempt to eliminate such advantages as inspired by Satan.

"It is this crisis of values which will determine the ultimate outcome of our quest for equal educational opportunities."

JUDGES

tin since the shootout, the judge said:

"In no sense could court proceedings at San Quentin be regarded as secret hearings. They have produced much larger audiences than would attend at the Hall of Justice."

Finally, the judges concluded that holding jury trials at San Quentin might lull officials into feeling that all court security problems had been dealt with.

"Security problems are not confined to San Quentin cases," Judge Wilson said.

"With the steps that have been taken, and which we hope will be taken in the future by the county, we feel that adequate courtroom security can be achieved at the Hall of Justice . . ."

None of these reasons apply to hearing routine proceedings at the prison, Judge Wilson said. "All decisions (such as arraignments, trial settings and hearing pleas) are made by a judge accustomed to these procedures and not likely to be affected by the fact that he may be holding court on the prison grounds."

He also said that once the nature of these proceedings is understood, he didn't think "such sessions could possibly be regarded as an excuse for protest."

The judge cited the cooperation of prison officials and the sheriff's department in taking judges and court personnel to San Quentin.

He said the theft occurred Saturday while he was absent from the theater's control room, leaving it unlocked for a few minutes.

Agency Selects Apollo 15 Site

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Space Agency today selected an area on the moon near a winding canyon and the rugged Apennine mountains as the landing site for next July's Apollo 15 mission.

Astronauts David R. Scott and James B. Irwin will use a new moon car to carry out the surface exploration while commanding module pilot Alfred M. Worden remains in lunar orbit. They are scheduled for launch July 25 from Cape Kennedy.

The landing area, called Hadley-Apennines, is the most northern site on the moon considered for an Apollo expedition. It is 465 miles north of the lunar equator and is on the eastern edge of the Sea of Rains.

Although the precise touchdown point has not yet been selected, the Space Agency said Scott and Irwin will be targeted for a spot that will enable them to use the moon car to explore both the canyon and the nearby front of the Apennine mountains.

The canyon is called Hadley Rille. It is 600 feet deep, one half mile wide and 60 miles long and resembles a dry river bed or an arroyo of the southwestern United States. Project officials expect the astronauts to drive to its rim and possibly climb down part of the canyon wall.

Scientists have said the astronauts by going there, should be able to answer once and for all whether the canyons on the moon were formed by water or some other fluid.

The astronauts also will be able to sample material from the Apennine mountains, study the material that filled the nearby Sea of Rains and examine several dome-like features in the area that may have been formed by volcanism.

The landing site was selected by a committee headed by Apollo Program Director Rocco A. Petrone. The decision was based on the recommendation of leading lunar scientists who consider Hadley-Apennines one of the most scientifically interesting areas on the moon.

Also in the running for the Apollo 15 landing site was an area of volcanic domes farther west in the Ocean of Storms.

Milan Team Uncovers Isis Temple Chambers

CAIRO (UPI) — An archaeological team from Milan University has uncovered three chambers in the Isis Temple at Aswan dating from the Ptolemaic era (304 B.C. to 30 B.C.), according to government officials.

The chambers are covered with inscriptions which will form the basis of a comprehensive report by the univerity team.

10 Pct. Hike In Benefits Is Advanced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee tentatively approved today a 10 per cent across the board increase in Social Security benefit, coupled with a $100 a month minimum.

Meeting in closed session, the committee voted to double the increase in Social Security benefits approved by the House earlier this year.

The Committee, on a motion by Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., approved, 8 to 5, the 10 per cent across the board increase in benefits effective next Jan. 1.

Then, on a motion by Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., the committee voted 7 to 4 for a $100 a month minimum benefit.

The present minimum benefit is $64. The House-passed bill would raise that to $67.20.

The additional increase in benefits and the raising of the minimum would cost an estimated $3.7 billion a year.

$104 Million From Korean Smokers

SEOUL (UPI) — South Koreans smoked 21,510,750,000 cigarettes during the first half of 1970, bringing $104.9 million in revenue for the government, the Monolopy Office reports.

Each smoker consumed 14 cigarettes a day on the average. The number of smokers was placed at 3,110,000 ora bout 35 per cent of the population.

AMA Journal Review Hits Second Sex Book

CHICAGO (UPI)—A review in the Journal of the American Medical Association criticizes Masters and Johnson's "Human Sexual Inadequacy" as being repetitive and unreadable and ignoring psychological forces.

"This reviewer cannot resist asking: can faulty and inadequate sex truly be corrected in this joyless way, and ignoring the psychological forces at work?" Dr. Natalie Shainess of New York wrote in the Sept. 21 edition of the journal.

The review concerns itself with the second book by Dr. William H. Masters and Virginia E. Johnson, in which they describe treatment techniques used at their clinic in St. Louis. "Human Sexual Inadequacy" was published earlier this year.

Masters and Mrs. Johnson published an earlier work, "Human Sexual Response," in which they describe laboratory observations of bodily changes during sexual stimulation.

Dr. Shainess says the book would occupy only one third of its space if it were not so repetitive and "the language is somewhat simpler than its earlier companion piece, "Human Sexual Response," but it is still virtually unreadable."

"Reading the book is an incredibly laborious task," Dr. Shainess wrote. "One begins to feel as if on a merry-go-round as phrases and ideas are met with over and over again."

The reviewer applauds the introduction of case histories into the text saying "here the book comes to life," but she adds, "however, these histories do not relate to the treatment techniques described and therefore, like the references, they are superfluous."

Dr. Shainess refers to women surrogates provided by the Masters and Johnson clinic for treatment of single male patients as "apparently a superbreed."

If the female partners are "fully sexually responsive, confident, understanding and compassionate," she asks, "why are they not busy with their own confident, fully responsive men?"

Report Says State Should Plan For Atomic Plants

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A just-issued legislative committee report credits California's electric utilities with the foresight to avoid brownouts and prolonged power outages that have plagued other sections of the country, particularly the Northeast.

But the report also says that in order for electricity supply to stay ahead of demand, atomic power plants must be planned and their sites selected for the needs of the next 20 years.

The committee is the Joint Committee on Atomic Development and Space, chaired by Assemblyman John V. Briggs, R-Fullerton. Other members are Sens. Ralph C. Dills, vice chairman, John Nejedly and James E. Whetmore; and Assemblymen Walter W. Powers and Paul Priolo.

The committee report says that "hydroelectric projects can no longer be counted upon to provide enough energy and that fossil fuels in California are either nonexistent, in diminishing supply, or contribute unwanted combustion products to an already overburdened fresh air resource."

Precautions Listed Against Botulism

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Precautions against botulism should be taken during the fall harvest season, according to Louis F. Saylor, state public health director.

"Home-canned vegetables, meats and other products with little or no acidity must be properly processed to eliminate the possibility of botulism, a poison-producing organism which can cause paralysis and death," said Saylor.

"A Stockton man died from botulism and his sister became ill last June after eating improperly home-canned olives," he said.

Several tips on home canning, recommended by the University of California agricultural extension service, should be heeded in preventing botulism. They are:

For canning, use only fresh, firm and crisp vegetables that have been thoroughly washed. Use meat, poultry and fish that are sound.

Can as soon as possible after picking.

For canning all low-acid fruits and vegetables use a pressure cooker and process for the prescribed time.

Boil home-canned foods for at least 10 minutes, longer for higher altitudes; greens and cream-style corn for 20 minutes. Add water as necessary for proper boiling.

Never use sour or rancid food.

Botulism is an extremely dangerous poison, usually fatal, according to the extension service.

Tourism Study To Be Discussed

The City-County Planning Council will meet tomorrow to discuss the balanced transportation program, housing, and a study to tourism as a prop to Marin's economy.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the planning commission chambers at the Civic Center.

The 24-member council will also discuss changes in the quorum rule because a 13-member quorum is difficult to meet.

Valuables Offered

A little bookkeeping can make the burglar's lot an unhappy one, members of the Marin County Deputy Sheriff's Association claimed today.

The bookkeeping simply involves making a permanent list of any valuables that a burglar might covet.

The deputies' association has had printed 5,000 personal property record sheets for free distribution to Marin residents. On the forms are spaces for listing vehicles and boats, bicycles, guns, TV sets and stereo players, fine art works, credit cards and most other types of valuables.

The forms warn that failure to keep records of identification numbers on TV sets, cameras and the like often makes the difference whether or not stolen property can be traced and the burglar punished.

The record forms are available at the Marin County sheriff's office or from any deputy.

Duet To Perform Onderdok's Work

Willard Tressel, violinist, and Ted M. Blair, pianist, members of the Dominican College music faculty, will present a program of chanber music at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Caleruega Hall on the San Rafael campus.

Other works on the program will include Mozart's Sonate in B Flat Major, K 454; Bach's Sonata No. 2 in A Minor; and Bartok's Deuxieme Sonata, written in 1922.

Dr. Blair is director of the graduate School of Music at Dominican College, where Tressel teaches violin. Tressel is concertmaster of the Contra Costa Symphony Orchestra and a former member of the Giller Quartet.

Blair earned his PH.D. in music from the University of Iowa and formerly taught at the University of Redlands. He has performed extensively in solo programs, chamber music and with symphony orchestras.

Marin Homeowners Federation To Help Boys' Club Drive

The North Marin Federation of Homeowners Associations will start a month long drive Saturday to help the Novato Boys' Club membership campaign, according to president Gurthrie R. Greene.

The member organizations of the federation represent more than 3,000 homes in the Novato area, Greene said. These organizations work for the betterment of their areas and the city in general, he said.

Greene said that a boys club was needed in Novato and felt that the member organizations would do much to boost the club.

David Milano, president of the Novato Boys' Club, said he was sure that the North Marin federation's campaign would be a big boost for the club.

The club has received 160 pledges of $2 per month for a year, Milano said.

"Our goal is 3,000 such memberships," he said.

New Law Aimed At Giant Mudslides

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A bill signed into law two weeks ago will guarantee state funds to prevent disastrous mudslides and flooding in the wake of California brush fires.

The bill, AB 1469, by Assemblyman Harvey Johnson, D-El Monte, allows the water resources director to declare an emergency because of fire damage to watershed lands.

The governor then may declare a disaster, and this decision then triggers a requirement that the finance director allocate funds to help prevent winter flooding.

This could include immediate work on reforestation in the burned-over areas or equipment and planning to aid local governments in preparing for the winter onslaught.

Johnson said that in the past, residents and local governments in stricken areas could only hope for state aid to cope with the fire-caused flooding.

"Although nothing will ever repay the victims of these terrible fires for their suffering, the new law at least should greatly alleviate the dire peril brought about when winter rains come months after such blazes," Johnson said.

Other candidates' nights will be Oct. 13, when Assemblyman William T. Bagley will appear, and on Oct. 20, when State Senate candidate Michael R. Peevey will speak.

Forest Says Addiction Is Health Issue

Joseph A. Forest, Democratic nominee for state Assembly, has called for revision of drug laws to improve medical and psychological treatment of addicts.

Forest, speaking Monday night at the Kent Woodlands home of Roger Kent, said that such a revision was the only way to "reduce the growing rash of burglaries committed by addicts to support their habit. The addict without means must steal daily in ever increasing amounts to support his addiction," Forest said.

The $10-a-person dinner for Forest and former Gov. Edmund G. Brown was attended by about 100 persons and netted about $800, reported George J. Silvestri Jr. of Novato, treasurer of Forest's campaign.

Forest said that of 433 bookings at the Marin County jail in a recent month, 52 per cent were for drug or alcohol abuses. "These are not so much criminal problems as they are health problems which cannot be solved by penal sanctions," Forest said, according to a press release.

Brown urged the crowd to support Forest "because we need idealistic, energetic, dedicated young men like Joe to fight the forces of reaction in the Reagan administration."

OPERA REVIEW

Sensational New Carmen Welcomed

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

SAN FRANCISCO — Many things added up to a memorable performance of Bizet's masterpiece "Carmen" at the Opera House last night.

These ingredients were a sensational new Carmen, a very strong Don Jose and Escamillo, an appealing Micaela and superlative conducting by the French Maestro, Jean Perisson.

Heralded as one of the most talked about young singers in Europe today, mezzo soprano Brigitte Fassbaender of the Munich Opera achieved a triumph as Carmen in her American debut.

Her Carmen is not a primitive, spitfire gypsty, but a beguiling, sexy enchantress, whose strong voice can smoulder with passion or explode in rage. She looks the part to perfection and moves with great freedom and grace.

At first, tenor Guy Chauvet as her soldier-lover Don Jose seemed wooden and dull, but that was really part of the character then. In the final stabbing scene, his powerful, virile voice and dramatic skill in depicting fury and despair were electrifying. His exemplary French diction was one of his best points.

Alerted by the marvelously rich quality of his big bass voice in his San Frncisco Opera debut last week in a minor role in "Tosca," Belgian singer Jose Van Dam as the bull-fighter Escamillo more than fulfilled my expectations. His handsome looks and masterful personality made Carmen's infatuation highly logical.

Of special interest to Marin opera lovers was soprano Jane Marsh, who grew up in Mill Valley, in her third role with the San Francisco Opera, that of Micaela, Don Jose's country girl sweetheart. She sang with the same soaring lyricism and warm, glowing tone as before, especially in the lovely aria "Je Dis Que Rien Ne M'Epouvante," but toward the end of Act III there was a hint of the dramatic soprano she can become in both her voice and acting.

One of the high points of Act III in the tavern was the skillful timing and splendid singing in the patter quintet sung by Carmen and a quartet composed of two more gypsy girls, soprano Shigemi Matsumoto as Frasquita and mezzo Sheila Nadler as Mercedes, with tenor Howard Fried and baritone Raymond Manton as the smugglers El Remendado and El Dancairo.

Clifford Grant made a dashing Zuniga, Don Jose's captain with his ringing bass voice and military bearing.

A major part of the credit for the high musical quality of the whole production was due to Perisson's conducting of the orchestra with French clarity, ebullience and feeling for enhancing dramatic values.

The chorus lacked vitality in Act I but more than made up for it thereafter, especially in the final act, and the San Francisco Boys Chorus added color and motion to the street scene in the first act.

Stage direction by Lotfi Mansouri was lively and well planned, and sets were as effective as ones used in previous productions of the opera.

Man Borrows Car, Then Steals Away

Kenneth Kuskie of 391 Bolinas Road, Fairfax, told Petaluma police he had loaned his car to a Petaluma man and believed the borrower had driven it out of the country.

Police said the 1969 Chevrolet had been loaned on Sept. 22 to David Lee Johnson, 25, for a one-day trip to San Francisco.

Kuskie said he had been contacted by a bank in Memphis, Tenn. about the use of his credit cards and later received a report that Johnson was in El Paso, Tex. and may be going into Mexico.

Petaluma Sgt. William Reed said the Federal Bureau of Investigation would be asked to investigate the theft.

Eagle Scout Dinner To Be Held Oct. 26

Peevey Raps Reagan Cuts In Education

I-J Special Report

NAPA — Michael R. Peevey of San Rafael, Democratic nominee for State Senate, has claimed that the Reagan administartion has cut state aid to elementary and secondary education from 45 to 33 per cent.

Peevey, speaking Tuesday at a reception in a Napa home, claimed that the state's share "would be even lower were it not for the strenuous efforts of the Democrats in the Assembly and the state Senate."

Peevey said the the Reagan administration had a "blind, negative attitude" toward education. "Clearly what we need in California is a return to recognition that education is the most important function of our state government," he said.

Peevey pledged that, if elected, he would work to increase the state's share to 50 per cent.

126-Pound Chinook Trapped In Alaska

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chinook, a giant of the salmon species, averages 20 pounds. But, says the National Geographic, the biggest ever taken on sport tackle weighed 92 pounds and a monster of 126½ pounds turned up in a trap near Petersburg, Alaska.

Marin Citians Turned Off, Alquist Learns

A Marin City campaign appearance scheduled yesterday by state Sen. Alfred E. Alquist of San Jose, Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, was canceled by his Marin chairman because she belatedly decided he would get a poor reception in the community.

Ruth Lederman of Kentfield, chairman of Aluist's Marin campaign, told the Independent-Journal that she had canceled the 4 p.m. appearance in the community's commercial area because "we were told that people are turned off politically in Marin City."

The handshakind tour instead was held in San Rafael on Fourth Street, she said. The San Rafael tour laster longer than expected, rMs. Lederman reported, thus forcing cancellation of the second scheduled appeacance, at 5 p.m. at the Corte Madera Shopping Center.

Advance publicity for the Marin City and Corte Madera apperances had been distributed last week, and published in the I-J. Mrs. Lederman said she changed her mind about the Marin City appearance on Monday after checking with several persons in the community.

Alquist also addressed about 65 persons last night at Mrs. Lederman's home.

Youth Arrested In Guard Murder

RICHMOND (UPI) — Police investigating the sniper slaying of Paul E. Brown, a plant guard, conducted ballistic tests on a rifle they seized while arresting a youth who said he was on leave from the Marine Corps.

Under arrest is Willie J. Turner Jr., 18, but police gave few details except to say he was taken into custody Tuesday at a home in north Richmond.

He was booked for investigation of murder, possession of an illegal weapon and stolen property.

The gun is an M16, the civilian version of the AR15, which is being used in Vietnam.

Senate Prepares Legislation To Halt Health Overcharges

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate is preparing legislation aimed at preventing doctors, hospitals and nursing homes from raking in unearned money from Medicaid and Medicare overcharges.

The provision was adopted Wednesday by the Senate Finance Committee as an amendment to the House-passed Social Security bill. It would set up a medical panel to seek out abuses .

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, sponsored the amendment based on an 18-month investigatioon by the committee.

That investigation showed widespread instances of:

—Doctors charging for services they did not administer.

—Hospitals allowing interns and residents to give treatment while paments went to staff doctors.

—Nursing homes overcharging.

—Unneeded medicines and inoculations given patients.

—Doctors billing twice for the same service.

The Bennett amendment would establish professional standard review organizations to oversee Medicare and Medicaid practices in areas with at least 300 doctors.

The so-called "peer" panels would be composed of doctors who would hire, for example, doctors to audit the work of other doctors, dentists to check dentists and therapistst o check therapists.

The Bennett amendment was adopted by voice vote in executive session Wednesday and technically is subject to reconsideration before the bill is reported out of the committee.

The Social Security bill unlikely will be passed before next month's elections because committee Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., wants to include it with Presidnt Nixon's welfare reform bill that guarantees an annual income of $1,600.

Long said he had to adjourn the meeting Wednesday when its members, apparently more intent on the elections at home than working on Capitol Hill, "just disappeared" from the committee room.

Only Three Blacks Found Among Top Firms' Leaders

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Although the nation's top 50 corporations have 3,182 senior officers and directors, only three of them are black, according to a joint survey by the local Race Relations Information Center and the Community News Service of New York.

Survey coordinator John Egerton said the list of corporations studied in the survey was taken from the top of Fortune magazine's annual listing of 750 corporate giants.

The firms were asked if their senior executives and board members, listed in this year's edition of POR's Register of Corporations, included any blacks.

The Race Relations Information Center is an "essentilaly journalistic" group financed through the Ford Foundation while the Community News Service is affiliated with the New School for Social Research.

"In checking the top 50 corporations," Egerton said," we found that none of their senior executives — not a single one — and only three members of the boards of directors are black."

Three Arrested In Bank Robbery

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Three young men, including the son of a bank executive, were arrested Wednesday in connection with a $4,800 robbery of the Bank of America's Noe Valley branch.

The arrests followed a search of the home of Gerald R. Stonum, 18. Police said they found $3,550, including marked money from the bank.

Police also said they found evidence to identify Lawrence M. Lochner, 17, and Jackson L. Hertogs, 17, as "principals" in the robbery.

Lochner, the son of a United California Bank branch manager, and Hertogs, the son of a San Francisco attorney, were turned over to juvenile authorities. Stonum was booked for robbery.

Miller Calls Health Plan A 'Gimmick'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Democratic leader John J. Miller has labeled a "rigged political gimmick" the Reagan Administration's tentative plan to have private insurance firms take over the Medi-Cal program.

"The governor's proposal is to turn over the care of the poor, the elderly and the dispossessed in California to insurance companies whose sole purpose is to make a profit," the Berkeley lawmaker said Wednesday in a statement.

Under the proposal, announced Tuesday, the state would get out of the business of administering the $1.2 billion program for the needy. The plan would require legislative approval.

Dr. Earl W. Brian, chief administrator of Medi-Cal, is heading a 16-member commission studying the possibility of scrapping the state-administered Medi-Cal and replacing it with privately financed health insurance.

Miller said the announcement of the proposal was a "campaign gimmick hastily put together as a means of betraying the honest efforts of the 16-man State Health Care Study Commission which was appointed some three months ago."

Gov. Ronald Reagan has made the cost of Medi-Cal an issue in his re-election campaign, asserting that some recipients get more tax-paid health care than many persons can provide for themselves.

Off-Season Fees Start At Park

Reduced off-season fees for overnight camping are in effect at Samuel P. Taylor State Park, near Lagunitas, the State Parks and Recreation Department has announced.

Available at the park are $10 ticket books good for 10 nights of camping, a rate of $1 a night, as compared to the regular fee of $3 a night.

Campers have to purchase the 10-ticket book to gain the reduced fee, otherwise they will have to pay the $3 a night fee.

There would be no saving for campers at Mount Tamalpais State Park since the regular fee is $1 a night.

The reduced rate ticket books will be in effect through Feb. 28 at all state parks except the desert parks.

Old Adobe Board To Discuss Meeting

A proposal for a joint meeting with the Petaluma City Council and planning commission will be considered at the Old Adobe School District trustees' meeting at 7:45 p.m. today.

The school board has said it would like the meeting to discuss subdivisions planned in the district and city-school district cooperation in the placement of schools and parks.

New Rules Sought On Eyeglasses

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) Wednesday proposed a ban on breakable eye glasses.

A proposed regulation would require that prescription glasses and sunglasses be made of shatterproof laminated glass, heat tempered glass or plastic.

The FDA said only about one fourth of the prescription glasses worn by Americans are impact resistant and that an estimated 120,000 injuries occur each year from breakage.

The agency said that use of safety glass would increase prescription eyeglass prices by about $3 per lens.

The FDA said it would allow 30 days for comments on the proposed regulation. It said it then "anticipates publishing final regulations which will make the sale of soft-glass eye lenses a violation of the food, drug, and cosmetic act."

The proposed regulation would cover all glasses except contact lenses and glasses prescribed in cases where the doctor felt impact resistant lenses "would not meet the visual requirements of a particular patient," the FDA said.

Marine's Sense Of Delicacy Offended

COSTA MESA, Calif. (UPI) —Marine Cpl. Clarence E. Rogers entered the only nude entertainment bar in this community Wednesday and captured the two performers, Jacquelynn Featherly, 25, and Cheri Fleming, 22.

He placed the girls under citizens arrest for indecent exposure, claiming their on-stage antics offended his sense of delicacy. Police booked the girls on Rogers' complaint.

Wallet Is Stolen With $212 In Cash

Theft of a wallet containing $212 in cash and traveler's checks, plus credit cards, has been reported to San Rafael police by Stephanie Sue Matthews, 22, of Portland, Ore.

She said the wallet was taken from her purse in her room at the Holiday Inn Saturday evening while she was attending a meeting. She did not report it missing until she searched unsuccessfully for it yesterday while checking out of the motel.

ON BELGRADE TOUR

First Ladies Visit Children's Center

BELGRADE (UPI) — While their husbands discussed Middle East politics, the American and Yugoslav first ladies visited a children's center today but could not escape photographers. The children became aggressive picture takers.

The scene was a modern educational and recreational "pioneer center" in Belgrade where Pat Nixon and Jovanka Broz Tito were greeted by a trumpet fanfare, chants and rhythmic clapping.

Mrs. Tito, speaking fluent English, pointed out features of the center for 7-to 14-year-old Pioneers, a Communist equivalent of the Scouts. Mrs. Nixon exclaimed "How darling" when she saw girls in black leotards in a dancing class and spoke to 9-year-olds in a language class.

When the wives walked into a photography class, the children whirled on them with still and movie cameras.

Mrs. Tito chuckled heartily and Mrs. Nixon smiled in mock dismay when the children dashed after them, joining the scramble of press photographers. The youngsters held their own, dodging into front-line positions to the amusement of the first ladies.

The first ladies accompanied their husbands on a quick afternoon visit to Zagreb, the Croatian capital, and Tito's birthplace at Kumrovec.

Earlier, Mrs. Nixon entertained Yugoslav women journalists over morning coffee. They asked her about her husband, complimented her on her figure and came away saying, "isn't she wonderful."

Mrs. Nixon stressed the importance of work—"if young people are busy and have to work for their money, they don't get into trouble."

She added: "I work today to help my husband. I work as long as he does, but I don't know if I accomplish as much."

At a state dinner at the White Palace Wednesday night, Mrs. Nixon and President Tito, who has relied on an interpreter during his talks with Nixon, engaged in lively conversation in English.

Russ Protests Anti-Soviet Incidents, Threatens U.S.

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union today sent a formal protest to the United States against anti-Soviet violence by "Zionist extremists" in America.

The Soviets demanded U. S. authorites take steps to stop the violence or else risk "unfavorable consequences in relations between our two states."

U. S. Embassy officials in Moscow said the embassy minister-counselor, Boris H. Klosson, was summoned to the Foreign Ministry during the morning to be handed the note. It was then transmitted through State Department channels to Washington.

The note referred to attacks on Soviet trade and diplomatic offices and disruption of performances by Soviet musical and dance groups. One of the latest such incidents was the explosion of a tear gas bomb in a Chicago theater where the Moiseyev dance ensemble was performing.

Most of the actions have been carried out by groups protesting Soviet refusal to permit Jews to migrate to Israel, or protesting Soviet support for the Arab states in the Middle East.

The note singled out the Jewish Defense League, "whose provocative sorties create obstacles to the discharge of official functions by institutions of the U.S.S.R. in the United States and endanger the personal security of Soviet diplomats and their representatives.

The Soviet note said violence has been directed against the Soviet Embassy in Washington, the Soviet Mission at the United Nations, offices of the state airline, Aeroflot, and the state tourist agency, Intourist, and Amtorg, the trade representation in the United States.

Six Cities Get Safety Plaques

Six Marin cities received plaques last night from the California State Automobile Association for pedestrian safety.

Sausalito led the list with no pedestrian deaths for the 15th consecutive year, with San Anselmo closely behind having had none for 14 years.

Novato received its award for the ninth consecutive year, never recording a pedestrian fatality since it was incorporated.

Mill Valley and Larkspur received awards for the fifth consecutive year without fatalities and Corte Madera a fourth-year award.

Jack Craemer, editor and publisher of the Independent-Journal and an association director, presented the plaques to mayors and police chiefs at a meeting of the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen in Belvedere.

Craemer reported that in recent years there has been a downward trend in pedestrian fatalities.

Director Wins Nude Scene Case

QUINCY, Mass. (UPI)—Otto Preminger was acquitted Wednesday on a charge of desecrating the cemetery where he filmed a nude scene.

The nude scene, filmed in Braintree's blue hill cemetery in 1969, featured actress Lisa Minelli in the movie, "Tell Me That You Love Me, Junie Moon."

A Randolph woman whose husband is buried in the cemetery filed the charges in district court. Preminger's attorneys had sought to handle the case in the courts without the director present, but officials refused. He was in court for the decision.

SCHOOL ELECTIONS

Redwood Going 'Vote-A-Matic'

The days of political bossism and ballot box stuffing may have come to an end today at Redwood High School, as members of the freshman class lined up to cast their ballots on "vote-a-matic" equipment borrowed from the county.

The horse play which usually surrounds school elections has now given way to a learning experience, according to Kirk A. Pessner, a senior and this year's voting commissioner at the school.

"Elections in the past have been kind of a mockery — stuffing the ballot boxes and that sort of thing," said Pessner, who dreamed up the idea of using the machines and saw it through.

"And this is a learning experience for the students," he continued. "If the voting age is ever lowered to 18, then we will know what the procedure is."

Up for election this year at the school are 11 candidates for four freshmen student body positions.

Running for president are Justin Brightbill, Mark Fagley, Bredan Lapperd and Evelyn Nakagawa, while for vice president are Kathy Keilmen, Kellie Oneal, Peter Oser, and Lisa Ridge.

Only two candidates are running for treasurer, Laura Listug and Nancy Lowenshal.

Carol Goepp is running unopposed for secretary.

The election was to take place today and tomorrow during the noon hour.

"We expect to have the results at least a couple hours earlier by using the equipment," he continued. "It used to take us until 5:30 p.m. or so to count the ballots but we hope to have them counted by 3 p.m. Friday."

A phone call to the county elections office yesterday found an elections officer as enthusiastic about the experiment as Pessner.

"I think its a great idea," said Peter Meyer, "Other schools have thought about it on occasion, but no one has followed through on it until Kirk Pessner."

He said the cost to the county amounts to nothing more than letting the students use the machines which would be just stored anyway.

"I gave them some sample ballots which were given to us by salesman," he continued, "and the counting will be done on a school district sorter."

He said he would lend the machines to any school because "we get a great benefit from the voter education."

Other freshmen classes in the Tamalpais School District, while not using the machines, have also scheduled class elections.

Tamalpais High School will hold its election on Wednesday with a deadline for candidate filings set for tomorrow.

Sir Francis Drake High School was to hold its election today with results due this afternoon.

Running for president are Kevin Fradelizio and Maria Zaharoff, while for vice president are Cheryl Arends, Kathy Hamm, Theresa Scheppelman and Jean Yjord.

For treasurer are Cindy Adkins and Diane Olson, while for secretary are Kathy Davlin and Martha Lewis.

Burroughs Takes Over Computing

IBM is out, and Burroughs Corp. equipment has taken over the computing program for the county, Data Processing Chief Joseph B. Leach announced today.

"We released the International Business Machines 360/30 the first of September and are now running live material on the Burroughs B-2500," said Leach. "As with all new programs, we'll have some bugs to iron out, but everything ought to be running smoothly in a month or two."

Under a lease purchase agreement with Burroughs, the county pays $9,400 per month for the rental of all equipment, as compared with $10,443 per month paid to IBM.

During the conversion period, which started last January, Burroughs sent its equipment and men, and converted the programs used in the IBM machines to fit the Burroughs equipment, all at Burroughs expense.

"There was no out-of-pocket cost to the county," said Leach.

The new Burroughs equipment has greater capacity (90,000 memory units) than the IBM 360 (65,000 memory units) and can run more than one job at a time, explained Leach.

"On the old machine, we were running three shifts a day, six or seven days a week, but immediately after the conversion, we were down to two shifts, five days a week."

Leach said that increased capacity provided by the Burroughs equipment will meet increasing demands for data processing by various county departments. For example, his staff is now studying how best the computer can be used to replace manual clerical work in municipal court and in the sheriff's office.

Reds Say U.S.-Viet Tie A Peace Rejection

PARIS (UPI) —A Communist spokesman said today they considered Ambassador David K. E. Bruce's refusal to ditch the Saigon government a rejection of the Viet Cong peace plan.

Before the session began, both North Vietnam and the Viet Cong called on the United States to accept their latest peace offer as the only way to end the Vietnam War speedily.

One part of the plan called for the United States to dismiss the top three officials of the Saigon government. Bruce told them today the United States considered their dismissal demands as "unreasonable."

Bruce, who will confer with President Nixon on Sunday in Ireland on his failure so far to unfreeze the peace talks deadlock, told North Vietnam's negotiator and the Viet Cong foreign minister, Madame Nguyen Thi Binh:

"Let me merely remark, that it is unreasonable to demand the ouster of the president, the vice president and the prime minister of the Republic of Vietnam before you will negotiate seriously with that government."

Bruce added, "It is as if having agreed to the participation of the government of the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam and the so-called Provisional Revolutionary Government (of the Viet Cong) in these meetings we were now to say that the leadership of your side must be removed before we would be willing to negotiate seriously with you. That would be an unreasonable demand and a breach of our agreement."

Bruce urged the Communists to enter into "meaningful negotiations."

Bruce also repeated a charge he made last week that Hanoi and the Viet Cong "seek to use American prisoners of war and their anguished families as hostages in an attempt to gain your political objectives. The American people will not accept the use of our men as political pawns."

Bruce was responding to a Communist eight-point "peace initiative" presented Sept. 17. He said he has continued to study the Communist proposal. "I have seen nothing which leads me to revise my opinion that your fundamental demands seem unchanged," he said. "You have given no clarification of your proposals that indicate you have modified the demands and preconditions you have been insisting on for the past 20 months."

"The real question now is, are you prepared to enter into meaningful negotiations with all the parties represented here in which both the proposals you have made as well as our proposals would be discussed?" Bruce said.

"Our side stands ready for such talks."

Luna 16 Is 72nd Soviet Satellite

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI)—Luna 16, the Russian unmanned spacecraft which traveled to the moon, picked up lunar rock samples and then returned to earth, was the 72nd satellite launched this year by the Soviet Union, U.S. space officials said today.

Spokesmen at the Aerospace Defense Command Headquarters said the Soviets now have placed 2,061 man-made objects in space since they first launched the space era with Sputnik I on Oct. 4, 1957.

The United States has placed 2,427 objects in space and all other countries have launched 67 satellites.

Day Says Key Issue To Be Area Growth

Richard Day, Southern Sonoma candidate for supervisor, said today that the areas's "unplanned and uncontrolled growth" and his opponent's role in the growth process would be a key issue in the Nov. 3 election campaign.

In remarks prepared for a coffee meeting today at the home of Rod Hug, 1341 Glenwood Drive, Petaluma, Day identified his opponent, Philip L. Joerger, as a "land speculator" and city councilman and claimed that "both in his private and public activities, Phil Jerger has shown no interest in curtailing the drastic growth problems that now affect east Petaluma."

"Thanks to the 'growth at any cost' philosophy supported by my opponent, many Petalumans can look forward to continued double session schools, cross-town bussing of the children and totally inadequate neighborhood recreational space and facilities," Day said.

"It is vital," the attorney said, "that the citizens of this area have representation on the board of supervisors whose concern extends beyond the interests of land speculators, developers and subdividers."

Day said he has frequently shown his interest in planning and conservation and currently serves on the board of directors of three conservation organizations including Sonoma County Organization for a Planned Environment (SCOPE), California's Organized to acquire Access to State Tidelands (COASST) and the recently created environment center.

The Rome Colosseum is also known as the Flavian Amphitheater.

Woman Claims Denial Into Nursing Program

A Mill Valley woman claims she has been refused readmittance to the College of Marin's registered nursing program because she is a Negro and because she disagreed with the program's teaching methods.

Doris Thomas, 40, who has 20 years experience as a vocational nurse, said she has appealed to the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare to investigate the college for possible violation of the equal education provisions of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

Two student groups at the college have sided with Mrs. Thomas. Tony Romero of the Third World Liberation Front called the readmittance refusal a "clear case of institutional racism."

Romero's group and the Black Students Union say they have given the college until November, when the state's accreditation team will visit the Kentfield campus and the college has slated a tax increase election, to readmit Mrs. Thomas or face "affirmative action."

The college admits dropping Mrs. Thomas from the program, but said she "seemed not to appear to believe in the program" and cited personal problems she encountered and her mode of dress.

A college report issue Wednesday said Mrs. Thomas experienced a "difficulty in understanding and accepting a basic theory of nursing education."

"While I was in the program, I disagreed with the theories the instructors were using," she said. "To them it was a case of the old cliche, 'Another one of those smart niggers.' "

Mrs. Thomas was admitted to the program last fall, but failed two courses and was dropped.

In discussions with the nursing staff, she was advised to continue her nursing studies in the spring and retake the failed courses this year.

She said it was her understanding that she would be readmitted to the program if she successfully passed the spring semester courses which she did.

However, her application for readmittance this fall was rejected in May.

Fugitive Makes Appearance In Court On Various Charges

Former convict Tobert Wayne Kitzmiller, 34, of Fairfax, captured after a bullet-punctured chase Tuesday in Tamalpais Valley, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a variety of charges.

He was accused of two burglaries in 1969 and a count of possessing stolen property last April, but no charge was filed yesterday in connection with Tuesday's events. It was expected new charges might be filed today by the district attorney's office.

His companion, Gary Lee Miller, 24, of no known address, was released from Marin County Jail to be turned over to Los Angeles and Nebraska authorities by whom he is wanted on drug and embezzlement charges.

Kitzmiller also appeared yesterday in Marin Superior Court on a case in which he is charged with threatening a woman friend, Joan B. Carrillo, 33, in her San Rafael apartment July 30. He is accused of four offenses stemming from the fracas in which he allegedly threatened her with a sawed-off rifle.

In this case his bail was raised to $5,000 and the matter continued to next Wednesday.

He was to appear again today in Municipal Court on the cases charging burglaries in Inverness in October 1969 and Fairfax in July 1969 and with possessing stolen property in Sausalito in April.

Bail on each of these cases yesterday was set at $5,000, bringing his total Marin bail to $20,000. Kitzmiller is also wanted by Sonoma and San Francisco County authorities.

He and Miller were captured after officers shot Kitzmiller in the shoulder during a chase from the Fireside Motel to Laurel and Marin avenues in Tamalpais Valley.

Boys Reprimanded For Grass Fire

Two 14-year-old Terra Linda boys were reprimanded and released to their parents after starting a grass fire yesterday with a homemade firecracker, San Rafael police said today.

The blaze at the western end of Freitas Parkway burned 100 square feet at 4:30 p.m. but did no damage, San Rafael firemen reported.

Police said the boys admitted trying to set off a firecracker made of black powder stuffed into a cardboard tube. When it spouted fire instead of exploding, they tried to stamp out the grass blaze, but became frightened and ran away. They later confessed to causing the blaze, police said.

The first automatic transmission was introduced by Oldsmobile in 1937.

Pilots To Race For United Fund

Snoopy and his arch rival, the Red Baron, will begin a cross-country air race at noon tomorrow at Santa Rosa to publicize United Crusade campaigns in 22 cities.

At each leg of the race, the losing pilot will donate $500 to the United Crusade agency in that city. The pilots expect to arrive in New York City on Oct. 25.

Rollan Rea, president of the Petaluma United Crusade, will be on hand to accept a $500 donation to the Sonoma County United Crusade.

Supervisors Back College Propositions

The College of Marin's tax and bond measures (Propositions B and C) on the Nov. 3 ballot have won unanimous backing from the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

On a motion by Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and a second by William A. Gnoss, the supervisors voted 4 to 0 Tuesday to support both propositions. Chairman John F. McInnis was absent because he is on vacation for three more weeks.

Dr. John A. Grasham, superintendent-president of the college, explained that the measures are needed to open and oprate a second campus in Novato, complete the Kentfield campus to its capacity, and provide operational funds.

Proposition B would replace the current 35-cent tax rate levy, which is limited to capital improvement and construction use, with a 25-cent tax for general purposes.

Propostion C asks for a $16.9 million bond issue to open phase one of the north Marin campus. The bonds would be repaid over a 25-year period.

Passage of both measures will bring no increase in the local tax, said Dr. Grasham. The 16.9 million bond issue will bring $8.2 million in state and federal matching funds.

Reminder On Secrecy Act For Schools

Marin County School Boards Association members were advised last night to think twice before going into "executive session."

The advice came from Douglas J. Maloney, county counsel; Richard V. Godino, his assistant, and two Independent-Journal editors, Bryce W. Anderson and Robert M. Strebeigh, at a meeting of the association at the county schools office in Corte Madera. Vice President John W. Boyd of the Larkspur board presided.

Maloney pointed out that public bodies such as school boards must first determine that the reason for a closed session is one of the few permissible under the Ralph M. Brown Act, California's anti-secrecy law. But he suggested they should go farther and ask themselves whether it would be for the public good to have the discussion in closed session rather than before the public.

Anderson held that the annual closed sessions for "evaluation of teachers" do not fall within the closed-session provisions of the act, and suggeteds open discussion might result in better the act, and suggested open distances where school boards' actions in secrecy have given rise to public suspicion.

Judge Backs Plan For Job Finding

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A Superior Court judge has rejected a move to block a Reagan Administration experiment to determine whether private employment agencies can find jobs for welfare recipients.

Judge George E. Paras Wednesday ruled against the California State Employes Association (CSEA), which contended the test program violates the state constitution and is a misuse of federal funds. CSEA had sought an injunction against the Department of Human Resources Development.

The state employes' group contended that finding jobs for welfare recipients should be left in the hands of state civil servants who are trained to handle the complex problems of hardcore unemployed.

A Greater Adversary Role For Press Urged

It is important to democracy for journalists to confront public officials in "an adversary way," Professor William L. Rivers of the Department of Communication at Stanford University, asserted last night.

Speaking before the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen, Rivers advocated that the public be properly informed and the failures of journalists and government be remedied.

He emphasized the need for the public to be informed before decisions are made by citing the move in 1963 to send large numbers of troops into Vietnam.

Would the United States be in the "morass" it's in now in Vietnam if reporters had been present when President John F. Kennedy's advisers talked about going into Vietnam with other than advisory forces, possibly up to 300,000-350,000 troops?," Rivers asked.

"Can you imagine if the voters had been included in the debate about the possibility ... can you imagine we would have gotten into the morass we're in now?"

Rivers spoke of the faults of government officials and journalists, which he contended inhibit the truth before it reaches the people.

Reporters, being human, are likely to be biased through the process of selective perception and selective retention, he said.

"Through selective perception we see what we want to see and through selective retention, we retain what we want to retain," Rivers explained.

In places where there are groups of reporters, such as Washington, D.C., there is a "problem of the elite," where "you see reporters leaning upon each other."

For example, he said, James Reston, N.Y. Times writer, "one of the elite" is plagiarized and pirated. The result is instead of individual probes by reporters, there are "clusters of people leaning on one another."

Concerning government officials, Rivers said they have paid tribute to a free press since the start of this nation, but have never been able to live with it. "The enmity of the government and the press is as old as the United States," he declared.

Reporters must recognize that public officials are human and don't like to admit their errors publicly or be questioned closely.

Mill Valley Mayor George E. Wickham noted that violation of the Ralph M. Brown Act, governing secret meetings of public bodies, is considered "bad," and asked Rivers to compare this with "biased reporting or reporting only one side of an issue."

Rivers replied: "I think they're equally bad."

Whether officials confer in secret or journalists make mistakes or fail to inform the public, the end result is the same, Rivers contended. "Democracy can't work properly."

Rivers said that every President has managed the news, including Abraham Lincoln who held his Emancipation Proclamation for two months, before releasing it. "He decided to release it when the Union side was winning," Rivers said.

He described President Richard M. Nixon as having "perhaps the most astute approach," to news management, noting that the President goes on the air "directly" without being interviewed by Washington correspondents, without being questioned.

Under this method, he said, there is no adversary, and "there is a need for an adversary, for someone to question," Rivers contended.

Despite the faults of journalists and government, the system is better than relying on "word of mouth," he said.

About 75 persons attended the session at the San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere.

More Open Balloting Is Proposed

The Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen last night introduced a proposed change in its bylaws which would eliminate secret balloting for a chairman and appointments to various agencies.

The council has voted openly in the past on issues, but has had secret ballots on the appointments and chairman election.

Under the proposed change, the votes would be by written ballot with each city identified.

San Rafael City Councilman Harry A. Barbier objected, saying he was for a secret ballot, while Ross Councilman Ralph C. Walker backed an open ballot saying he couldn't imagine any occasion where a public official should be able to vote in secret.

The proposed amendment will be before the council for adoption at its next meeting, Oct. 21, in Corte Madera, next host city. Last night's meeting was at San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere.

San Rafael Councilman John A. Miskimen suggested that rather than vote by cities, the councilmen consider voting individually, under the "one-man, one-vote" concept.

San Rafael was the lone city to vote against the by-law amendment providing a written ballot with cities identified.

The council makes appointments to such agencies as the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District Board, the Marin County Transit District, and executive board of the Association of Bay Area Governments, and recommends to supervisors persons for appointment to the Golden Gate Bridge District.

The Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen Also:

CHAIRMAN — Received as nominees for the post of chairman for 1970-71 Robert B. Simmons of Corte Madera and James F. Reed of San Anselmo; and as nominees for the city manager seat on the Centralized Police Services Council, City Mgr. William L. Cavalli of Belvedere and City Mgr. James H. McCown of San Rafael, with voting to be held at the council's Oct. 21 session.

LEASH LAW — Heard a suggestion from Mill Valley that cities consider seeking an amendment to the countywide animal control ordinance which would provide for a "leash law" in commercial areas.

POLICE SERVICES — Heard a report from Marin County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell on the status of the proposal to form police services districts in unincorporated areas, whereby residents in thos areas would pay for extra police services they required, rather than have cities share the costs. The council endorsed the formation of the districts.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned until Oct. 21 in Corte Madera, place and time not set.

Jewish Hostages Win Race For Holy Days

NEW YORK (UPI)—For Trans World Airlines and three of the last five hostages released by Palestinian guerrillas, it was a race with the sun.

The Jewish New Year, Rosh Hashanah, began at 6:40 p.m. Wednesday and Orthodox law requires the observer to be in his home before sundown. The three Jewish hostages, including two rabbis, made it—with help.

U.S. Customs agents boarded the TWA plane, which had flown from Athens, to hastily clear Rabbi Abraham Harari-Rafoul, 35, his brother, Rabbi Joseph Harari-Rafoul, 33, and Dr. Gerald Berkowitz, 31, so they could get to their homes. The plane landed at 5:45 p.m.

The brothers then hurried to a waiting New York City police car which was escorted by a Transit Authority patrol car to their homes.

Berkowitz, a chemistry professor, held a 20-minute news conference. At the urging of relatives, he then hurried to a waiting police car with his wife and 2-year-old daughter and was taken to the home of his brother-in-law in White Plains, N.Y., a New York City suburb.

Robert N. Schwartz, 48, of Washington, D.C., and James Woods, 38, of Prairie Village, Kan.—both Defense Department employees stationed in Bangkok—were the other two hostages on the returning TWA plane. A sixth and last hostage, James Hollingsworth, 43, of Sacramento, Calif., a State Department employe stationed in Algiers, flew from Amman, Jordan, to Berlin, where his wife awaited him. Schwartz and Woods flew from New York to Washington last evening.

Schwartz, before leaving, told newsmen the guerrillas "were not interested in us at all as persons who had special work or knowledge." He said the six hostages were kept in a house in Irid and that the Jordanian army "shelled and strafed the town without any particular care."

Bomb Explodes

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—A bomb was thrown at an army and police patrol early today near a cemetery on the edge of the Roman Catholic Bogside district, police said.

Eating Woodcocks May Be Harmful

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Audubon Society says woodcocks are so full of DDT that eating them may be hazardous to human health.

Charles H. Callison, society executive vice president, said Wednesday he sent letters to Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Elliot L. Richardson and Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel, saying he recommended a ban on hunting the bird, sometimes called a "timberdoodle," along the Atlantic flyway.

Callison said Canada banned all hunting of the bird recently when tests showed they averaged 65 parts of DDT per million. Both Canadian and United States governments permit only 7 parts a million in the fat of hogs, cattle and sheep. One of the birds tested contained 773 parts a million, he said.

Woodcock hunting season opened today in many areas.

The Great Wall of China runs for more than 1,500 miles along China proper's northern border.

Temporary Order To Block Fire Strike

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Superior Court Judge William Gallagher Wednesday issued a temporary restraining order prohibiting city firemen from going on strike.

The order, which will be in effect until an Oct. 15 hearing, was obtained by the city of Sacramento. Gallagher based his decision on the city's argument that a public employes' strike is illegal and that firemen must remain on the job to protect lives and property in the city.

Cesar Chavez Signs First Contract With Tomato Firm

SALINAS (UPI) — Cesar Chavez' farm union has signed its first contract with a tomato firm, Brown and Hill of King City.

The pact, announced Wednesday, is also the first the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee has signed since it came to term Aug. 30 with Inter Harvest, Inc., a lettuce grower.

Pay under the contract will be somewhat higher than specified in pacts the Teamsters Union hold with some other growers.

Field hands will receive 20 cents for picking a 24-pound bucket of tomatoes, instead of 18 cents. Some other jobs in the fields will pay $2.50 an hour, or 25 cents more than in the Teamster pact.

The union said it also is negotiating with The Meyer Tomato Company, the state's largest harvester of green tomatoes.

After a 10-day interruption, talks were resumed Wednesday with Freshpict Foods, a lettuce firm, and with a group of strawberry growers, the union added.

Hoover Offers Ways To Stem Crime Wave

WASHINGTON (UPI) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says only "an aroused citizenry and swift and certain punishment by the courts" can stem a spreading wave of murders of policemen.

"When a law enforcement officer dies at the hands of a killer, part of our system of law dies with him," Hoover said in the monthly FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin. "When a policeman is assaulted or slain, the criminal significance of the incident extends far beyond the victim officer. It extends to the door of every law-abiding citizen."

COAAST To Elect Board Of Directors

A new board of directors will be elected at the meeting of Californians Organized to Acquire Access to State Tidelands (COAAST) on Monday at 8 p.m. in the faculty lounge at Santa Rosa Junior College.

Charles E. Hinkle, acting president, said current conservation issues will be reviewed after the election. New members will be accepted at the meeting.

This 'Goldilocks' Steals TV, Too

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—Police were looking for a modern Goldilocks today.

They said Carmi Burton reported to police Wednesday somebody had made porridge on his tove and rested in his bed while he was away.

But there ws one switch from the old children's fable. Burton's chairs were all in good shape, but the TV set was missing.

Back From Snorkeling Off A South Pacific Island

By MOLLY MARIN

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Jacobs of Tiburon returned Monday from their first trip to Moorea and Bora Bora. They shopped in Papeete, but stayed on the smaller islands because of the friendliness of the people.

They took the seven-minute plane ride from Papeete to Moorea on the "Tahiti Missile," a two-engine Otter and "practically helped fly the plane," says Mrs. Jacobs. They stayed at the Club Mediterranee and were entertained by the top tamaraa dancers.

On the beautiful island of Bora Bora, they snorkeled among abundant tropical fish, rode bikes on the dirt road and took a ride in a glass-bottom boat.

"We had more fun at the opening of a native school," says Mrs. Jacobs. "We learned the tamaraa by dancing with the Tahitians and were served the local beer at the party. It was fun to dance with such fabulous dancers! The dance floors are outdoors, a cement slab laid on the sand."

Their main impression was the kindness and friendliness of the islanders.

MR. AND MRS. Gary P. Anderson of Concord are parents of their first child, a son, Eric, born Sept. 22 in Concord. The baby is the first grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sherman Clark of San Rafael. Mr. Clark is a native of Marin County as are his parents, Mrs. Carl Wesley Clark of San Rafael, the baby's great grandmother, and the late Dr. Clark.

The infant's mother is the former Charlotte Clark, a graduate of San Rafael High School and College of Marin. His paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Anderson of San Francisco.

JUDGE ROBERT B. Arkell has returned to his home in Longview, Wash., following a visit with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Arkell of Corte Madera.

A COCKTAIL party tonight at the Tiburon home of Mrs. Thomas K. Drohan will mark the kick-off of the annual membership drive of the Marin Regional Council of the San Francisco Symphony Foundation. Mrs. Drohan is president of the council, whose drive will start Monday and continue through Nov. 9.

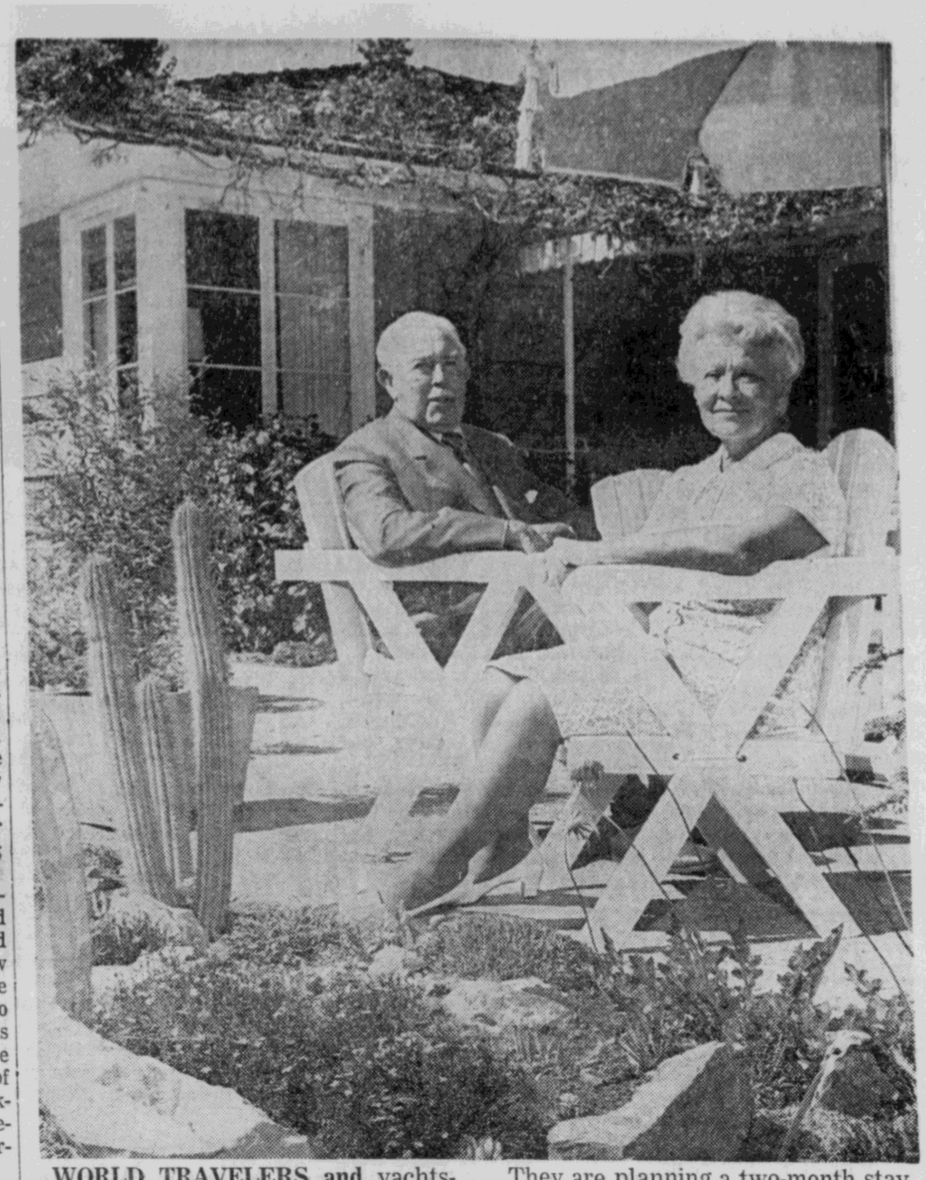
HAIVNG MANY unusual and exciting experiences on their year-long tour of Europe are Dana Corliss and her friend, Elina Halstrom of oMnterey Park, according to Dana's mother, Mrs. Dale Corliss of Mill Valley.

Dana, who was graduated from Tamalpais High School in June, and Elina left on Aug. 14. So far they have visited Frankfurt, Germany; the Netherlands, where they saw the E. T. Hoppes of Mill Valley, who are in Amsterdam for three years; Calais, France; and London, England.

At present they are in Ireland. Both accomplished horsewomen, they attended the International Horse Show in Dublin. They wanted to ride in a fox hunt, and were able to arrange to work as grooms and organize the office of the famed Padjy Ryan, master of the Scarteen Hounds at Knocklong, County Limerick, Ireland, who invited them to participate.

They are now riding in hunts three times a week. At the end of their first hunt Dana was awarded the fox's tail.

The girl plan to winter in Spain and return to Ireland in the spring. Mrs. Corliss is planning to join Dana then and visit some of her favorite places with her.



WORLD TRAVELERS and yachtsmen, Mr. and Mrs. Coulter McKeever of San Rafael celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sept. 22. They are planning a two-month stay in Mexico, where they go once or twice a year and will take a four-month world cruise later this year. (Independent-Journal photo)

Consumer Protection Series Is Offered

Six weekly lectures on "Consumer Protection in the '70's" are scheduled this fall at the University of California Extension Center, 55 Laguna Street in San Francisco.

James R. McCall, Deputy Attorney General in the Consumer Fraud and Antitrust Section of the state Attorney General's office, will conduct the program on Wednesdays from 7 to 9 p.m., beginning Oct. 14. Lectures cover the history of consumer protection; major federal and state statutes including the Unruh, Rees-Levering, Truth-in-Lending, and Truth-in-Packaging acts; consumer protection and the poor, and actions individuals can take in registering complaints and seeking legislative reform.

Also scheduled this fall is an extension program on "Better Health through Better Nutrition," which meets on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to noon, Oct. 3, 17 and 31, on the U.C. Berkeley campus. Discussions cover diet as a key factor in daily health, the effect of diet on physical and mental development and changes in metabolism during various stages of life. Participants may attend individual lectures or enroll for the series. Mildred Bennett, U.C. lecturer in nutrition, will be assisted by guest lecturers in medical, dental and other health science fields.

"Mushrooms" — their identification, distribution, structure, and economic significance in the Bay region — will be examined in an extension course taught by Harry D. Thiers, San Francisco State College professor of biology. The class offers lectures, demonstrations, field trips and practice in identifying common species by the use of taxonomic keys. It meets Mondays from 7 to 9 p.m., starting Oct. 26 at extension's San Francisco Center.

California's wealth of useful wild plants will also be examined in the course "Indian Plants/Survival Foods" which meets Thursdays from 7 to 10 p.m. beginning Oct. 29 at the San Francisco center. Participants will learn to identify important food, medicinal and dye plants, collect them and prepare them for use under the direction of the instructor John L. Kipping, naturalist with the Strybing Arboretum.

Further information and enrollment forms are available from U.C. extension offices in San Francisco and Berkeley.

Sesame Street Day Camps Held Successful In New York City

NEW YORK (UPI) — An experiment in the early education of pre-school children by teen-agers took the form of Sesame Street Day Camps in New York City.

The experiment set out to prepare youngsters for public schools and to improve attitudes and academic skills of teachers.

Some 1,500 pre-schoolers of all raves and 240 teen-age instructors participated. The teachers, all members of the Neighborhood Youth Corps, were trained by the Children's Television Workshop, producer of "Sesame Street."

THE DAY camp curriculum consisted of daily viewing of Sesame Street, follow-up lessons to reinforce the material learned from the show, field trips and food periods. The classes met five days a week from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., with recesses.

The project was funded by New York City's Youth Services Agency through a $68,000 federal grant.

Both the city agency and the Workshop now are studying young children and others involved.

Although about 17 public school buildings and makeshift sites were used for the camps, the largest, with an enrollment of 150, was at Andrew Jackson High School in Queens.

PAULA ROOKS, the 19-year-old director of the camp there, felt the experiment was successful.

"This was what we needed for our young children, especially in the black community," she said. Andrew Jackson High School is located in a predominantly black and Puerto Rican neighborhood.

Miss Rooks, a sophomore at Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va., admitted that in the beginning she really didn't think she would be able to work with such small children.

"But I found out I could, and I loved it," she said. "I really learned a lot from the kids."

She said the major problem was a lack of proper facilities.

"We really needed more room and equipment," she said. "We had the children and the teachers."

One of the teen-age teachers, Mireille Christophe, 16, agreed on th success of the camp.

"Some of the kids really didn't know anything," she said, "not even their names. But when camp was over they knew that and a lot more.

"I HAD one little boy about six years old who took almost a week to learn to recognize the letter 'A'. But by the time camp ended, he knew that and more than half the alphabet."

Miss Christopher said she enjoyed working with the children.

"I wanted them to think of me as a friend as well as a teacher," she said.

The teen-age instructors were paid $40 a week.

Alan Dummett, 15 and a student at the New York High School of Art and Design, worked as a special tutor, giving individual help to those who needed it.

"I really think the camp helped the kids," he said. "It will be easier for them when they enter regular school because of the summer classroom experience. Everything won't be totally new."

DUMMETT SAID the program even helped him.

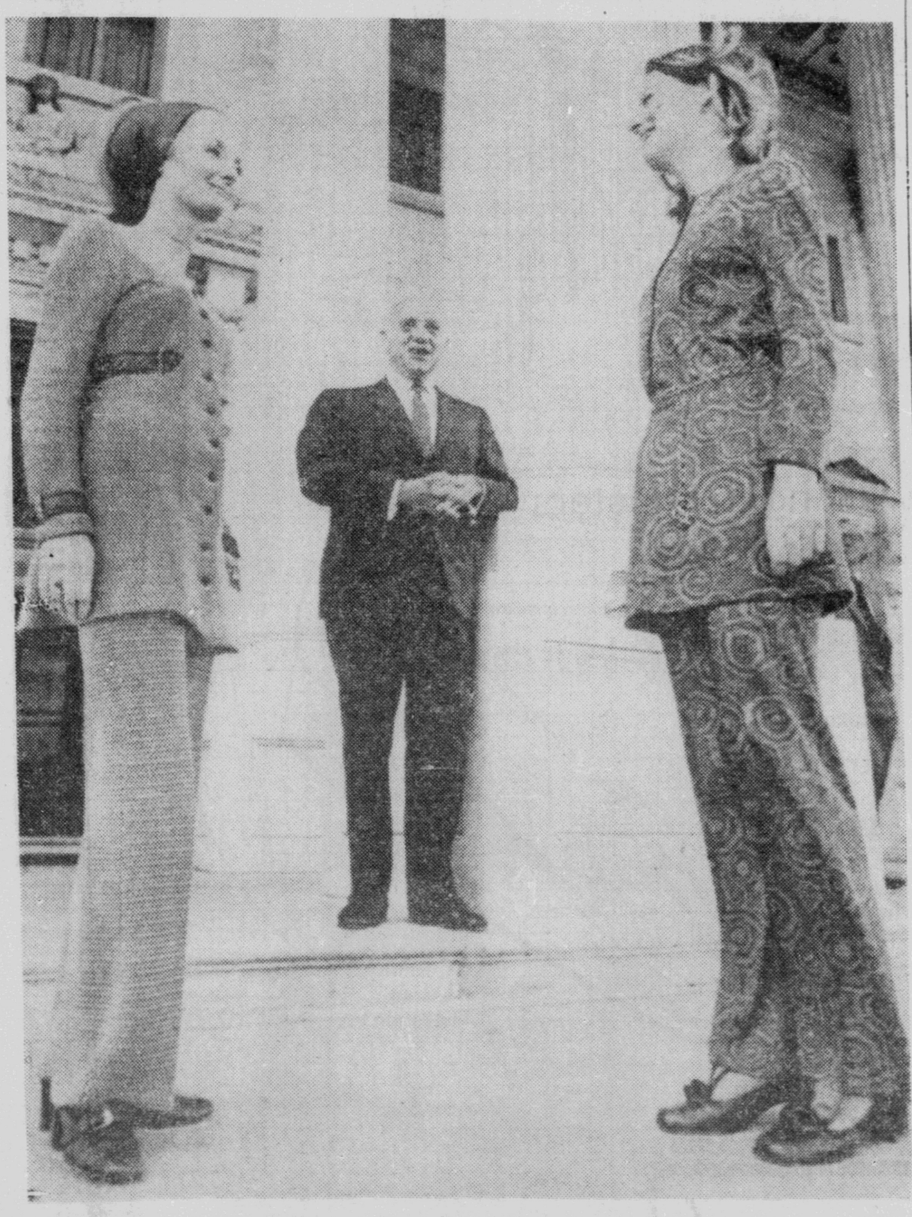
"I'm starting to understand little kids better," he said. "Before I didn't have any patience, but now I'm much better."

Those who sponsored and participated in the day camp program said they hoped to see it continued year-round in New York and even extended on a national basis.

John Nolan, who directed the program for the Youth Services Agency, said he was optimistic that some of the campus would be extended throughout the year. He said, however, that because of the lack of funds, the camps would have to be sponsored by community organizations.

"The federal money for the summer has all been used," he said.

Extension of the summer program next year, especially on a national basis, will depend on government and foundation grants.



SENATE COMPROMISE

Even Fashion World Wonders Who Will Wear The Pants

CHICAGO (UPI) — Since more and more women are wearing pants, designers have tried to get American men into skirts. All of this has made the fashion world even more confusing than usual.

According to Encyclopaedia Britannica, anthropologists and historians have exercised great ingenuity in explaining the difference between skirts and trousers. The distinction may be simply this — if the garment doesn't surround the legs individually, it's a skirt.

Throughout history the popularity of skirts for women has been attributed to the woman's more sheltered life. But the subject becomes confusing when it is considered that Turkish women, with extremely sheltered lives, have traditionally worn trousers and hardy mountain men, such as the Scots and the Greeks, went in for skirts.

Climate differences could dispel some of the confusion, at least historically, with skirts in the tropics favored by both sexes while nearer the Arctic Circle both sexes choose pants.

Traditionally it's been skirts for the women and pants for the men in most of the places between the jungles and the icebergs.

Coulter McKeevers Married 50 Years

A reception at the St. Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco marked the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Coulter McKeever of San Rafael.

Married Sept. 22, 1920, Coulter McKeever and Janet Wilhoit went to Santa Barbara to marry in a church neither of them now remember the name of in order "to avoid a large celebration" involved with having a wedding in the Bay Area where they both lived.

They had met three years earlier at a famous benefit, according to Mr. McKeever, called the Red Star Ball which was given to raise money to buy horses for the Calvary in World War I. He had just joined the Navy and would soon go to San Pedro for officers' training.

Born in Stockton, Mrs. McKeever, attended Castilleja School for Girls in Palo Alto.

Coulter McKeever, a graduate of Fordham University in New York and native of New York City came to San Francisco to help establish a West Coast office of what is now the McCann-Erickson Advertising Agency. In 1930 he went to work for William R. Hearst's "American Weekly" Sunday supplement magazine and became advertising manager until retiring in 1954.

He was asked to return several times to help rehabilitate the magazine which was discontinued in the mid-60s.

The McKeevers lived in Hillsborough until moving to Marin six years ago.

Traveling plays a big part in their lives, and they will soon leave for two months in Mazatlan, Mexico, where they stay at the Balboa Club. Later in the year they plan to take a cruise around the world.

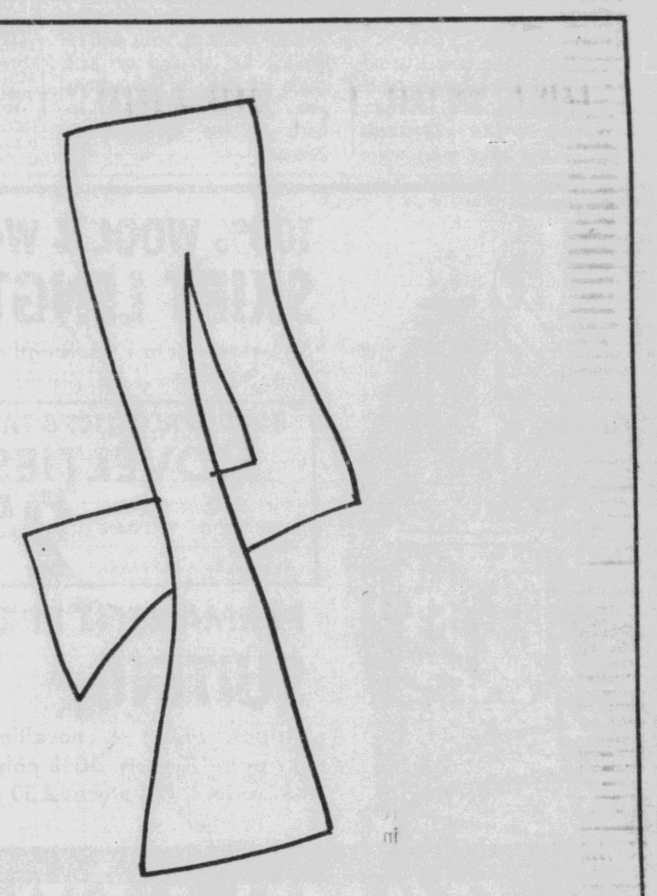
The trip will be one of several cruises and world travels.

"We've been every place in the world but Red China," Mr. McKeever said. "We've been in all the parts of Africa, South America, Australia and the Congo." They travel about three or four months a year.

They also cruise the waters of the Bay Area and Delta region in their 55-foot twin diesel cruiser "La Reina," which is berthed at the Marin Yacht Club. It is one of several boats the McKeevers have owned, which have included a 70 footer "the Safari" which they bought in Washington, D.C., and cruised down the East Coast through the Panama Canal and back home to San Francisco. They were delayed twice on the six-week trip by a hurricane in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and with a breakdown in the Panama Canal.

The McKeevers have two daughters, six grandchildren and one great grandchild. Mrs. Jerome Adams of Sausalito and her husband are the parents of Coulter and Peter Adams and Mrs. Dale Walwork of Ross who has a daughter, Jennifer. The McKeevers other daughter, Mrs. Kerry Mulligan of St. Helena, is the mother of Kirk, Geoffrey and Kathy Mulligan.

The McKeevers are also members of the St. Francis Yacht Club, and he is a member of the Stock Exchange Club. She does volunteer work at the Ross Hospital and has volunteered at Napa State Hospital and Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco.



Smartest put-on in a generation

It's not who wears the pants any more. It's what pants women want to wear, where. For pants now fit any occasion and every woman who believes in liberating the legs. There's no one look, either. Pants have taken exciting strides into new, imaginative fabrics . . . and they're walking away with color! Formal, cocktailesque, casual - you can be anything in pants today. But with pants, as with all fashions, we like to believe there's only one "you." And that's where we like to start . . . with your size, your color, your style, all marked "you." A wonderful put-on, anytime.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

'I Wish Adults Would Stop Generalizing And Talk To Us.'

DEAR HELEN:

It seems that too many adults classify kids into two divisions: dirty hippie, and clean-cut teen.

I'd like to point out that many hippies are cleaner morally and physically than the short-hairs. Of course there are the weirdos, freaks, or crazies who aren't really hippies, just as the big operators aren't really clean-cuts: They only look that way. If our elders would judge kids by how they act and what they believe in, not by looks, there would be a lot smaller generation gap.

A real hippie is a person who has a philosophy of love and peace. He's liable to flip the peace sign to a perfect stranger and say "Hang on," just because it's the friendly thing to do. He can have long hair, beads, a beard, or he can look straight, but he's a kind of idealist. He may smoke pot but he doesn't usually go the drug route all the way. He's quite often the brightest guy in the class — and the one who may go farthest in things that really matter.

Maybe he doesn't always get the Big C for Cleanliness but that's his thing, sometimes a personal protest against people who put too much emphasis on television commercial-type appearances and not enough on what's inside.

Whether bearded, haired, bell-bottomed, leathered or straight, our appearance or odor do not change our mentality. (Consider Samson — it wasn't until he got his long hair cut that he became a pansy.)

We're only gross-outs if we act that way. I wish adults would stop generalizing and start talking to us. You'd be surprised how well we communicate with the few who do. — PEACE — ON

DEAR PEACE:

I'll drink to that.

For a long time now I've noticed the so-called hippie types communicate best in class room discussions, remain afterwards to talk — and (like you) write some of most thoughtful letters.

Also: They're most helpful in directing me around campus. When I visit a new school and get lost (as I usually do) it's almost always a long-hair or bearded one who sees my predicament and straightens me out. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I know you don't use much poetry, but this, I think, is sorta special — a friend wrote it and I think it shows the side of a teen-age girl we sometimes forget exists.

A new born life just brought into the world,
I must be a girl: I'm dressed in pink!
Gurgled syllables answered by love,
A seed just planted in the ground.
A sunburned, freckle-faced girl Dressed in dungarees and a baseball cap, I shout,
"Strike Three, Hey Dad, it's your turn at bat!"
This seed has grown its roots and is stemming up toward the sky.
Nail polish, curlers, and teen magazines are
The essential elements in my existence.
"Hey Mom, guess who's going to the prom?"
A bud appears: Shy, foretelling beauty.
Walking down the aisle, I see the man I love,
His eyes reach out to welcome me.
Because of him, I am a woman.
A red rose, in full bloom, smiles confidently at the world. — E.S.

Hope you liked it, Helen. I, too, am a teen-age girl. — MARY

DEAR MARY:

I do, I do! — H.

Good Supply Of Meats But Vegetables Poor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that food shoppers this weekend will find a wide variety of meats and poultry in good supply, but only a small variety of fruits and vegetables.

Meat counters will offer beef rib, round and chuck roasts and a choice of beef steaks. In pork there are good supplies of bacon and Boston butts. Some markets will also feature hams, roasts and picnics. Broiler-fryers will also be in good supply, and some markets will feature turkeys.

VEGETABLE BINS will offer good supplies of potatoes, onions, cabbage, peppers and carrots. In fruits, apples will be in best supply.

The Department of the Interior reports good supplies of canned salmon, fish sticks and portions and canned tuna.

Foods listed in USDA's plentiful foods list for October shoppers include fresh apples, canned applesauce, apple juice, pork, broiler-fryers, dry beans, canned peaches, canned salmon, onions, eggs, potatoes and dried prunes.

IN WEST COAST markets this week fresh and smoked pork prices are lower. In Portland pork loins are as much as 10 cents a pound lower and Boston butts are as much as 7 cents lower.

Beef loins are 2 to 5 cents a pound lower in Los Angeles and Portland.

Large size eggs and poultry are lower in all markets.

Among the fruits and vegetables in best supply are apples, bananas, grapes, watermelons, cabbage, carrots, onions, bell peppers and potatoes.

Seafood buys to watch for in the West, according to the U.S. Department of Interior, are halibut, salmon, rockfish, sole and oysters.

Food Canning Popular Again

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Canning fruits and vegetables has become popular again, says a home economist.

Ethel Diedrichsen, University of Nebraska extension food and nutrition specialist, said there are several factors in the upsurge in home canning. These include the rising cost of living, the preference for canned food over frozen food and the sense of accomplishment felt by the homemaker when she surveys the results.

WILLIAM K. BLEYLE wed Cynthia E. Swendeman in a ceremony at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard B. Bleyle of San Anselmo, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Swendeman of Mill Valley are the bride's parents. The newlyweds are living in Fairfax.

Reagan Has Learned Job; Let's Keep Him On It

Four years ago, the Independent-Journal gave a sort of back-hand endorsement to Ronald Reagan's candidacy for governor.

What we said was, in about so many words, that we had enough of Edmund G. Brown, so why not try somebody else?

Now, Jesse M. Unruh is going about the state saying we have had enough of Ronald Reagan, so why not try somebody else — namely, Jesse M. Unruh?

NO THANKS, Jess.

We have beaten few drums for Governor Reagan during his nearly four years in the statehouse. But he has — except for a few months when he became infatuated with the idea of being nominated for President — worked hard and faithfully at the job to which he was elected.

He has learned a lot on the job. The Governor Reagan of 1970 is a much more able state executive than was the Governor Reagan of 1966. He has swept out many of the "bright boys" who were his early advisers, and replaced them with men of higher calibre and greater ability. He has learned to work with the legislature instead of against it. And he has been consistent.

He has fought consistently — though with limited success — to hold down state expenditures, to make some sort of sense out of the rampant bureaucracy that rules from Sacramento. His early efforts were naive and ineffectual. But here and there, he has begun to make some headway. This is encouraging.

His appointments have been mostly good ones — his latest choice of Henry J. Broderick as Marin County Superior Court judge being a case in point.

HE HAS BEEN conscientious. Unlike nearly all his predecessors in recent times, he has personally acted on every bill passed by the legislature, eitheir signing or vetoing it. There have been no piles of bills becoming law without the governor's signature, as in the Pat Brown days.

Although accused of being a "friend of the rich," he has backed legislation to equalize the tax load, and to improve distribution of funds which the state parcels out to counties and local districts.

Although charged with being "against the schools," he has each year asked for increased funds for both the elementary-secondary and higher education. Once he pushed through legislation to give the school districts a special state tax bonus so they could reduce property taxes. It wasn't his fault that most of the districts used the money to raise salaries instead of cutting taxes.

Although damned out of hand by Unruh and others just about every time he opened his mouth, Governor Reagan has stuck to his guns for his principles.

THE SAME CANNOT be said of Jesse M. Unruh. In this year's legislative session, instead of using his power and influence to unite the Assembly Democrats in working out sensible tax and budget bill comprises, he chose to absent himself campaigning. Last year he held up the budget and the legislature's adjournment in spoiled boy antics.

Ronald Reagan has grown in office. The onetime "Big Daddy" has shrunk in political stature while he shrunk in poundage.

No thanks, Jess. We don't think we should change governors this year. Ronald Reagan has served his apprenticeship. Let's keep him on the job, now that he knows the ropes.

Scranton Commission Report Gives President Crucial Choice

WASHINGTON — As the advance political barrage began, designed to shoot down the report of the Commission on Campus Unrest before it had been written, the chairman, William W. Scranton, was asked a pertinent question: Why did the President give you this thankless task?

"I think it was because he knew," Scranton replied, "that I want no public office, whether elective or appointive."

In short, he was expendable, and the clamor that has greeted the report from both the right and the left on this most-divisive issue proves his ofrthrightness and his courage.

JUST BEFORE the report was released and shortly before President Nixon took off for Europe, Scranton and the President had a solemn confrontation.

The chairman of the commission urged Mr. Nixon to read the report without the prejudice of those White House advisers already engaged in blunting, if not nullifying, its findings. The President replied that he would take it with him and read every word. He promised that when he returned he would call Scranton in and discuss his own part in carrying out the recommendations of the report.

This will be the test. For the report concludes in almost so many words that the President's failure to supply moral leadership has contributed immeasurably to widening the breach between the "youth culture," as the report puts it, and the established order. The test will not be an easy one, since a lot of Republicans, led by Vice-President Spiro Agnew, are running against the young, the long hairs, those who opt out with eccentric dress and manner.

COMING IN the midst of the congressional campaign, the report offers one of those momentous either/or choices that for the historian of the future will be a bench mark showing which way America was to move. It can be in the direction of irreparable division, as the report warns. The small minority of extremists shouting obscenities on the fringe of Agnew's meetings are contributing their generous share of divisiveness.

Or the nation with leadership from the President can move to bind up the wounds of the past — the wounds of Kent State and Jackson State College — restore unity to the campuses and, in a larger context, close the gap between the generations. This course would mean foregoing the exploitation of hatred and division for votes in a critical campaign.

THE HARVEST of votes the exploiters hope to reap is the reason why weeks ago the attack was launched to repudiate the report. Scranton traces the origins of that attack to the presence on the commission's staff of John van de Kamp.

Van de Kamp, formerly with the office of the United States district attorney in Los Angeles, was an administrator with no responsibility for the content of the report. But he was the democratic opponent of Barry Goldwater Jr. in the race for a House seat in April, 1969, in Orange County. No matter how restricted his function, Van de Kamp's appointment, Scranton came to believe, was a red flag to the Goldwater faction of the party.

This in a curious way repeats recent history and points up again the still-unresolved struggle for the soul of the Republican party. In 1964 Scranton challenged Barry Goldwater for the presidential nomination in San Francisco. His challenge was belated, uncertain, and he never had a prayer in that convention so dominated by the righteous and indignant right.

During the brief skirmish in San Francisco a Scranton staff member released a statement under Scranton's name saying the unsayable — namely, that Goldwater couldn't be elected President.

No matter that this was proved disastrously right. It may have been all the more reason to deny forgiveness.

The fact that the President named Scranton chairman in the first instance was an act of courage. He can now show whether this was just another report to be filed and forgotten or whether it is a signpost to reconciliation.

No Course Open To Sheriff's Deputies

Re your article, "Why Hire an Attorney?" (Sept. 26):

Perhaps the author could suggest an alternative action!

The deputy sheriffs have been treated unfairly and dismissed. It is supposedly illegal to strike! A work shut-down is judged harshly. Negotiations didn't do the deputy sheriffs any good. What would you have us do?

True it will cost a large sum to obtain good legal advice, but maybe in the future we will find a "legal" way to be represented at the negotiation table, for what we, and many taxpayers in the county feel, are just wages.

Need For Spaying Clinic Increases

I have, with growing apprehension, been reading your "Pets" column. Never before have there been so many free animals offered. The present is bad enough; but what of next spring! . . .

The law which will require humane societies to demand spaying of female animals adopted will not begin to solve the problem. The proportion of animals placed in new homes as compared to those destroyed must be very small. The babies abandoned by owners or placed in irresponsible homes must be enormous.

If our spaying plan had been given the support it warranted when it was proposed, many animals would not now be leading a precarious existence or have already met death.

Under the plan now being used in Las Vegas and by several California organizations, the veterinarians are paid by the organization and the animal owner pays back what he can afford — sometimes in installments.

The apathy of the people , not opoposition of the veterinarians, has caused the delay in putting a spaying program into effect in this county . . .

With the proper financial support a spaying program such as the ones now successful in Las Vegas and San Francisco could be put into effect here.

Unless something is done before next spring, when the humane society may be forced to hire more animal control personnel and enlarge the shelter as well as the incinerator, it will be no satisfaction to me to say "I told you so."

Salary Correct; Job Title Wrong

In your newspaper of Sept. 24 you list me under Department of Agriculture as a senior inspector at $11,808 per year — with the top senior inspector position at $12,096. The position title is incorrect — but the salary is correct. What I object to is the fact that this is not only an incorrect statement, but a deceptive one. My job title is assistant agricultural commissioner and, as such, I am responsible for the supervision of our office staff in the various functions of the department.

The result of your listing omits the very essence of the argument made some weeks ago to the board of supervisors by management personnel, to the effect that some supervisory employees are being paid less than those employees over which they had supervisory responsibilities, as a result of the recent pay raise granted to all non-management members of the Marin County Employees Association. As you know, the board admitted a lack of information, and rectified the error to some extent later by granting similar raises effective Jan. 1, 1971.

You have an advantage that we employees of the county do not have —the means of widespread dissemination of information — and that poses the problem of a need for accurate reporting of factual information. I would urge that a careful transcription of the public record as listed in the Marin County Budget for fiscal year 1970-71 be made in future in your newspaper in order to avoid inaccuracies.

Thanks To Many For Fire Battle

We would like to thank Louis R. Robinette, a former policeman, for acting quickly and wisely when he spotted the arsonist that set fire to the dry grass on Los Ranchitos Road north of Glenside Way about 2:30 p.m. last Friday.

We would also like to thank the Marin County firemen, the San Rafael firemen, the Kentfield firemen, the residents of the area, and the hundreds of volunteers, including the so-called "hippie types" for doing all they could to put out the fire as quickly as possible.

We live at 65 Los Ranchitos Road. The fire spread as far north as our property line. Without the kind of people mentioned above, our house would probably not be here now.

How About Peek At Welfare Rolls?

The annual salaries of the Civil Service employees of Marin Coupnty are considered to be a matter of public record and as such were recently printed in the Independent-Journal.

Fine and dandy.

Now, how about an accounting of each welfare recipient by name and amount received? Surely the taxpaying citizenry is entitled to a peek at both side of his coin!

The real eye-opener was a count of 210 employees to fulfill the duties of the Public Social Services Department. Of these, 65 persons or one third of the department receive salaries in excess of $10,000 a year!

A county with a total population of little over 200,000 requires a department of 201 employees to handle the case-load of welfare recipients? Hm. . .

Southern California Fire Disasters Show Need For Preventive Work

By HENRY MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — One can feel sorry for the Californians hit by the tremendous fires in Southern California. But when people insist on building plush homes in brush-filled canyons, which are fire traps to begin with, taxpayers begin to wonder whether the same pattern is going to be followed from now until eternity.
fire won't strike, there at least

The pattern is two-fold. First, expensive homes are built on expensive land. Second, fire prevention is considered as something not very important, due to the fact it might happen once in awhile, but "it can't happen here."

Driving in the hills back of Santa Barbara several years ago, this writer was astounded at the moneyed residences vulnerable to disastrous fire possibilities, which could have been averted with a little judicious cleaning up. While there never is any guarantee that is the possibility of lessening the damage it can do by providing less fuel.

FIRE IS ALWAYS imminent, but there is a difference between inviting the flames, providing the fuel on which they feed, and reducing the danger as much as possible by fire preventive measures.

Some years ago, soil conservation groups started studies as to how tinder-like brush could be eliminated from the foothills and some of the desert areas of California, and grass substituted to provide grazing for increase in the food supply of the state.

Since that time, a program has been undertaken in Texas of considerable extent, where brush was bulldozed out, chopped up and used to replenish the land, which then was planted to grass. Reports came back that this program has worked satisfactorily in some areas.

Experiments along the same lines have been made in California, but so far, the idea appears to have been forgotten with the disintegration of the old soil conservation programs.

Brush of various kinds takes over when soil is depleted, robs what soil is left of moisture. The weather does the rest, whether the fires are started by natural or unnatural causes.

THE ELIMINATION of brush is a long and expensive operation but if the program were pursued in the populated areas, some advantage would accrue to the public, and much more advantage to the home owners in the brush-infested areas.

So we have an explosive situation that while it might not be cured completely, could at least be curtailed.

Election Year In Brazil Has Little Meaning

By DANIEL A. DROSDOFF

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)— This is, theoretically, a big election year in Brazil. But no one would ever know it.

Twenty-two state governorships will be decided Saturday. On Nov. 15 the voters will chose two-thirds of the federal senate, the entire chamber of deputies, all mayors, state assemblymen and city councilmen.

Apathy is the watchword. Excitement is nil. Campaigning is light, colorless and formal. Candidates run for office as if they were just going through the motions. Criticism of the government is either nonexistant or muted.

THE REASON is that for the past six years the political kingmaker in Brazil has been the military. It all goes back to 1964 when the army seized power to "throw out the rascals," — meaning all politicians, not just those of one party.

Since 1964 a long series of presidential decrees has relegated the nation's traditional political institutions to a minor role.

The politicking that is permitted, especially involving the congress, is tightly controlled. The gubernatorial elections Saturday are indirect. The governorships will be filled by votes from the state assemblies.

The elections on Nov. 15 will be by popular vote. But only 60 per cent of Brazil's 45 million adults will be able to vote because of the literacy requirement.

ONLY TWO political parties are allowed to function, the progovernment National Renovating Alliance (ARENA) and the National Democratic Movement (MDB), the official opposition.

It is a foregone conclusion that the progovernment party will sweep nearly all of the governorships and heavy majorities in the state legislatures, congress and city councils.

This is due to the peculiar structure of ARENA. The army formed the party with a shotgun marriage between the two largest political parties in Brazil, the middle-of-the-road Social Democratic Party (PSD) and the conservative National Democratic Union (UDN). This was just about like forming one party in the United States based on a fusion of Republicans and Democrats.

The opposition was formed primarily by the old Brizalian Workers Party (PTB), which can muster a majority now in only one state, Guanabara, where Rio de Janeiro is located. It is the one state where the MBD will win the governorship. It will be unopposed.

CANDIDATES for the governorships have been handpicked by President Emilio Garrastazu Medici, titular chief of ARENA as well as head of state.

Medici, in turn, was handpicked by the military high command to take the place of ailing president Arthur da Costa Silva in 1969.

Both the progovernment and opposition candidates must be screened by the SNI, the National Information Service, something akin to the U.S. FBI and CIA combined.

COUNTRY PARSON

ART BUCHWALD

Never Appoint A Commission Without Writing Report First

WASHINGTON — There's probably nothing more embarrassing for the President of the United States than to appoint a commission to investigate a serious situation in the country, and discover he's part of the problem.

This seems to have happened with the President's Commission on Campus Unrest, and the White House is taking it very hard. There is even some talk of a presidential commission to investigate unrest on presidential commissions.

A SPOKESMAN for this group, Harvey Troglodyte, told me:

"It's a terrible thing for this country, not to mention the fall elections, when a presidential commission blames the President and his administration for what's going on in the United States."

"It sounds like another Pearl Harbor," I said, trying to ingratiate myself to him.

"We're not going to let it happen again," Troglodyte said. "If we can't have a presidential commission that supports the President we'll do away with presidential commissions for good."

"That's a very serious step," I said.

"IT'S NOT our fault. The President appointed the commission on campus unrest in good faith. He told them to get to the bottom of the student crisis and give him the answers to the hard questions that confront us all. He told Governor Scranton to let the chips fall where they may. Instead of doing that, the Scranton report found the Vietnamese war, the President's decision to go into Cambodia and the rhetoric of his administration partly responsible for campus unrest."

"But that isn't what the President wanted to hear," I protested.

"You can say that again," Troglodyte said. "Just because you tell a commission it has carte blanche to find out what is wrong in this country, the commission doesn't have a license to attack the administration."

"What are you going to do about it?"

"WE HAVE several plans in mind. For one thing. We're seriously thinking of writing the report first and then appointing a presidential commission to sign it."

"That would eliminate a lot of soreheads," I agreed.

"It would also save the commission a lot of time and money. We know what should go into those reports. They have to start from scratch."

"It doesn't matter how you do it as long as you arrive at the truth," I agreed.

"THE PURPOSE of a presidential commission has been misunderstood by a vast number of Americans."

"What is its main function?" I asked.

"When the President announces he is appointing a presidential commission to study something, he is saying to the American people he is very concerned, and he is asking for answers to questions that all Americans are entitled to know."

"That's well put," I said "What else?"

"THAT'S IT," Troglodyte said. "By the time the commission has come up with the answers, the President is counting on the problem to have gone away.

"By attacking the administration, all the Scranton Commission has done is keep the 'campus unrest' issue alive."

"Governor Scranton should have known better," I said.

"We should have," Troglodyte said. "One of the rules of politics is, 'Never ask for whom the bell tolls during an election year.' "

$15 Million Transit Study Bill Approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress has sent to president Nixon's desk legislation providing $15 million for a one-year extension of a government study on high-speed ground transportation.

Among the projects being worked on in the study are a subway train that could travel 500 miles an hour and an air cushion train that could go 300 m.p.h.

Minor Draw Bridge Rule Change Eyed

The Coast Guard has proposed minor changes in the navigation safety rules for the Black Point and Haystack Landing railroad draw bridges on the Petaluma River.

The proposed change would provide that two hours' notice be given the Southern Pacific Railroad to obtain a bridge attendant for the Haystack Landing span near Petaluma instead of, as at present, leaving the span unattended and open, except for passage of trains.

At present, a bell must be tolled continuously in foggy weather when either span is left open. Under the proposed new rule, the railroad must sound two long horn blasts each minute when the Black Point span is closed during foggy weather. The horn would signal the bridge's opening with three long blasts, remaining silent while the span is open.

Public comments on the changes should be received in writing at Coast Guard Twelfth District headquarters, 630 Sansome Street, San Francisco, before Oct. 28, the Coast Guard said yesterday.

Abrams Is Well After Illness

SAIGON (UPI) — Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, U.S. military commander in Vietnam, spent a quiet night and was in good condition at the 3rd Field Hospital in Saigon, American military spokesmen said today.

Abrams, 57, was hospitalized Wednesday after becoming dizzy at a military ceremony in Vung Tau, 40 miles southeast of Saigon.

Spokesman said Abrams apparently had been ill for about five days with a virus and slight lung inflammation.

Quake, Tidal Wave

MANILA (UPI)—An earthquake rocked the island of Basco off the northern coast of the Philippines Wednesday, setting off a minor tidal wave and a series of aftershocks. Several houses were destroyed but there were no reports of casualties.

Tables Turned, Consumer Group Accused Of Ducking A Key Issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's largest consumer coalition, itself often critical of selfish economic interests, was accused today of ducking a key consumer issue in deference to labor unions which provide much of its financial support.

The group, the Consumer Federation of America (CFA), denied improper motives but acknowledged it had taken no position on the issue — a proposed trade bill to limit imports of textiles, shoes and possible other goods. The measure is supported by the AFL-CIO.

Virginia H. Knauer, President Nixon's consumer affairs adviser, has called it "the most significant anticonsumer legislation now in the Congress." She said the quotas would lead to "higher prices, fewer product choices, reduced competition, and a limited supply of imported products."

The measure still is awaiting House action. If passed it would go to the Senate and there was speculation the entire matter might be put off until the next session of Congress.

CFA, a federation of 160 local, state, regional, and national organizations, has lobbied hard for buyer "class action" rights and other legislation designed to benefit consumers, But three officials octive in a coalition of business, civic and other groups opposing import quotas said the CFA had spurned pleas to help fight the trade bill.

The three — a government official, a Washington lobbyist and a New York public affairs consultant — were questioned by UPI. The government official and the lobbyist asked not to be identified.

All three cited labor pressure and money as a reason for CFA's silence on the trade issue. The lobbyist said CFA officials acknowledged this privately.

Erma Angevine, CFA executive director, said "labor has never asked us to take a stand."

"We've never taken a position because the trade bill just never came up. It didn't come up at our recent annual meeting and it has never been debated."

Mrs. Angevine said she did not present the trade issue to the convention because she "wanted to concentrate on class action," — referring to a bill which would let one consumer sue in behalf of everyone defrauded by the same shoddy product or deceptive sales pitch.

She said CFA gets roughly one third of its financial support from organized labor, but none directly from the AFL-CIO.

To Face Press

Marin and Sonoma candidates on the Nov. 3 general election ballot will face newsmen's questions from 9 to 11 p.m. Saturday, on KQED's channel 9 "Candidates Night" program.

FCC Relents On Telex Messages

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Communications Commission has stayed a requirement that the Western Union Telegraph Co. provide Telex customers with direct access to international messages.

Western Union asked for the stay claiming it was financially unfeasible to provide the service. Extension of the international service for Telex subscribers was a condition for approval of Western Union's purchase of the Teletypewriter Exchange Service (TWX) from the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. last July 29.

The commission in a statement Wednesday said it was staying the requirement pending the outcome of a separate proceeding in which Western Union has been directed to show cause why Telex customers should not get the international message service.

ART REVIEW

Too Many Facets For Top Product

By LAURA DEVENDORF

While always informative, a show which displays many media in which an artist works seldom does justice to his best product. Such is the case with Mill Valley artist Maggie Hazell-Rosen, whose paintings, prints and drawings are displayed through Oct. 22 at the Marin Fellowship of Unitarians, 340 Channing Way, San Rafael.

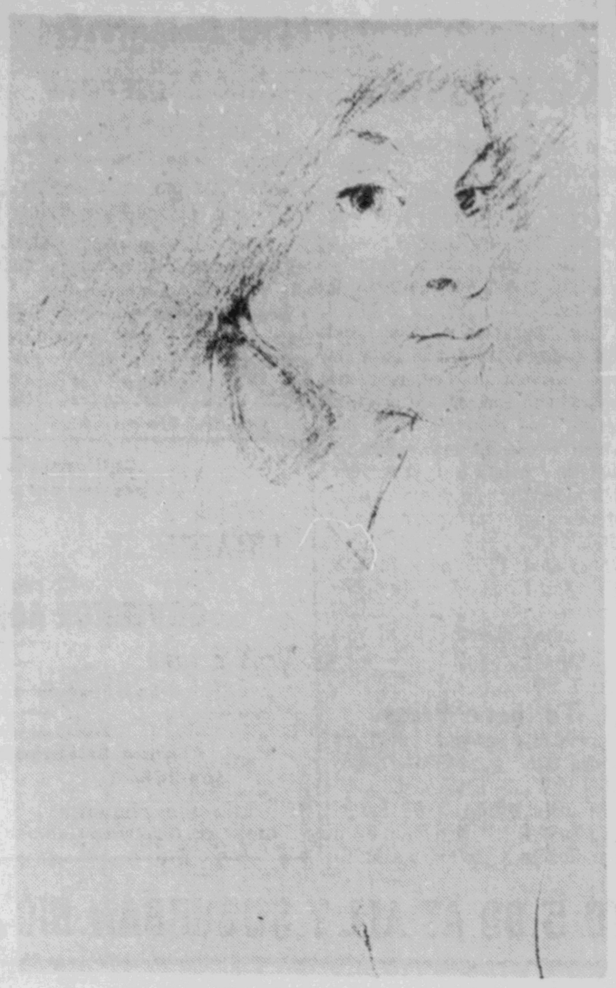
The paintings and prints rob space from her drawings, which are engrossing enough to beg for a much more extended showing. These drawn figures and faces have an immediacy which could only come from the fact that first, the artist is exceedingly skillful and knows just what she is doing and second, that she takes them only to a point and then leaves them alone, never returning to rework the pure raw line with which she has described them.

The faces Miss Hazell-Rosen draws are distinct in their particular mood or personality — whether dreamy, brooding or direct. Her nudes dwell more on fluid form, filling and dissecting space with confident lines, little shading and with volume unstated but assumed. The closer you look, the more vital, varied and beautiful each stroke of line becomes. And while the overall feeling is classical, the drawings always remain casual enough to seem thoroughly contemporary and real.

Miss Hazell-Rosen's paintings do not offer this same absorbing content. Usually, they are hazy blurs of pastel color, sometimes having windblown hyphen patterns scattered across the surface. And while a few add more definition, they also resist the urge to see more deeply into them.

The artist's prints say more. Often layered like tissue or botanical cross sections, their cells of blues, magenta, orange and purple add to their dark mystery and give them added substance.

While unrelated, each phase of Miss Hazell-Rosen's work is thought out and consistent in itself. However, rare is the artist who can manage to work equal magic through several media.



FACES AND FIGURES — The most exciting aspect of Maggie Hazell-Rosen's one-woman show in San Rafael is her spontaneous series of drawings of the human face and form. (Independent-Journal photo)

Usually, there is one in which he seems most at ease and in which he most completely loses and expresses himself. In Miss Hazell-Rosen's case that magic is in her drawings and we only wish this show treated us more extensively to them.

'California 200' Display Hours Set

Visitors' hours for the "California 200" display at the Marin Civic Center in conjunction with the annual Sunnyhills Grape Festival, were announced yesterday by the state Department of Parks and Recreation.

The state trailer will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. tomorrow through Oct. 6, with displays of California history, recreation areas and natural attractions.

Former Manager Is Arraigned

James W. Ramsay, 27, former night manager for the Deck House Restaurant in Sausalito, has been arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of embezzling from his employer.

He is to return to court Oct. 13 to enter a plea.

The owner of the restaurant, Robert R. Cranston, told police that he discovered $725 missing from the cash register and that when he called Ramsay, he admitted taking it but said Cranston owed it to him.

Charges of embezzlement and grand theft against Ramsay were filed Monday by the district attorney's office.

POOLSIDE AT CAMP — Students from Marin Luther King School at Sausalito enjoy the heated pool at the Marin County schools' outdoor education camp in San Mateo County. Youngsters don't like it when they lose swimming privileges because of poor behavior.

Children Enjoy Outdoor Study

By C. P. McCARTHY

LOMA MAR—There was one charge of mistreatment yesterday at the Marin County school's outdoor education camp here in San Mateo County.

A Martin Luther King School student wanted it "put in the newspaper" that he was being mistreated.

The boy had been tossed out of a science class because he was fooling around and he was not allowed to swim in the afternoon.

He claimed that Ernest White, camp director, was "mean to little boys" and he charged that his Martin Luther King teacher, who imposed the no swimming penalty, had a "monkey face."

Both student and teacher were white and there was no chance of race entering the picture.

Prior to the arrival of 78 Martin Luther King students, at the camp Monday, there had been charges that black students from Marin City had been mistreated at the camp in 1968.

The only complaint students could come up with on the third day of the five-day visit was one common to school children everywhere: too much like school.

"I thought we came here to get away from school," said one youngster. "It seems we just get more of it."

Another youngster disagreed, however, saying "It's not like regular school. You don't have to learn math."

The education theme of the camp this year is "Spaceship Earth." White explained that the aim was to get the students to look at earth as a self-contained ecological system. From there, the view could be broken down into smaller ecological systems such as the redwood forest in which 101-acre Redwood Glen Camp is nestled.

Subject matter included marine biology, identification of plant life, weather and atmosphere, with the forest and ocean beach serving as classrooms.

Other than the young man who lost his swimming privileges yesterday, students said they were enjoying the camp and claimed they were learning.

King teachers and three Marin City residents, who volunteered to accompany the students after the mistreatment charges were aired two weeks ago, agreed they had seen nothing to substantiate the charges.

The camp is leased by the county schools office from the Baptist Church. White said that in addition to the Sausalito, San Rafael and Mill Valley school districts, non-Marin districts, such as San Francisco, contract with Marin County schools office to send youngsters to the camp.

The students sleep in cabins, each with indoor toilet facilities, scattered along a hillside. Meals are served in a large modern dining room hall overlooking the swimming pool.

The young people assist with KP, which White said stood for kitchen privilege, and each table, seating eight, has one youngster designated "host" and another designated "hopper."

The host's primary responsibility is to tell the hopper to get more food for the table.

Yesterday, the students at White's table made him hopper. Following lunch, he told the whole group that because he was made to hop they were all going to be punished by having to go swimming at 3 p.m instead of at 3:30.

The punishment was greeted with cheers.

Court Fines Skinnydippers

Nude swimming cases kept the West Marin Judicial District Court busy yesterday.

One of four Berkeley residents, John Sekorn, was cited by Stinson Beach State Park rangers for allegedly swimming in the nude Sept. 23. He was found guilty by Judge David R. Baty, fined $35 and placed on 30 days' probation.

His three companions, Carol S. Woodworth, William Patterson and James Hare, are to appear in Marin Municipal Court at a date still to be set, according to court clerk Stella Phillipscheck.

Cathy McEver, 22, of Shrewsbury, N.J., and Steven Goldstein, 25, of Akron, Ohio, pleaded no contest to a citation issued Sept. 25 at the park. Judge Baty fined each $35 and ordered 60 days probation.

Anthony deMarco, 27, of San Francisco, was transferred to Marin Municipal Court on a citation issued Sept. 20 at the park.

Brian Zingler, 31, of San Francisco, also cited Sept. 20, pleaded innocent and will stand trial Oct. 7 in the West Marin court.

Civic Council Asks For Land Lease Policy

Marin Munciipal Water District should announce its policy on the leasing of its watershed lands to groups like hunting clubs and the Meadow Club.

This was the consensus reached last night at a meeting of the Marin Council for Civic Affairs at the Civic Center.

Chairman George Ellman said he will draft a letter to the water district, asking for a policy on water district land leases, how rentals are set, and whether rates are different for groups like the Girl Scouts as opposed to private organizations like gun clubs.

Among lessees of water district land are the Redwood Gun Club, which leases 850 acres near White's Hill for $350 per year, and Big Trees Camp Hunting Club, which leases 5,000 acres near Kent Lake for $625 per year.

Eugene A. Miller, newly elected member of the water district board, spoke to the council last night, explaining the $11.5 million bond issue which the water district wants approved on Nov. 3. The money would be used to make improvements and replace old lines.

The council for civic affairs endorsed the bond issue.

Next meeting of the council will be held at 8 p.m. Oct. 28 at the civic center.

Lions To Hold White Cane Days

The Lions Club Annual White Cane Days will be observed in Petaluma tomorrow and Saturday.

Members of the Adobe Lions Club will be collecting on the east side of Petaluma while the Petaluma Lions Club will collect in the downtown area assisted by youngsters from the Shamrock 4-H Club who rear dogs for Marin County's Guide Dogs for the Blind.

Contributions last year permitted five blind youngsters to attend the Enchanted Hills Camp in Napa County.

Youth Asked To 'Turn On' To Politics

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Peter H. Behr of Mill Valley, Republican nominee for state Senate, yesterday challenged student leaders to "turn off" violence and unlawful dissent and "turn on to the power and proven promise of the political system.

"It isn't that politics has been tried and found wanting," Behr said, "It's simply that politics hasn't been tried."

Behr addressed a gathering of more than 500 high school editors and student body leaders from schools throughout the Bay Area. The meeting, at the Mark Hopkins Hotel, was sponsored by two San Francisco radio stations.

Behr insisted that the way to get across changes within the system was through "positive and persistent participation in the established political processes."

He cited his own experience with the Save Our Seashore campaign as evidence of citizens' political power. "The President listened and acted when we presented him with over 500,000 signatures on behalf of the Point Reyes Seashore," Behr said.

"Your legislators and your executive officers will always respond to a show of voter strength, presented to them in a positive, orderly manner. The secret," Behr said, "is to have the perseverance to mount an entire campaign, not just a single event."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Aspergillus Flavus Is Fungal Growth Which Forms On Peanuts

Van Dellen

Harmless microorganisms are added to many foods to make them more palatable or less resistant to spoilage. Cheese from milk is a good example. Other microbes in food may have an adverse effect upon health ranging from a mild diarrhea to death. As a rule, common molds and yeasts are not associated with food-borne diseases. There are, however, exceptions.

Aspergillus flavus is a mold that forms on peanuts, Brazil nuts, pecans, corn and cottonseed due to current storage and distribution practices. These fungi form aflatoxin, a carcinogenic substance capable of producing liver tumors in animals. In England in 1960, 1,000,000 turkeys died from a mysterious disease that later proved to have been caused by moldy peanuts containing aflatoxins.

THE TOXICITY of aflatoxins varies considerably in different animals. We know that the poison affects the liver and, we suspect, but have no proof, that it produces liver cancer in man. Our Food and Drug Administration and the Department of Agriculture are taking no chances. These bureaus keep a watchful eye on peanut processors and apply certain restrictions whenever this mold is seen on peanuts or a positive test for aflatoxins is obtained. Through the Peanut Marketing Agreement, the consumer is protected.

According to Reo E. Duggan of the FDA, the hazard is not confined to the direct consumption of foods that contain aflatoxins. The poison may be carried over into the tissues and milk of animals and passed along in foods.

AT PRESENT, prevention of the mold is difficult because peanuts are continually exposed to conditions conducive to fungal growth. The government's program is aimed at the early detection of contaminated lots before they are mixed and diluted with other lots.

SPRAYED GRAPES

A. K. writes: Are grapes sprayed with a solution that causes cancer?

REPLY

Many chemicals are carcinogenic, in that they are capable of causing cancer in mice or rats, when rubbed into the skin. I doubt if the same effect would occur in humans from eating fruits that have been sprayed, because insecticides are removed by washing the fruit. In some instances, the FDA forbids spraying of foods days or weeks before they are harvested.

CATARACT AND AGE

Mr. T. writes: I am 74 years old and have had a cataract for five years. People tell me I'm too old to have it removed. I would like to know about this as I'm getting one in the other eye.

REPLY

There is no age limit for this operation, provided you are basically healthy, and do not have other eye defects that contribute to blindness.

POISONOUS MUSHROOMS

P. N. writes: Does eating poisonous mushrooms lead to vomiting?

REPLY

Yes, and the upchucking may be violent and excessive. The outcome depends upon the types of mushrooms ingested. In some instance the mortality rate goes as high as 50 per cent.

SURGERY DURING PREGNANCY

S. P. wirtes: Is it safe for a pregnant woman to have her varicose veins stripped?

REPLY

Yes, but operations of these types usually are done after the baby is born.

$462 Million For Texas Roads

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — More than $462 million was spent on construction of highways and bridges in Texas during 1969. The total figures out to about $66 for each of the more than 7 million vehicles registered in the state. In addition to the construction costs, more than $80 million was spent on maintenance.

THE PUBLIC PAYROLL

Salary Schedules For Marin's Fire Districts

Salaries of public employees have been the subject of strong debate this year in budget sessions throughout Marin, at meetings of the board of supervisors, at meetings of city councils and of school district and special district boards.

Employees and their representatives, pleading for large pay increases, cited the rising cost of living and often argued that more money was paid in other counties, cities or districts for similar work.

Few employees got as much as they requested. Most local agencies granted more than they were willing at the outset.

The 1970-71 payrolls of all local agencies in Marin as of the start of the new fiscal year, July 1, are being published by the Independent-Journal during the next few weeks as a complete accounting of what is now paid public employees and as a basis of comparison from agency to agency.

Rainmakers take note: if there's any rain this month in Marin, it will be your doing. The 30-day forecast, based on information supplied by the U.S. Weather Bureau, calls for temperatures above normal and precipitation below normal. Last October San Rafael registered 4.73 inches of rain — all of it coming on or after the 15th of the month. On that day, a 3.43-inch rain fell. Daytime temperatures averaged 74.6 degrees with overnight lows averaging 49.8 degrees.

Military Team Probe Charges 14 Air Cadets Smoking Pot

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (UPI)—Military investigators are probing charges that 14 cadets at the Air Force Academy have been experimenting with drugs such as marijuana and LSD, school spokesmen said Wednesday.

Col. James F. Sunderman, director of information, said the investigation was being carried out by regular Air Force officials assigned to the school.

"There is no academy-wide investigation of drug abuse underway or planned," Sunderman said. He said the investigation stems from "reports brought to light last week through the cadet chain of command."

The colonel noted that the investigation involved only 14 of the academy's 4,100 students.

Sixteen cadets have been dismissed for possession of marijuana since 1955 when the acaedmy opened.

Art Forger Sells, Copies, Own Work

NEW YORK (UPI)—Works by David Stein, a "master art forger" who has turned honest, went on sale Wednesday.

Stein claimed that he sold more than $1 million of fake paintings while working as an art dealer here. His imitations of Picasso, Matisse, Chagall, Braque and Miro that are on sale with his own signature were painted in a French prison where he is serving a term for counterfeiting paintings.

The sale began despite the objections of state Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz that Stein's name could be removed and the pictures sold as originals.

But Justice Arnold L. Fein ruled Stein had a right to sell his works, regardless of his past criminal acts.

Developer Buys MGM Studio Lot

CULVER CITY, Calif. (UPI) —The 68-acre backlot of Metro-Goldwyn Mayer Studio, where scores of motion pictures ranging from grade B westerns to million dollar extravaganzas were filmed, was sold Wednesday for $7.25 million.

The property was purchased by Levitt and Sons and will be developed into a $60 million apartment house complex.

Earlier this year, the studio auctioned off costumes and props from 3,000 films. James T. Aubrey Jr., MGM president, said the sale "will not hinder future movie making." He said that it was to divest MGM of real estate and other assets not essential to production.

Policeman Slain Without Warning

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — A 27-year-old patrolman on the police force's Canine Corps was shot to death about midnight Wednesday when one of two men he stopped to question raised a shotgun to his neck and fired it, police said.

Jomn Burke, a two-year veteran of the force, was shot without warning at point blank range, police said.

TV REVIEW

KQED 'Mix' Is Innovation In Television

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—As all visitors know, even a temporary trip to San Francisco is good for the soul. So perhaps it is only logical that the handsome city by the bay should produce a television series celebrating life in the notably disheveled year of 1970.

The name of the program is "The San Francisco Mix." In brief, it is an hour electronic montage of human experiences we all share — each week exploring, individually, such subjects as worshipping, eating, courting, dying, playing and dressing—and so on for half a year.

And it will have its debut next week, coast to coast, on about 190 stations of the noncommercial Public Broadcast Service network.

Originating the show will be San Francisco's KQED, regarded in the industry as one of the nation's most exciting, innovative and "with-it" video stations. Among its achievements is the nationally famous "Newsroom" program, a local nightly offering of informal, indepth and frequently critical reportage in which a corps of astute newsmen discuss the day's events, city-room style, in a most human manner.

As it happens, the general manager of KQED, Richard Moore, is also executive proucer of "The San Francisco Mix," which he says is a try "to uncover what we share in common as members of the human family.

"Television," he notes, "has developed the problem-oriented program to a high degree, so much so that we tend to see human beings not as human beings but as symbols for large abstractions such as the generation gap, hard hats versus hippies, rock versus classical music, doves versus hawks, etc. The 'Mix' will concentrate on the human being in his unikueness, rather than as representative of an idea or a broad scale problem."

Adds producer Zev Putterman: "Agnew's comment about the Eastern elite is right. There is a universe going on that we forget about. We must get to people who are not like us."

The premiere "MIX" broadcast deals with "joining—coming together." At its best, it has the tone of a sort of adult "Sesame Street"—a primer on life-styles for post-schoolers, complete with four amusing people who offer definitions of key words we really ought to know the meaning of. There is splendidly hip photography, music and animation.

The whole approach is cool in the best modern sense, and the result is quite a good show. It has flaws—such as a blood-bank sequence with a too-obvious point and unclear execution. But it is the potential of the series that registers most. We see, for instance, a charming impromptu sequence in which a Chinese-American and a bearded fellow discuss their different faical features. We watch exuberant gospel singing at a black church, and visit a county fair, and see Chinatown.

But above all—whether we are watching a middleaged couple dance in a ballroom, or see an angry street film, or a pair of classical pianists—we sense a simple, all-embracing affection and compassion for the human condition, no matter how trivial or absurd or extreme. And that is what the "Mix" is really trying to be all about.

In its better moments, the show is wholly impressionistic video. And, says Mr. Moore: "What we are beginning to learn is, that what communicates on television is not data nor analysis, not packages of facts or numbers, but gesture, tone, rhythm, symbol, temperature. And just as green fields sell cigarettes and a frozen face can lose an election—at least until it is coached into a semblance of mobility—this ammunition of communication can be put to proper human uses . . .

"We have talked too long about our intentions and not enough about that transactional event that occurs between the viewer and his set."

Film Festival Slated For Fine Arts Palace

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Palace of Fine Arts and Sciences, built for a 1915 fair and reconstructed at a cost of $7 million, will be the setting for the 14th annual San Francisco International Film Festival.

Claude Jarman, the festival's executive director who announced the Oct. 21 through Nov. 1 schedule Wednesday, said the move would mean a "reshuffling" of finances.

Last year the festival was held in the Masonic Auditorium atop Nob Hill, which seats 2,300 compared to the Palace's 1,000 seats.

Many of the faces on the program will be familier—actor Paul Newman, actress Rosalind Russell and filmmakers Francois Truffaut, Satyajit Ray and Luis Bunuel.

Jarman and program director Albert Johnson said the 12 days of nearly non-stop movies would be highlighted by the afternoon "craft of cinema" series in which directors and performers appear personally and answer questions following a retrospective of their works.

Starting the 23 evening features will be the premiere of "The Great White Hope," based on Howard Sackler's Pulitzer Prize winning play about boxer Jack Johnson.

The last of the featured pictures will be Bunuel's "Tristana."

Other evening features include Truffaut's "The Wild Child;" Pier Paolo Pasolini's "Media," starring Maria Callas in a non-singing role; "Puzzle of a Downfall Child," starring Faye Dunaway; Claude Sautet's "The Things of Life," with Romy Schneider; Claude Chabrol's "Le Boucher;" "Bloomfield," directed by and starring Richard Harris; and Ray's "Days and Nights in the Forest."

Johnson said most are either "prize winning films from European festivals or films having their premieres here."

Stanford Students Warned: No Refunds

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—Registering students are being warned that if campus violence should close Stanford University, tuition and other payments won't be refunded.

In a booklet to all students, the school also declared this week it was doing "everything possible" to avoid such a closing.

U.S. Steel's Architect Is Picketed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The prestigious architectural firm of Skidmore, Owings and Merrill has been picketed by protestors angered over the firm's role in designing the 550-foot tall U.S. Steel complex proposed for the city waterfront.

The score of protestors Wednesday accused the firm of "architectural complicity in the destruction of the urban environment."

They handed out leaflets and silver-frosted heart-shaped cookies which they said symbolized the firm's "hearts of steel."

The protestors said they oppose the proposed complex because it "promises to rob San Francisco of one of its greatest amenities—visual and physical access to the waterfront."

Chuck Bassett, a partner in the firm and principal designer of the proposed structure, came down and had an extended friendly talk with the demonstrators.

"But I don't think anybody changed their opinions," Bassett said. "We have studied this thing very carefully and we are convinced we are giving the city a marvelous urban addition in an appropriate location."

Baby Girl Born To Natalie Wood

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Actress Natalie Wood has given birth to a baby girl, it was announced today by Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

A hospital spokesman said the child was born Tuesday and both mother and daughter are "doing fine."

Miss Wood is married to English actor-director Richard Gregson. It was her first child.

Fierce Rivalry Kicks Off Prep Grid League

By DAVID EINSTEIN

One of the fiercest if not the oldest of Marin County high school football rivalries will serve to kickoff the 1970 Marin County Athletic League season tomorrow afternoon when the Redwood Giants, who are low on veterans, host the Tamalpais Indians, who are low on players, at 4 o'clock in the first of three league games this weekend.

San Rafael hosts Novato tomorrow night, and on Saturday night, Terra Linda and Drake clash at San Rafael in what could be one of the most important games of the year. Both games start at 8 o'clock.

The first game of the MCAL season will be played tomorrow, not today as incorrectly reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

In other games involving Marin and Sonoma county teams, Petaluma opens the North Bay I League season at home against Vallejo tomorrow night at 8, and Saturday afternoon Marin Catholic hosts Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park, and San Rafael Military Academy entertains Ione, both games beginning at two o'clock.

The key to the Tam-Redwood game will be whether Tam Indian coach Mike Davlin can juggle his lineup enough to keep eight players from dropping dead from exhaustion. That's how many he'll have going both ways, because the Tam roster numbers only 28, two of whom are injured.

The Indians, who stomped Skyline of Oakland, 35-18 after losing their opener to Salesian of Richmond, 13-9, would be solid favorites but for the fact that they will be playing without the services of starting fullback Mark Costello and tackle Van Westerbeke. Both suffered knee injuries in the Skyline game and will miss at least two league games.

Davlin believes it will be a pretty even, low scoring game. "Their defense is unpredictable, you don't know what kind of formation they'll be in at any given time," he said.

The loss of Costello will especially hurt the Tam offense, in which he played a prominent role as inside runner and blocking back. "If we had him our chances would be a lot better," Davlin said.

The Indians' offense will center around the running of Clifford Hall and Bill Washington, a pair of speedburning halfbacks, but junior quarterback Pat Locey has shown he can throw when he has to. Last week he tossed two touchdown passes to another junior, split end Greg Biber.

Redwood has a problem of depth, too, but in experience rather than numbers. According to assistant coach Jess Payan, only four players on the starting offense and five on defense had ever started in a varsity game before this year.

Against Tam the Giants will go with the offense that gave them their only touchdown in two exhibition games — the passing of quarterback Bob Brown.

"We're really going to put the ball in the air," head coach Phil Roark said yesterday. "Brown's getting a little confidence in himself and in our front line."

The Giants lost to Sacred Heart of San Francisco, 7-0, and then to Encinal of Alameda, 15-7, but in the final quarter of that game Brown directed Redwood ona 63-yard touchdown march that culminated with a 12-yard screen pass to fullback Andy Anixter.

Roark reports that his entire club is healthy and that, "Our kids are really up for the game. We've had one of our best weeks of practice."

Anixter is completely recovered from a bruised knee that had been bothering him, and guards Gary Shunk and Steve Green have shaken off the bronchitis that kept them on the bench last week.

Roark, unlike Davlin, foresees a high scoring game, hopefully with his team getting most of the points.

A Banner Year For Al Murray

Allan B. Murray of San Rafael, president of the San Francisco Giants Boosters Club, has had quite a year.

First, he went to Japan without a visa to arrange the Boosters' spring training junket in the Orient. Allan — the tour leader — was detained three embarrassing days in Hong Kong.

Then, serving as an advance man for the club's trip to Cincinnati this summer, he somehow wound up in Savannah, Ga. by getting on the wrong plane.

ALLAN MURRAY

He is about to be sued by one prospective Booster who claims he defamed her character. She asked about "Niggers" in Murray's club and he said the only color barrier was a yellow streak down the spine, "... which leaves you out lady." He laughed: "How can she sue me for defamation of character when she has none."

"A law suit is the least of my worries," said Murray yesterday as he looked back on the 1970 season that saw his Boosters travel to such places as Japan, Phoenix, San Diego, Los Angeles, Atlanta, Cincinnati, New York and Montreal.

"This year we were snowed out (in Montreal), rained out (in Atlanta), kicked out (in Cincinnati where the Boosters tickets were lost), frozen out (in Japan) and pooped out in Atlanta where we spent nine hours during a doubleheader that was interrupted five times by rain).

Will Try For Blackout In 1971

"Next year," said Murray, "I'll see to it that we're blacked out. I'm going to schedule a night game at Chicago's Wrigley Field."

Murray, as tour leader, is subject to numerous requests by his flock, many of whom are in their advanced years. "The Boosters still lead the National League in canes, crutches and wheelchairs," said Murray.

One lady approached the sweltering Murray and gushed: "My Gawd, Allan, can't you do SOMETHING about this?"

"Well, let me think about it a few minutes," replied the leader who does many things but has not yet acquired Godlike powers.

Another eldery dowager, fretful of the wave of highjacks, asked Murray: "Allan, can you get us some winter schedules for Cuba?"

Murray himself got into two embarrassing jams this season. The first time was when he went to Japan and forgot a small item like a visa.

Strange Accents In Cincinnati

Then, en route to arrange the trip in Cincinnati, he debarked at Chicago for a quick drink during a brief layover, got back on the wrong plane and didn't realize it until he landed in Savannah, Ga., a far piece from Cincinnati.

"I didn't realize it until we landed and people started calling me 'ya' all' I thought, 'Gee, I didn't know people talked like that in Cincinnati.'"

All in all, it was an exciting and eventful year for the man who started the boosters club with 30 members in 1968 and now has 1,700 persons on the roster.

Perry To Hurl Finale

HOUSTON (UPI)—If things go right tonight, the San Francisco Giants can record their sixth straight second place finish in the National League.

The Giants, who will pitch 23-game winner Gaylord Perry against the Houston Astros, need a victory, coupled with a San Diego win over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

NO MAKE-UP

That would give San Francisco an 87-75 season-ending record, compared to 86-75 for Los Angeles. The National League office has ruled that the Dodgers will not make up a rainout against the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Giants failed to move up Wednesday night, losing to the Astros, 4-3, on a ninth inning single by Johnny Edwards which scored Denis Menke with the winning run.

The win extended Houston's winning streak to six straight and clinched fourth place in the NL West.

The Giants built up a 3-1 lead with single runs in the first, fifth and sixth, but Houston scored twice in the sixth to tie it up.

RUNS

Consecutive singles by Tito Fuentes, Willie Mays and Willie McCovey provided San Francisco with its first run. Bobby Bonds hit his 26th home run in the fifth and the Giants got their final run in the sixth on back-to-back doubles by Dick Dietz and Ken Henderson.

Don McMahon, who had entered in relief of starter Juan Marichal, took the loss, his fifth against nine wins.

Champs Say Marin Needs Public Handball Courts

By RALPH CHATOIAN

There are no public handball facilities in Marin County and if you talk to Stan Clawson or Frank Elias of San Rafael they'll be the first to tell you it's a crying shame.

And if they sound somewhat prejudiced it is only because they form Northern California's No. 1 Masters Division handball team.

In masters competition, one partner has to be over 45 and the other over 40. Clawson, who lives at 479 Blackstone Drive, is 46, and Elias, of 71 Coleman Drive, is 44. Both are members of the Central San Francisco YMCA and South End Rowing Club of San Francisco, and do their handball playing at both clubs.

"It's really a shame we don't have any handball courts in Marin County," said Clawson, owner of diamond Chemical Co., a San Francisco carpet and drapery cleaning business. "It's a good activity for young people for so many reasons."

"We sure need facilities in Marin," said Elias, an assistant regional director for Labor Management Service Administration in San Francisco. "Handball is growing so fast it is just amazing."

Clawson, father of three, has competed in tournament handball for 10 years and Elias, who has six children, for six. They have competed together in doubles for the past three years.

In addition to winning the Northern California masters title at San Jose this year, they were runners-up in the state championships at Hollywood and western regionals at San Francisco's Olympic Club. They finished third this year in the nationals at Los Angeles and were second last year.

They usually work out about three times a week, usually after work, for about one or two hours a crack.

"Right before a tournament we might increase it to four times a week," said Elias about practice. "That will get you just sharp enough for a tournament."

For Clawson, it was natural for him to get involved in handball for his father, Rennie, won the Utah State and Rocky Mountain titles 16 striaght years.

"He was unbeatable on his home court in Salt Lake," Clawson said. "He would take on national champions and beat them." By the age of 10, Stan was already playing handball. He and his family have been living in Marin County for the last 12 years.

Elias started playing handball to keep physically fit. Before long the native Californian was improving to the point of tournament play.

"Handball is a great sport," said Elias. "There is a lot of violent activity to keep you in shape and it doesn't take a great deal of time. Because of no nearby facilities, his six children, ranging in age from 10 to 18, play no handball, but do some track and cross-country running.

The two men point out there are two handball facilities in Marin County, both private. There's Hamilton Field's courts, open only to servicemen, and the courts at San Marin, open to residents and members.

"Marin County is very backward in sports facilities," Clawson complained. "Handball is the up and coming sport, even in colleges. They hope to get it in the Olympics in 1972. You would think a county such as this would have facilities for handball."

Someday, fellas, maybe someday.

Weaver Signs With Orioles

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Earl Weaver today signed his 1971 contract to manage the Baltimore Orioles for another season.

Harry Dalton, director of player personnel, said the pact contained a salary increase but he refused to divulge the terms.

It is the 16th contract as manager in the Orioles' organization for the 40-year-old skipper. In 15 years of piloting teams in the majors and minors, Weaver has guided his teams to first or second-place finishes 11 times.

POSSIBLE STRIKE

Umps Want More Pay

NEW YORK (UPI) — Major League umpires are hinting at the possibility of a strike before Saturday's opening games of the Championship Playoffs.

Augie Donatelli, a 20-year-veteran umpire in the National League, avoided the use of the word "serike" Wednesday and indicated, "we haven't made any statements to that effect, but you can read between the lines."

WANT RAISE

The basic issue is money. The umpires received $2,500 per man for covering playoffs last year and $6,500 for the World Series. They are asking $5,000 for playoffs and $10,000 for the series.

"We intend asking for $5,000 and $10,000", said Donatelli, a member of the National League Umpires Board of Directors. "We believe they owe us that much. We have always accepted their terms and we have always come up short. We intend to go a little further this time and we hope they're a little more generous."

Donatelli added that the leagues had offered umpires a raise for post-season work but called the offer, "inadequate."

CLOSED DOORS

The league presidents, Joe Cronin of the American and Charles "Chub" Feeney of the National held a three-hour closed door meeting at Shea Stadium Wednesday with baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and refused to comment on the situation.

"We did not hold the meeting to discuss the umpire problem," said Kuhn. "We met to go over general policies involving the playoffs and the World Series. The umpires' situation did come up at the meeting but I can't comment on that right now. It definitely is a problem but I just can't discuss it at the present time."

MEET FRIDAY

Donatelli said the umpires will mee twith their attorney, John Reynolds in Chicago Friday at the Umpires Annual Meeting. He said the umpires' demands would be made at that time.

"This is no threat to league officials," said Donatelli, "but we do believe we should get more money. The players get it and we're out there everyday too."

The anticipation of an umpiring problem apparently has been present for some time. It was learned Wednesday that several minor league umpires had been contacted by the leagues to act as strikebreakers in the event of a walkout Saturday.

Van Dillen And Ulrich Are Tennis Dropouts

BERKELEY (UPI) — Erik Van Dillen and Denmark's Torben Ulrich have withdrawn from the $32,000 Pacific Coast International Tennis Open but for different reasons.

Van Dillen, the promising youngster from San Mateo who turned pro recently, experienced a sharp pain in his side and defaulted to Clark Graebner on Wednesday.

Ulrich apparently was feeling the effects of the recent wave of warm weather and the sharp play of his opponent. Ulrich retired from his match with Tom Gorman of Seattle after dropping the first set 3-6.

BARRY OUT

All of the favorites advanced in impressive fashion with the exception of tournament chairman Barry McKay of Ross. He got by Bill Brown of Omaha 6-3, 4-6, 6-3 in the first round but then fell before Ray Ruffels of Australia 6-3, 7-6.

The tournament's top two seeds, Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., and Arthur Ashe, also advanced. Richey defeated South Africa's Ray Moore in straight 6-2 sets while Ashe ousted Haroon Rahim of Pakistan and UCLA 6-4, 6-2.

It was a long and fruitful day for Bob Lutz of Los Angeles. He downed Berkeley's Bob Alloo 7-5, 4-6, 6-2 in the opening round and came back a short while later to eliminate Australia's Terry Addison 7-6, 4-6, 6-3.

SELLOUT

Billie Jean King proved that interest in women's tennis is far from waning by disposing of Eliza Pande of Palo Alto 6-4, 6-3 before a sellout crowd of 1,100 at the Golden Gate Center in San Francisco. The day before about 200 fewer fans turned out to watsh Ashe win his first match.

Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, the second-seeded woman, downed Esme Emanuel of South Africa 6-2, 6-3. In a match continued from Tuesday, San Francisco's Marcelyn Louie defeated Kristy Pigeon of Danville 7-6, 6-7, 6-4.

Other U.S. Davis Cup players who advanced were Stan Smith of Pasadena and Charles Pasarell of Stanford. Smith turned back Patricio Cornejo of

Reds, Orioles Are Favored

By U. P. International

STATELINE, Nev. — The Cincinnati Reds and Baltimore Orioles have been installed as favorites for the baseball playoffs this weekend.

Harrah's Tahoe Racebook listed the Reds as 10-13 favorites to beat Pittsburgh in the National League playoff and the Orioles 2-3 over Minnesota in the American League.

In other baseball news:

SAN DIEGO — Cuban born Preston Gomez, 47, will return as manager of the San Diego Padres next season with the same coaching staff, the club announced Wednesday.

"I'm pleased to be back," Gomez said. "I've been reading how many times I've been fired."

General manager Eddie Leishman said, "There was no point this season when Gomez job was in jeopardy."

Terms of Gomez' one-year contract were not disclosed.

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Cardinals rounded out their 1971 coaching staff Wednesday by naming Ken Boyer hitting coach and Barney Schultz pitching coach. The two will replace Dick Sisler and Billy Muffett, whose contracts were not renewed.

Boyer, who spent 15 years in the majors, managed the Cardinals' AA Arkansas farm club to second place in the Texas League this year.

Football

MIAMI — In a surprise move announced Wednesday at a hastily called news conference, Charlie Tate resigned as head football coach and athletic director of the University of Miami.

Tate, gravel-voiced mentor of the Hurricanes for the past six seasons, said that he had regretfully determined to resign "after very careful and soul searching consideration."

There was some speculation that dissatisfaction among influential alumni with Tate's performance may have played a part in the colorful coach's resignation.

Boxing

SAN FRANCISCO — Promising local middleweight Nate Collins signed Wednesday for his biggest fight against former champion Emile Griffith at the Cow Palace Nov. 10. Collins, winner of his last seven fights, was overjoyed at the chance to fight Griffith, listed as the No. 1 contender to world middleweight champion Nino Benvenuti.

Tennis

VANCOUVER, B.C. — Roy Emerson, an Australian tennis player who now makes his home in Newport Beach, Calif., had to rely heavily on his many years of experience Wednesday to hold off up-and-coming Nicki Pilic of Yugoslavia in the $40,000 Rothman's International Indoor Championship.

Emerson, who was seeded fourth, outlasted his unseeded opponent in the two-hour marathon to emerge the victor by a 7-6, 1-6, 6-4, tally.

Golf

WILMINGTON, N.C. — Defending champion Dale Douglass is depending on some copper to help iron out his game during the Azalea Open golf tournament today. He will be wearing a copper bracelet to ward off a pain he used to have in his wrist.

"I had wrist trouble before I started wearing the bracelet, but since I started wearing it March 5, I haven't had any trouble with my wrist at all," said Douglas, who won the 1969 Azalea tournament with a 72-hole score of 275.

GOTEBORG, Sweden — Jean Geraiald of France shot a four-under-par 67 Wednesday to take the lead in the $40,000 Volvo Open golf tournament.

American Jack Nicklaus and Belgium's Donald Swaelans went around the 6,476-yard Delsjoe course in 68 to tie for second after the first round of the 72-hole tournament.

MADRID — French women golfers set out today to consolidate their first day four-stroke lead over the United States in the women's World Amateur golf championships. The French girls confidently strode into the lead with two under par scores and a third one-over-par round.

49ers' Depth Will Get Stiff Test

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Depth of the San Francisco 49ers could be put to a big test against the Falcons at Atlanta on Sunday.

At the moment, starters Charlie Krueger, Dick Witcher and Doug Cunningham are ailing but Sam Silas, rookies John Isenbarger and Preston Riley and Jimmy Thomas are standing in the wings.

Krueger, veteran defensive lineman, was hospitalized the first three days of this week and kept in traction to cure a muscle spasm. But Krueger figures a couple of days work will get him back in shape for the Falcons. If not, Silas will fill in.

Isenbarger was switched from running back to wide receiver to help out Riley who will fill in for Witcher. He suffered a shoulder separation in last week's win over Cleveland and will be out at least two weeks.

Cunningham will share one of the running back spots with Thomas after being slowed with bruises against the Browns.

But the 49ers should be in fairly good shape because Silas, Isenbarger, Riley and Thomas saw a great deal of action in the exhibition season.

'Rinky Dink' Titles On Line

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

If, as the late Vince Lombardi said, second place is rinky dink, then both East and West rinky dink championships of the National League will be at stake tonight.

The New York Mets and Chicago Cubs, who had hoped to be battling it out for the East Division championship, meet with "only" second place at stake in tonight's final game of the regular season. Rinky Dink or not, second place is still worth approximately $1,200 a player . . .enough to pay the fuel bills through a long, cold winter.

Runner-up honors in the West will also be decided tonight when the Los Angeles Dodgers play at San Diego and the San Francisco Giants visit Houston. The Dodgers currently hold a half game lead over the Giants and will finish either a half game ahead or a half game behind since they will play one less game than San Froncisco. The unusual circumstance came about in August when a Dodger game in Philadelphia was rained out and never rescheduled since it would have no effect on firstp lace in either division.

The seven-hit shutout pitching of Bill Hands gave the Cubs a 2-0 victory over the Mets Wednesday and enabled Chicago to draw even with New York with identical records of 83-78. The Dodgers retained their half game lead for second place in the West despite dropping a 2-1 decision to San Diego since the Giants lost to Houston 4-3. In the only other NL games, Montreal beat Philadelphia 5-4 and St. Louis edged Pittsburgh 4-3. Atlanta and Cincinnati were idle.

In the American League, New York nipped Boston 4-3, Baltimore downed Washington 6-2, Minnesota beat Kansas City 6-4, Detroit shaded Cleveland 4-3, Milwaukee downed Oakland 4-1 and California tripped Chicago 5-1.

Novatan Loses At Senior Tennis

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)— Carl Bush of Downey, Calif., defeated Stephen Graves of Novato, 6-2, 2-6, 6-1 Wednesday to win the 70-over title at the National Seniors Hard Court tennis Championships.

He then teamed with Frank Roberts of Towsan, Md., to score a 6-1, 6-4 victory over the Pasadena, Calif., duo of Walter Westbrook and Edward Melvin in the 70-over doubles finals.

Kenneth Beer of Hillsborough, Calif., took the 65-69 crown with a 6-1, 4-6, 6-3 win over Ron Brandon of Anaheim, Calif.

In the 65-69 doubles finals, Marion Hawks of El Segundo, Calif., and Westbrook teamed to beat Wyn Morris of Henrietta, Okla., and Beer 6-4, 6-4.

Raiders Rated Slim Choice Over Miami

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Oakland Raiders' high hopes for winning the National Football League's American Conference title looked a little dimmer Wednesday when they were made only a 3½-point favorite over the iMami Dolphins for Saturday's game.

Oakland opened the season with a loss to Cincinnati and then was tied by San Diego last week, and the oddsmakers remember that Miami gave the Raiders fits last year. Miami tied Oakland in their first meeting and then lost in the final minute on George Blanda's field goal in the second game.

The Pittsburgh Steelers' game with the Browns at Cleveland was the only other Saturday game, and no line was offered on it.

In professional games Sunday, the New York Jets were 14 points over the Buffalo Bills, the Houston Oilers four over the Cincinnati Bengals, the Washington Redskins 6½ over the Philadelphia Eagles, the Atlanta Falcons two over the San Francisco 49ers, the Dallas Cowboys four over the St. Louis Cardinals, the New Orleans Saints one over the New York Giants, the Minnesota Vikings eight over the Green Bay Packers and the Los Angeles Rams 12 over the San Diego Chargers.

There was no line offered on the Baltimore Colts' game against the Patriots at Boston and the Kansas City Chiefs' contest against the Broncos at Denver.

In Monday night's television game, the Detroit Lions were listed as an 11-point choice over the Chicago Bears. It is one of only four games where the home team is favored. The other home favorites are Atlanta, New Orleans and Los Angeles.

Amusing Anecdotes From An Old Coach

HOUSTON — It was a typical Touchdown Club luncheon with Bo Hagan, Rice's football coach, detailing logical reasons why the Owls are looking at California's Golden Bears with new found respect.

Hagan said he didn't have to give his Owls any pep talk for Saturday's session with the Bears. "They already have noted that Cal handled Indiana last week (56-14) like Texas handled them (56-15) the week before," said Hagan.

AND HAGAN also recalled that a week earlier Indiana lost a close one (16-9) to Colorado. "Everybody knows what the Buffs did to Penn State on TV last Saturday," said Hagan.

It was a succinct summation of the obvious and Hagan, knowing there was a featured speaker on the program, sat down. Houston's Touchdown Club members were grateful to Hagan for being brief. They pushed their chairs back and relaxed as Frank Howard strode to the rostrum.

HOWARD, NOW retired as Clemson's winningest football coach, never is at a loss for words or an anecdote. His first one was aimed at himself.

"A friend," he said, "once told me I shouldn't say 'ain't' as much as I do. So I went to the head of Clemson's English department. He asked me how many speeches I made a year and I told him about 2,000. He told me to keep talking any way I want because he had 65 English professors under him and they all were so concerned with grammar that between them they made about two speeches a year."

HAVING RIBBED himself, Howard then ribbed Baptists ("I hear they are adopting a more liberal attitude — two of them talked to each other in a liquor store the other day"); politicians ("Ted Kennedy now is in charge of a driver education program"); and, of course, Bear Bryant of Alabama.

"Bear's got a good thing going for him," said Howard. "They tutored him for two years to get him in school and now they can't get him out.

"He's in so good that he can hire a new president for the school and give him a one year, make good contract.

"I retired myself after 30 years at Clemson but it looks like Bear is at Alabama forever."

HOWARD SAID one trend in football never will disappear — "it's always seemed to me that those dumb boys run a little harder and a little faster than those smart guys."

He recalled one player he had who loved pizzas — "he wasn't very smart but he knew he liked pizzas. One night he went into a cafe and instead of ordering the three or four he was capable of eating, he ordered only one.

"The waiter asked him if he wanted it sliced into four or six pieces and the kid replied 'I don't think I can eat six."

AS ALWAYS, Howard closed on a serious note.

"Folks," he said, "you better keep supporting your favorite college football team or we're in serious trouble. To my knowledge, that's the last place where discipline is left. If we lose it there, it's gone forever."

Brodie Is Top Passer

NEW YORK (UPI)—John Brodie might be the man who can make a miracle this season for the San Francisco 49ers.

Brodie unloaded a 61-yard touchdown pass to Jimmy Thomas last week to beat Cleveland 34-31 and give San Francisco a 2-0 record in the National Football League's National Conference. In the game, he hit nine different receivers with 20 of 31 passes for 277 yards and three TDs and wound up at the top of the National Conference passing statistics.

37 OF 52

Replacing Los Angeles' Roman Gabriel at the top of the statistics, Brodie has 37 completions in 52 tries for 455 yards and four TDs. Gabriel is second with 31 completions in 54 tries for 387 yards and three touchdowns, and Bill Munson of Detroit is third, hitting on 20 of 33 for 200 yards and two touchdowns.

Larry Brown leads conference rushers for the Washington Redskins with 23 tries for 188 yards and two TDS, followed by MacArthur Lane of St. Louis with 35 carries for 177 yards and Dallas' Calvin Hill with 177 yards on 41 runs.

Ron Johnson of the New York Giants continues to lead receivers with 14 catches for 133 yards

SCORERS

Mel Farr with four touchdowns for 24 points and kicking specialist Errol Mann with 24 points on nine extra points and five of seven field goal tries have provided the punch for the surprising Detroit Lions to share the scoring lead.

Hour Of Decision For A's Finley

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland Athletics are on the brink of their best season in four decades but the feeling of security is hardly infectious.

A victory over the Milwaukee Brewers tonight would give Oakland its 89th victory of the season which is a plateau last reached in 1932 during the Connie Mack era in Philadelphia. That year the Athletics also finished second.

Owner Charles O. Finley is due in Oakland tonight to watch lefthander Vida Blue (2-0) wind up the 1970 season against Marty Pattin (14-12) of the Brewers. In his last appearance at the Oakland Coliseum, the hard-throwing Blue hurled a no-hitter at the Minnesota Twins who are 9 1-2 games ahead of the A's atop the American League West.

But Finley arrives amid an aura of rumor, wild speculation and downright unhappiness among several members of the A's.

The majority of the players feel manager John McNamara has done an excellent job this season and they would like to see him return. But this would seem to go against the executive grain of Finley who has had nearly a different manager every year since he bought the club in 1961.

Finley said he wouldn't make a decision on McNamara until the end of the season and that hour has arrived.

"All I know is what I read in the newspapers," McNamara repeated after Milwaukee defeated the A's 4-1 Wednesday night behind the pitching of Skip Lockwood and Ken Sanders, two former Athletic farmhands.

Reggie Jackson, the A's young slugging outfielder who had an off-year in 1970, seemed to capsule the situation when he commented:

"Nothing that happens in this organization surprises me. Nothing."

Vikes Trying To Get Mira From Eagles

ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — George Mira, former San Francisco 49er quarterback most recently owned by the Philadelphia team, may join the Minnesota Vikings if he can solve his contract problems with the Eagles.

Vikings Manager Jim Finks said Wednesday the Vikings were interested in Mira and had been in contact with him and his attorney for about two weeks over the telephone.

Mira reportedly had a two-year, no-cut contract for $50,000 with Philadelphia and although a team picking him up would not have to honor it, Philadelphia would have to pay the difference between it and any new salary he would receive.

The Vikings would plan to use him as a backup to Gary Cuozzo if he signs. The Vikings have no experienced man behind Cuozzo since Joe Kapp refused to sign his 1970 contract.

Gurney Hints Retirement

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI)— Dan Gurney, regarded as America's No. 1 road racer, may end his driving career in Sunday's Trans-Am sedan event here.

"I won't say this will be my last race but then again I have no plans for any others at the moment," the Southern California veteran said.

Gurney will pilot a Plymouth Barracuda in the Mission Bell 200 at the Riverside International Raceway.

COLLEGE NOTES

Marin Gridders Go To Paradise

College of Marin Tars' one consolation in their 29-7 loss to College of the Redwoods last week was that they didn't have to go to Eureka, home of the Corsairs, to get beaten. The game was played at Kentfield.

That advantage may be nullified this week when the Black and Gold journey nearly 200 miles to Paradise, Calif., for a game Saturday night against Butte College.

"We have a good chance this week," Tar coach Dick Read said yesterday, noting that Butte, like Marin, has suffered two straight losses.

The brightest spot in the Marin lineup is safety John Dohn, who intercepted three passes against College of the Redwoods. He now has nine thefts in his two year career, and with seven games left on the 1970 schedule, seems a good bet to erase Karl Stein's school record of 15.

MARIN'S CROSS COUNTRY team had the home course advantage it enjoyed last Sunday in defeating Laney and San Joaquin junior colleges when the Tars hosted Santa Rosa Junior College this afternoon. The last time Marin was beaten in the hills of Tamalpais was in 1968.

"We don't lose many meets up there," coach Tony Bailey said yesterday. "If our fellows run as well as they can, we should win it."

The Tar runners have been plagued by strange happenings lately, and hopefully things will go smoothly today. Last week, Sean O'Reilly lost his shoe in the ocean during a beach run at San Mateo.

Sunday something stranger occurred. Minutes before the race was to start, Marin runner Jay Neuhaus had to withdraw from the competition since, as a volunteer fireman, he had to answer an alarm siren that was blaring down in Kentfield.

MARIN'S WATER POLO team slugged it out with Diablo Valley Junior College on Tuesday, and the Tars lost, 11-7 at Kentfield. "They killed us in the second quarter, when they scored five times to our once," coach Bob Justice said.

Overall, however, Justice said he was pleased with the way the Marin boys played, especially since it was their first game of the season.

Technical Knockout For Ex-Champ Moyer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)— Denny Moyer, 158, Portland, Ore., scored a fifth round technical knockout over Jesse Armenta, 165, Hermosillo, Mexico, in a scheduled 10-round fight Wednesday night.

Moyer, former world junior middleweight champion, opened up cuts over and below his opponent's right eye and also had him bleeding slightly from the nose.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE
By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Ever since you started to play bridge you've heard people advising one another to play "second hand low." That is, if declarer leads a card from his own hand or from the dummy, it is usually right to play low if you are next to act. It's all very correct, but you can get some attention if you clip out today's hand and show it the next time somebody sounds off about second hand low.

HEART LEAD

Declarer won the first trick in dummy with the ace of hearts and led a spade for a finesse. West won with the king of spades and continued the hearts, forcing South to ruff.

Now South was in trouble. If he drew trumps he would have only one trump left. And if he then led a diamond to drive out the king, back would come a heart to remove declarer's last trump. Whenever South next led diamonds, West would take the ace of diamonds and two good hearts.

South saw the problem when he ruffed the second heart. Instead of making his problem obvious to the defenders, South led a club to dummy's king and returned a low diamond from dummy.

FOLLOWS RULE

East followed the old rule, playing a low diamond in second position. A brilliant West might have refused the trick, but West actually took the kueen of diamonds with the ace. West then led a third heart, forcing South to ruff again.

South drew trumps, using up all of his trumps in the process, and then led diamonds, driving out the king. But now East was out of hearts. No matter what East returned, South could take the rest with high clubs and diamonds.

East should defeat the contract by stepping up with the king if diamonds when the suit is first led from dummy. East wins and can lead his third heart, forcing South to ruff for the second time. South may draw trumps and lead the diamonds, but West gets in with the ace of diamons to cash his last two hearts.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Crime Protection Is A Growing Field

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am interested in investing in the crime protection industry. Would you comment on Baker Industries and name others in the field? B.W.

A. More and more, people are turning to private enterprise for public services. Crime protection is one phase of this accelerating trend; and business is booming for most companies in this field. It is estimated that private crime fighters took in more than $3 billion last year, nearly double the 1963 figure. One company president estimates that the market is growing at about 10 per cent annually. In fact, about the only "industry" growing faster is crime itself.

While much of the growth in the industry involves such traditional methods as uniformed guard services, the surge in security needs has nurtured dozens of ingenious new devices. Realizing the demand, Baker Industries, a long-established maker of fire-fighting chemicals and detection systems, has been stressing the service end of its protective security business since 1965. The company has acquried several firms which provide fire and burglary alarm surveillance plus several guard service companies.

The Wells Fargo Services Group, which accounted for 77.6 per cent of last year's revenues, offers services such as armored car pick-up and delivery of bank deposits and inter-bank deliveries of cash and securities, etc. Largely as a result of numerous acquisitions, revenues and earnings increased at compound annual rates of 47 per cent and 26 per cent respectively, over the past 4 years. However, because Baker generally uses its common stock for purchasing these firms, near-term earnings growth may be slowed due to the currently depressed price of Baker stock. Excluding any new acquisitions, it is estimated that Baker's profits should improve an average of 8 per cent yearly over the long term.

Although there are hundreds of small, privately owned companies in the field, there are far fewer publicly held firms. Some with varying stakes in crime prevention include: American District Telegraph, Bangor-Punta, Breeze Corp., Wm. J. Burns, Walter Kidde, Pinkerton's and Wackenhut Corp.

Market Close Shows Weak Trading Day

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market finished on a weak note Thursday, with demand restrained by the absence of Jewish traders observing the Rosh Hashonah holiday.

Turnover slowed to around 9,500,000 shares from 14,830,000 shares Wednesday.

Shortly before the final bell, the Dow Jones industrial average was off 1.23 at 759.45. Of the 1,555 issues crossing the tape, 673 declined and 596 gained.

Closing stocks included: AT&T 44 3-4 off 1-2; Chrysler 26 3-8 off 1-2; Ford 51 1-2 off 1-4; Gen El 84 1-4 off 1-4; Gen Motors 72 1-2 up 3-8; SoPac 31 1-2 up 3-8 and U. S. Steel 31 3-8 off 5-8.

Electronics ranged to more than a point in each direction, but other stock groups, including steels, motors, oils, and airlines, generally traded in narrowly irregular fashion.

Chemicals, aircrafts and conglomerates also traded narrowly in most instances.

Some analysts said demand for stocks was restrained by a Commerce Department report of a drop in factory orders in August following a rise in the previous month.

They also noted concern over third quarter corporate earnings and the new uncertainty in the Middle East developing after the death of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Prices were easier in routine trading on the American Stock Exchange.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

Work Is Nearly Half Completed On Commerce Clearing House

The skyline over Quail Hill west of the Northgate Mall is starting to show the results of some 11 months of construction work on the $6 million western division headquarters for Commerce Clearing House.

Though it may not be evident from the floor of the valley, heavy construction on the company's 123,000-square foot office building has been about half completed. It involves such impressive features as building 110 concrete piers 30 feet deep, the use of 34 miles of reinforcing cable in each concrete floor and stretching them taut and locking in the tension for all time.

The first and second floors are built and columns are now going up for the third floor. From now on work should proceed much faster, according to CCH chief engineer James Marisco. The lower floor will be used for parking, telephone exchange, computer equipment room and other service facilities. Entrance and lobby is on the second floor which also will contain large dining areas and kitchen. Offices will start on the third floor.

A court open from the lower floor to the top of the building will have a landscaped pool and will be covered with a Rollamatic roof of the type used in the Seven Seas and La Petite Auberge restaurant patios, allowing it to be moved back to expose the court to the sky.

Tree planting and certain landscaping on the 84-acre property was started early, so plants will be well under way by occupancy time. Huge boulders uncovered in grading the land have been strewn over certain areas and have been sprayed with plant seed which eventually will provide natural and artistic cover. A 3.5-acre vineyard has also been planted and should bear grapes in another three years.

Condominiums and single family dwellings are not yet under construction, though their locations have been selected and plans should be submitted soon to the San Rafael Planning Commission for approval.

The view from the top of the hill is magnificent and Commerce Clearing House is to be congratulated for selecting the site for western headquarters and on doing so much to beautify the landscape.

Completion of the office building is scheduled for next June, with another 30 days or so required for the final touches, decorating and furnishing the offices. Look for the law and tax reports firm to move here from San Francisco in July or August.

LEGRANDE W. COLBY of Belvedere, manager of the San Francisco office of Salomon Brothers (investment firm), has been admitted as a limited partner of the company. He joined Salomon at New York in 1948 and moved to the San Francisco office four years later. He was named manager last year.

Colby Hawkins

JOHN A. (JACK) HAWKINS of San Rafael has been appointed vice president and resident manager of a new branch office just opened at 215 Leidesdorff Street, San Francisco by Butler and Co., Inc. of Sacramento. He was formerly with Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. and Earle V. Maynard and Co., San Francisco.

AT THE END OF JUNE there were 121,365 motor vehicles registered in Marin, 98,211 of these passenger automobiles. Trucks accounted for 11,249, trailers 7,323 and motorcycles 4,582.

THERE ARE NOW 110 airplanes based in the county, with an assessed valuation of over $1 million, according to the State Board of Equalization. This is an increase from 80 planes in 1966, valued at $371,000.

A DETECTION DEVICE GOES DING-A-LING

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The metal stays in a brassiere worn by Karen Longo of Chicago caused her nothing but trouble.

Miss Longo was boarding an airplane bound for Chicago here Tuesday when a metal detection meter used primarily to detect firearms hidden on passengers sounded off.

The FBI asked her to submit to a search. After being cleared, she boarded the plane.

But officials at Port Columbus Airport said Miss Lango by then was angry and mentioned that for all the trouble she had gone through, she should hijack the plane.

Again the lady was whisked off the jet and detained by the FBI. After talking with her, the authorities allowed her to continue her trip.

Rites Set For Prison Show Leader

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— A Masonic funeral will be conducted tomorrow for William A. (Bill) Van Ornum, 63, San Francisco, who has arranged the annual New Year talent show at San Quentin Prison for the past 25 years.

Van Ornum died Tuesday in the intensive care ward of the Santa Rosa General Hospital.

"His death will be a tremendous loss to the men in San Quentin Prison," said Associate Warden James Park.

"He arranged all of our New Year 'Show of tSars' for the past two decades and that was quite a job getting stars like Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong, Big Mamma Thornton, Redd Fox, Rhoda Martin and others like them to appear."

Van Ornum, a native Californian, was a member and past master of Jewel Lodge No. 374 and belonged to the Islam Temple. He was president of the Motion Picture Projectionist Union, Local 162.

He was survived by his wife, Florence. Burial will be at Woodlawn Memorial Park, Colma.

St. Francis Hotel Manager Retires

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Dan London, who at one time or another was innkeeper to Jean Harlow, General Douglas MacArthur, and the Shah of Iran, among others, retired Wednesday as managing director of the St. Francis and Sir Francis Drake Hotels.

London graduated from the University of Washington and joined a real estate and property management firm in Seattle.

"The real estate company sent me out to manage an apartment-hotel. The next thing I knew—that was in 1935—I was in San Francisco, where I always wanted to be, and assistant manager of the Sir Francis Drake.

In 1938, London took over the stewardship of the St. Francis, becoming one of the youngest managing directors in the United States.

Medicare Patients Will Pay First $60

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Social Security administration says the nation's 20.4 million elderly persons eligible for Medicare will have to pay the first $60 of their hospital bills starting in January, instead of the present first $52.

"The increase is mandatory under the law," a spokesman said. "It is a result of the long-term upward trend in hospital costs and in part, of course, the general inflation." When Medicare started in 1966 patients only had to pay the first $40 of their bill.

"WE ARE ALL NASSERS" — Egyptian soldiers wept uncontrollably today at the funeral of President Gamal Abdel Nasser, who died Monday of a heart attack. An estimated four million persons jammed into Cairo for the event, turning the Egyptian capital into a cacophony of weeping, wailing and shouts of "to Heaven, Gamal." The soldiers chanted, "We are all Nassers. With the army and the people, we will conquer Israel." The mourning throng turned the funeral procession into chaos. (UPI Telephoto)

Judges Rule Out Trials At Prison

Quentin Facilities Lacking

By MARY LEYDECKER

The judges of Marin Superior Court have decided against holding jury trials for San Quentin inmates inside the prison, but preliminary legal proceedings will continue to take place there.

In a letter to the Marin County Board of Supervisors, who had urged prison trials, Joseph C. Wilson, presiding judge of the Superior Court, explained the reasons for the decision.

He cited lack of suitable physical facilities, possible impact upon jurors entering the prison and the providing of a provocation for disruptive tactics by activists.

CANCELS PLANS

The judges' decision canceled the possibility that trials of two San Quentin inmates earlier set for the prison courtroom would be held there. Cases of Leo Estrada Robles, Death Row inmate facing a new penalty trial, and Clarence Jacobs, charged with an offense while in prison, will apparently be held at the Hall of Justice later this month.

During the period since the Aug. 7 shootout at the Hall of Justice, preliminary proceedings involving inmate cases, such as arraignments, appointments of lawyers and setting of trial dates have been held at the prison. This will continue, the judge said.

As for jury trials, Judge Wilson and his colleagues do not think it is possible "to provide satisfactory physical facilities at the prison."

LACK OF SEATING

Unsatisfactory acoustics, lack of suitable seating for jurors and witnesses, lack of jury rooms were cited as faults with the makeshift courtroom in a prison training-recreation building.

Even if these faults could be corrected with the spending of enough money, the judges saw another problem.

"All of us have grave doubts as to whether it would be possible for a fair trial to take place within the prison, the letter said.

"There is no question that taking jurors, many of whom would not have been there before, onto prison grounds cannot fail to have some impact on their ability to be fair and objective," Judge Wilson wrote.

He suggested that "some would be unduly sympathetic towards an inmate defendant, while others might react with fear and antagonism . . ."

A further factor, according to Judge Wilson, "is the extent to which holding trials at the prison would be regarded as a provocation by those disruptive elements who are only too eager to seize upon any excuse to attack our institutions."

Referring to the supporters of inmates who have flocked to the court sessions held at San Quen-

PHOENIX LAKE

Bon Tempe Plant Pollution Claimed

By LARRY MOWELL

(First of two articles)

Phoenix Lake is being polluted with sludge from the Bon Tempe water treatment plant of the Marin Municipal Water District and has been for 12 years, according to a 23-year-old Ross School teacher who studied English literature in college.

Furthermore, he charges that the sludge being discharged at night was partially responsible for the death of at least 1,000 trout in the lake in late July.

Last summer, Campbell conducted a course for junior high school students on the basic concepts of ecology, under sponsorship of Ross School, and the group devoted 10 weeks to study of the Phoenix Lake area.

His conclusion: "Phoenix Lake is being needlessly polluted and poisoned by both the MMWD and the Department of Fish and Game."

Ordinarily English majors aren't reliable sources of scientific information on ecology even when they have minored in biology. Dan K. Campbell's claim that Phoenix Lake is a "sludge sump" seemed unfounded when William R. Seeger, general manager of the water district, last week assured the Independent-Journal, "No alum is getting into Phoenix Lake."

However, sludge, which is being dumped into the lake — though this was at first denied by Seeger — is primarily alum combined with water, according to James Farnkoph, senior district engineer for purification.

Seeger said the lake is strictly for public recreation and the water district does not disturb the lake. But this appears not to be so, because Bon Tempe lacks sludge treatment facilities such as those at the district's San Geronimo plant.

At San Geronimo, Farnkoph said, most of the 5,000 pounds of sludge a day is placed in a sludge drying bed where alum, sodium silicate, chlorine, silica and lime used for water treatment are removed.

How then is sludge treated at Bon Tempe without a treatment bed? "That's a $64 question," Farnkoph said, and promised to call back with the answer. He never did.

However, a check with Robert Ryder, project engineer for Kennedy Engineers of San Francisco when the firm built the Bon Tempe plant in 1958, produced the answer: "It was the idea at the time of design of the plant to discharge in the stream that went down to Phoenix Lake."

Seeger, approached again by the I-J and asked where the alum-bearing sludge is dumped, said, "It is discharged into a canyon within the watershed." But when confronted with the engineer's statement, Seeger conceded the sludge flows into Phoenix Lake.

He also called Campbell's six-page outline of charges and evidence "a real good report" and promised to meet with Campbell next week to discuss

Firemen Battle Blazes

MONTEREY (UPI) — A blaze that has charred 36,000 acres of brush and timber in the Santa Lucia mountains burned slowly today toward the Big Sur area as a force of some 1,300 firefighters worked to control the flames.

The fire, mostly in Los Padres National Forest, is one of three major blazes still uncontrolled in California after more than a week of hot, dry, windy weather.

U.S. Forest Service officials said the Los Padres fire was 75 per cent contained, but no estimate could be made on when the blaze will be fully controlled.

Authorities were concerned about today's weather report, which called for more warm weather and strong, dry winds.

"This could make for a bad scene," one official said.

The flames broke out on the southeast perimeter Wednesday night, and the U.S. Forest Service had to call in support from the California State Division of Forestry.

Thirty-five ground tankers, eight aerial tankers, 15 bulldozers and eight helicopters were being used in the battle. On the east sector of the fire, burning in Hunter Liggett Military Reservation, eight aerial tankers were being used.

The Los Padres fire was so hot that it cracked rocks, causing slides which made automobile driving dangerous on parts of California Highway 1 which parallels the Pacific ocean.

Other fires were burning in Sequoia National Forest near Bakersfield and in Cuyamaca State Park near San Diego.

A four-mile front of flames burned through rough terrain in Cuyamaca State Park, although more than 1,000 men put lines around 20 per cent of the 12,000-acre fire.

Four Million Mourners Bid President Nasser Good-Bye

CAIRO (UPI)—Gamal Abdel Nasser, the revolutionary who gave all Arabs a sense of nationhood, was buried today in a simple black shroud beside an arabesque mosque within sight of the Pyramids while the millions who had turned his funeral procession into chaos chanted, "to heaven, Gamal."

The body of the 52-year-old president of Egypt, who died Monday from a heart attack, was borne through the streets of Cairo on a gun carriage draped with the Egyptian flag and pulled by six black Arabian steeds. An estimated four million mourners surged forward in an outpouring of love.

Twice they tore the black, red and white Egyptian flag with its two green stars from the wooden casket. At one frightening moment, with cries of "let us carry him ourselves," they tilted the carriage until the coffin almost slipped to the ground. Once they lifted the carriage from the ground.

The crowd chanted, "Nasser! Nasser! Nasser!" but they were outdone by the soldiers who led them with yells of "we are all Nasser's. With the army and the people, we will conquer Israel." Palestinians in the crowd joined with cries of "with our souls and blood we shall continue the march."

By sheer force of numbers the crowds pushed aside dignitaries, the honor guard, the armored cars that had been sent in as reinforcements. At the end, police lines disintegrated and there was no funeral route at all.

Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin led 18 heads of state, nine prime ministers, four vice presidents and dozens of ministers and special envoys for the man who ruled Egypt for 14 years. They were lost in the outpouring of grief today.

Nasser's death left a void in Arab leadership so great there was none who was sure to succeed him. Sudanese Prime Minister Jaafar el-Numeiry called the visiting Arab heads of state to a summit conference this evening to consider the future of the Middle East without Nasser.

Nasser was borne by helicopter from the Kubbeh Palace across Cairo to the former headquarters of the Revolution Council on the banks of the Nile where Nasser and his fellow army officers plotted the 1952 coup which overthrew King Farouk and ended 5,000 years of rule by kings. The Pyramids loomed on the skyline.

MIG21 jets screamed through the Cairo skies, a present from the Soviet Union which had backed his army against Israel. Artillery boomed a 101 gun salute and the funeral cortege set out across Cairo to the mosque and the Moslem funeral rites.

Boys and men climbed on light poles, trees and housetops and fences along the route. At one point a section of fence collapsed with a roar, throwing 12 men to the ground and injuring many of them.

The tension grew as the

Peace Still Remote, Says Israel

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Seven Palestinian guerrillas released by Western governments in exchange for the hostages of three hijacked airliners flew to Cairo today in time for the funeral of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

The seven included Leila Khaled, a pretty, 24-year-old Palestinian who failed in an attempt to hijack an Israeli El Al jetliner near London Sept. 6. Her companion was killed in the attempt, but Miss Khaled, who had participated in an earlier, successful hijacking, became a hero to the guerrillas.

Miss Khaled wah released by the British government, while three other commandos were released by West Germany and three by Switzerland.

In the meantime, Arab truce officials were supervising the withdrawal from Amman of Jordanian government troops and guerrilla forces. Under a truce agreement negotiated by Nasser shortly before his death Monday, they must withdraw to at least three miles from the boundaries of the city.

The pullout started late Wednesday.

Damascus Radio said the North Jordanian cities of Irbid and Ramtha, the guerrila strongholds that were the scene of fresh fighting Wednesday, were quiet, but that 20 persons were killed and 45 wounded in the clashes.

White the Arab world was in mourning for Nasser, Israel ushered in the year 5731 on the Jewish calendar today. Premier Golda Meir, in a holiday statement, appealed for the beginning of an "epoch of peace and regional cooperation in the area."

However, she said "peace is still remote. The failure of Arab aggression was followed in recent months by an unprecedented escalation on the part of the Soviet Union."

Equality In Education Held 'Mere Pipedream'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A California educator said Thursday the prospect of equal education is a "mere pipedream" since those in power won't cheat their own children in order to help disadvantaged youngsters.

Prof. Henry M. Levin of Stanford University, in blunt testimony to the Senate Select Committee on Equal Education Opportunity, said it is this "crisis of values," and not just money problems, that most plagues American education.

He accused local, state and federal officials of boasting about programs to aid poor children while actually continuing to funnel the bulk of school funds into affluent schools.

"It is a mere pipedream to assert that equal educational opportunity is close at hand...," Levin said. "Why would the wealthy ever encourage a system of educational finance that would allow as much or more investment in the children of the poor than in their own children?" ...

"The children of the powerless are hardly going to receive assistance from those powers that see the status of their own children threatened."

Levin also said "simply mixing bodies" to achieve racial balance in schools would provide neither true integration nor equal opportunity without improved attitudes and programs.

He said disparities between poor and rich areas is so great that new york spends three times as much per child in its

Nixon, Tito Agree Long Road To Peace In The Turbulent Mideast

BELGRADE (UPI) — President Nixon was reported today to have won agreement from Yugoslav President Tito in nearly two hours of talks that "further patient work and new efforts" were needed to bring peace in the turbulent Middle East.

The Nixon-Tito talks, described by Yugoslav sources as frank but mutually beneficial, also touched on Southeast Asia and Africa and included a call for further economic development and cooperation between the United States and Yugoslavia.

Their formal talks concluded, Tito and Nixon flew 250 miles northwest of Belgrade for visits in drizzling rain to Zagreb, the Croatian state capital, and Kumrovec, where the birthplace of the 78-year-old independent Communist ruler is a national shrine.

An estimated 100,000 persons turned out at Zagreb. "You know they say we can get people to come out," Tito told Nixon at one point, "but you know, Mr. President, you cannot get them to smile or show the warmth they have here."

The two leaders flew back to Belgrade in late afternoon following a 3 1-2-hour tour of the countryside, including Tito's white stucco, red-tiled birthplace, for a state dinner given by the American President in his host's honor. Nixon flies to Spain on Friday.

Yugoslav officioals indicated that in their talks, Tito, who has strongly supported the Arabs, and Nixon, who has continued U.S. military and political aid to Israel, did not fully agree on the Middle East.

Both expressed anxiety over "the very grave and delicate situation" there.

Nixon sought Yugoslavia's nonaligned support for U.S. peace efforts in the Mediterranean while opposing foreign intervention.

Both were said to have stressed the need for "further patient work and new efforts to create conditions for the peaceful solution of the crisis," including the problem of Palestinian refugees.

Tito was reported to have noted African efforts "to prevent interference by the big powers in the affairs of African countries, which certainly is also in the interest of all big and advanced countries."

The two leaders joined their wives for drinks after their morning talks that touched on the dramatic change in the Middle East power structure brought by Gamal Abdel

SEARCHES FOR FOOD—A woman looks for food scraps in the rubble of a building in the village of Tang Kauk, north of Phnom Penh, Cambodia. It is in an area where Red troops have launched an all-out offensive to cut the nation's rice bowl line. (UPI Radiophoto)

Reds Ignore Cambodian Religious Holiday In Drive On Rice Bowl

By FRANK FROSCH

PHNOM PENH (UPI) —Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces ignored a Cambodian religious observance to launch attacks against four towns on Highway 5 connecting Phnom Penh with the nation's rice bowl, the Cambodian Command said today.

Military spokesmen said the attacks Wednesday night were in a stretch of the road running from 30 miles northwest of the capital to 58 miles northwest of Phnom Penh. The rice crop is only weeks away from harvest.

"We must keep the highway open if we hope to have any sufficient rice crop at all," an Agriculture Ministry official said. "If we lose Highway 5, we may be faced with a very serious rice shortage in Phnom Penh."

Western diplomats have theorized that may be just what the Communists have in mind.

The government has already begun a campaign to urge the people of Phnom Penh to raise their own vegetables in case of a siege of the capital.

Communiques from Saigon said an American OV10 Bronco spotter plane was shot down near the Cambodian town of Tang Kauk Wednesday, killing both crewmen.

It was beleved to be the first U. S. plane downed while flying in support of Cambodian ground troops.

The U. S. Command said 63 Americans were killed and 344 wounded in the war last week compared with 52 dead and 333 wounded the previous week. South Vietnam lost 246 killed and 690 wounded.

The Saigon government also said it had finished a series of operations in the northern quarter of South Vietnam, killing 2,371 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong over the past three months at a cost of 304 government troops killed and 647 wounded. The operation began July 1 and ended Wednesday.

The Agriculture Ministry spokesman said the Cambodian rice harvest was already expected to be down by at least 40 per cent from last year.

The Communists attacked the towns of O Sandan, Tau Laak, Sala Lek Pram and Kompong Chhang. All were hit by mortar and automatic weapons fire.

The Cambodian Command declined to say whether any of the towns were occupied by the Communists but said a number of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were killed. Cambodian casualties were unreported.

The attack on Highway 5 endangered the fifth of six key Cambodian roadways. The Highway Command listed Highways 2,3,4 and 6, all stretching out in spoke-like fashion from Phnom Penh, as either closed or insecure.

The Communists still held a three-mile stretch of Highway 4 linking the capital and the port of Kompong Som. Cambodian troops have made no efforts to open the road because of the three-day Pchum Ben holiday in which Cambodians pay homage to their ancestors.

Only Highway 1, linking Phnom Penh with Saigon, was considered secure.

Military sources in Saigon said the United States is considering withdrawing one of its three aircraft carriers in the Indochina area as part of the overall Vietnam cutback.

Meanwhile, the United States today turned over to South Vietnam 40 A37 Dragonfly jet fighter-bombers worth $16 million as part of the continuing American withdrawal.

Military spokesmen said the U.S. Army will also turn over 31 more UH1 "Huey" helicopters to the Vietnamese Friday and plans are under way to hand over a substantial portion of the American airlift under the Vietnamization program within a year.

All But Two Survive Viet Airline Crash

DA NANG, Vietnam (UPI)—Ground search teams today reached the wreckage of a crashed Air Vietnam propeller-driven airliner in mountains north of Da Nang and said all but two of the 30 passengers survived.

The plane crashed Wednesday night.

Spokesmen for Air Vietnam and military sources in Saigon said the dead were two Chinese pilots who worked for Winner Airways, the firm from which Air Vietnam had chartered the World War II-vintage DC3.

Of the remaining passengers and crew, all Vietnamese, three were injured.

Ground parties reached the crash site at 2,300-foot Hai Van Pass, 10 miles north of Da Nang, after a night of struggling up mountain trails through fog and monsoon rain.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Franco Celebrates

MADRID (UPI)—Francisco Franco observed his 34th anniversary as master of Spain today with a minimum of pomp to conserve his strength for President Nixon's arrival Friday.

The 77-year-old caudillo received foreign ambassadors in a simple handshaking ceremony when they called to congratulate him on the anniversary of his elevation to chief of state.

Civil servants got the day off while brass bands and police drill teams rehearsed for Friday.

American flags and the Spanish colors were run up on thousands of poles raised along the route Nixon's motorcade will travel.

Air Fare Tax Hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House voted Wednesday to require $92 million in higher air passenger taxes to pay for 2,500 armed air marshalls to guard against hijackings.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., the bill's floor manager, said the measure was necessary following the recent wave of hijackings by Arab guerrillas. He said hijackings pose a "mounting danger" to passengers.

The bill was sent to the Senate on a 323-17 roll call vote.

The measure would raise the 8 per cent passenger tax on domestic flights to 8.5 per cent, and the $3 head tax on international passengers to $5.

Lin Piao Speaks

HONG KONG (UPI)—Communist Chinese Defense Minister Lin Piao told tens of thousands of red flag-waving countrymen celebrating the nation's 21st birthday today the world is seeing a surge in "the struggle against American imperialism."

Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung waved to the cheering crowds before Lin began speaking, the New China News Agency said in a broadcast monitored in Hong Kong.

"A new upsurge in the struggle against U.S. imperialism is emerging in the world," Lin said. "Through the world, the people's revolutionary struggles are developing vigorously and the united front against U.S. imperialism is constantly expanding and growing in strength."

UAW Negotiations

DETROIT (UPI)—Although negotiations are dragging along on local issues in the 17-day-old General Motors Corp. strike, United Auto Workers president Leonard Woodcock says he has "certain assurances" that "lead me to hope that things will move more quickly."

Negotiations were to resume again today in issues at 145 of 155 local bargaining units still without agreements. After disposing of local issues that have delayed production resumption in past strikes, the bargainers still have to tackle a new national contract.

Adult Smut Fans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Commission on Obscenity and Pornography, says the most frequent purchaser of pornographic materials is a college-educated, married male, in his 30's or 40's, who is above average in socio-economic status.

"Even where materials are legally available to them, young adults and older adolescents do not constitute an important portion of the purchasers of such materials," the commission said.

The commission said about 85 per cent of adult men and 70 per cent of adult women have been exposed sometime during their lives to explicit sexual materials.

Delta Queen Veto

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Congressional committee has spelled the end for the big riverboats that once were the principal transportation in the Mark Twain country.

The House-Senate Conference Committee on the Merchant Marine Bill refused Wednesday to accept a Senate-passed amendment which would have allowed the Delta Queen — last of the big-time overnight river steamboats — to continue its treks. For 44 years, it had traveled the Mississippi, Tennessee, Ohio and Cumberland Rivers, making stops at Minneapolis-St. Paul, Pittsburgh, Louisville, Cincinnati, Memphis and New Orleans.

The Committee action ends an exemption it was given that allowed it to continue its travels although it did not meet maritime safety laws.

Trial Witness Says He Was Intimidated

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The telephone would ring in the middle of the night and the voice on the other end would go "oink, oink, snort, snort, oink, oink, snort, snort."

Juan Flynn, one of the most important state witnesses at the Tate murder trial, was describing the intimidation used against him to try to scare him out of testifying against Charles Manson and his "family."

Flynn, a 6-foot-5 ranch hand, said that only two weeks ago two of the hippie cult members, a man and a woman, came to his home in the Los Angeles suburbs where he was chopping wood.

"They said they were going to do me in right there," Flynn told the jury. "I had an ax and I told them to help themselves.

"They told me someone downtown (presumably Manson) wanted to see me. And they said if you are not going with us, then we are going to get you right here. When they saw I wasn't going to do what they wanted, the girl started crying."

Manson, 35, and three young women members of his cult, Susan Atkins, Leslie Van Houten, and Patricia Krenwinkel, are on trial for the seven killings in August, 1969.

Flynn had testified that Manson once told him that he was behind all seven Tate-Labianca killings. He acknowledged that it was a year before he told Los Angeles authorities about the "admission."

Truck Blasters Say They Aimed At Tires

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI)—Police said today the snipers who fired on a truck loaded with 21 tons of dynamite were poor marksmen actually aiming for the vehicle's tires. The shots exploded the dynamite and disintegrated the truck and its driver.

Two Teamsters Union members and the wife of one of them were to be arraigned today on second degree murder charges in the death of the truck driver, John A. Galt, 48, of Oklahoma City.

The suspects were identified as Gerald Lee Bowden, 27, his wife, Sharrow Lynn, 27, and Bobby Shuler, 29, all of Joplin, Mo. Police said Bowden and Shuler both were drivers for Tri-State Motor Transit Co. of Joplin, one of the nation's largest haulers of explosives. The firm has been struck by the Teamsters since Sept. 15.

Galt, a veteran driver who completed two million miles without an accident, was on his first assignment for the strike-plagued firm.

Wednesday's explosion ripped a 100-foot crater in Interstate 44, shredded the tractor-trailer rig, destroyed a farm house, damaged two gasoline stations and a candy store and shattered windows in Springfield 10 miles away.

Highway Patrol officers theorized the snipers were firing at the truck's tires or radiator on the earlier pattern of shootings in the area. Also, officers said, one of the suspects told police the gang had no intention of blowing up the cargo.

The driver of a truck moving ahead of the one that exploded told highway patrolmen he saw a rifle muzzle flash as he passed the scene. Norman Hopkins, 22, of Wichita, Kan., was quoted by troopers as saying he looked in his rear view mirror and "there was just a huge ball of fire" where the other truck had been. Hopkins said a sniper fired on his truck first. Bullet holes were found in his vehicle.

Most of Tri-State's 800 drivers are based in Joplin. About 200 work out of Lexington, Ky.

Company officials said 75 per cent of its trucks are leased from private operators, who have continued to drive during the strike.

Reagan In Hinterlands; Unruh Talks To Elderly

MERCED (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan took his reelection campaign into the fertile central valley of California today and endorsed a Nov. 3 ballot measure designed to aid disabled veterans.

In remarks prepared for a fund-raising luncheon at the Merced County Fairgrounds, the governor declared his support for proposition 13.

The measure increases from $5,000 to $10,000 a property tax exemption for certain severely disabled veterans and unmarried widows of these veterans.

"Some disabled veterans and widows are in a tremendous tax bind and many are faced with losing their homes," Reagan said. "Some of these homes are equipped with devices adapted to the needs of the disabled—wheelchair ramps, widened doorways and halls and lowered plumbing and cooking fixtures."

He said the measure would cost the state $150,000 and would affect about 860 veterans.

The Republican governor's three-day venture into the San Joaquin and Sacramento Valleys marked the first time during his fall election campaign that he has left the metropolitan centers and moved into the far less populated farm belt for an extended tour.

By bus and charter airplane, Reagan scheduled barnstorm visits at barbeques, fundraisers and fairground appearances in a dozen communities from Bakersfield in the south to Oroville in the north.

Reagan's campaign schedule Friday calls for him to visit Hanford Telephone Co. workers; tour a shopping center at Visalia; attend a picnic at Tulare; watch a children's costume parade at Delano; and attend a fundraising buffet dinner at the Bakersfield home of country and western singer Buck Owens.

On Saturday, Reagan takes his campaign to Lake Oroville, key reservoir of the California water project, for the dedication in the Loafer Creek Recreation Area of the New Coyote Campground, a state development.

The nearly $2.7 million campground includes 137 campsites, parking space for 250 cars and picnic and boat launching facilities. Reagan will be the main speaker.

Afterward, he heads south to Marysville for a barbeque and rally at the Yuba-Sutter Fairgrounds. That night he will return to Sacramento for a fundraiser before flying to his home in Pacific Palisades.

UNRUH

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Democrat Jess Unruh tried to bridge the generation gap in one day's campaigning by urging teen-agers to organize and oldsters to insist on greater social security benefits.

Unruh addressed about 50 senior citizens Wednesday telling them that Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan is "totally unconcerned about the needs of the elderly."

He said the governor last July cut the home care services for the aged, blind and disabled by $10 million, but later was forced to roll back on the reductions.

"The reason for these cuts is so Reagan could claim to the more prosperous people that he was trimming state spending," Unruh said.

"This is the rankest sort of demogoguery because people's health—indeed, their very existence—is involved," the gubernatroial condidate said.

He also told the oldsters that he supports a federal proposal to increase immediately social security payments by 10 per cent and another 10 per cent by 1972.

As he began his brief talk, Unruh informed the group that he was celebrating his birthday.

"I'm 48 today," he said.

"You're just a kid," remarked a grey haired lady to the delight of the rest of the group whose average age was about 70.

Later Unruh addressed several hundred high school students attending a "people power—winning with the system," political seminar sponsored by two radio stations (KYA and KOIT-FM)

Also Unruh pledged again to end the 1,019-day strike at the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner if he is elected.

"I think the governor has an obligation to sit people down and utilize the power and prestige of his office to end the strike," Unruh said in answer to a reporter's question.

Unruh also said he supported legislation to prohibit the use of strikebreakers.

Unruh last Sept. 12 told a group of Herald-Examiner strikers in Los Angeles that he would "settle this strike and I'll settle it decently and fairly for the working people of the state.

RAFFERTY

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) should stay on college campuses to keep such training "a democratic institution," state schools chief Max Rafferty said Wednesday.

In an address to 300 workers at the Aerojet-General Corp. plant, Rafferty said the issue that must be decided about ROTC is "whether you want future military officers coming directly from the people . . . being a part and parcel of our great democratic society on hundreds of different college campuses . . . or whether you want a Prussianized junker class—trained privately and perhaps secretly by the government."

ROTC programs have been discontinued on many colleges and university campuses because of pressure from antiwar groups.

RILES

PLEASANT HILL (UPI) — Wilson Riles asserts his opponent in the race for state superintendent of public instruction should have given more attention to providing class room facilities.

Speaking Wednesday at Diablo Valley Community College, Riles said incumbent Max Rafferty has been "so busy fretting over the minority of dissidents that he has given no attention to the majority of responsible students who want to go to class."

The state's master plan for higher education requires its colleges to accept any high school graduate or anyone over 18 years "capable of profiting from the instruction offered."

Because of a shortage of facilities, "the law was violated more than 5,000 times last fall," Riles said.

Agnew Attacks Pornography Report, 'Radical Liberals'

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has coupled an attack on the pornography commission report with a plea for an election of a Congress to help President Nixon keep Main Street from turning into "Smut Alley."

Agnew capped a nationwide campaign tour for GOP candidates Wednesday night with a broad attack against the report and against the courts and "radical liberals" he said were aiding an assault on America's sense of decency.

"Decency is under assault in almost every aspect of our lives," he told a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner.

It is most visible in the "posturing and shouting of obscenities by the scruffy, shaggy sons of the New Left. But it goes even beyond them. This assauult now comes from almost every direction, daily and in volume. "It pervades our cultural life and is inflicted upon millions of Americas who deeply disapprove but don't know what they can do about it," he said.

Among the "shabby hallmarks" of modern America, he said, were standard fare movies that "once would have brought a police raid on a men's smoker" and "nudity . . . on public display at orgiastic, drug-steeped rock festivals and protest demonstrations flamboyantly staged by social misfits and dropouts."

"This intensifying depravity has been encouraged by court decisions, reflecting our earlier wave of permissiveness," he said.

"This commission was not named by President Nixon," he said. "No sir, your honor, it's not our baby."

He said the quality of life in America will be degraded if "the floodgates are further opened and more of this garbage is dumped into the mainstream of American communications. As long as Richard Nixon is president, Main street is not going to turn into Smut Alley."

At the dinner and earlier at a street rally in front of the famed temple of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, Agnew urged the election of republican Rep. Laurence J. Burton who is running against two-term Democratic Sen. Frank E. Moss.

Earlier yesterday Agnew branded Sen. Charles Goodell, R-N.Y., as a member of "an awful radical-liberal coalition" — a category Agnew usually reserves for Democrats.

Phoenix Lake Pollution Found By Students

it. Some of the claims are faulty, he said, but would not say which ones pending the meeting.

Campbell said Seeger called Tuesday, but refused to set a meeting date.

Another group anxious to thrash around in the can of worms opened by Campbell is the State Department of Fish and Game which stocks the lake with trout each year.

The lake was emptied in 1965 because of fear the dam might burst and flood Ross. However, it was refilled after the $150,000 dam now there was built with $90,000 of Fish and Game money on condition the lake be left in a natural state and dedicated to public use, according to a fish and game official.

Eldon Vestel, fisheries management supervisor for the area, said, "If it is being used for a dumping grounds for pollutants, then this is certainly a direct violation of the plan to use the lake for recreation use."

He said that if sludge is being poured into the lake, then the water district will be subject to court action under fish and game codes prohibiting allowing substances harmful to wildlife and fish to get into water.

"They are not going to do it for very long because we would take action," he said. "I'm sure Warden Al Giddings has been on the alert for a long time."

Vestel said the Fish and Game Department had no official notification of sludge being dumped into the lake from the plant on a hill high above it and knew nothing of a trout kill in the third week of July claimed by Campbell. Campbell has slides to prove his dead fish story.

That alum kills fish is clear from the thousands of fish found floating dead in Lagunitas Creek in May after alum entered the water. Are the other components of sludge as deadly?

Chlorine, according to Farnkoph, kills all life in water. Campbell said there is a strong odor of chlorine near the mouth of the pipe dumping into a tributary stream from about 6 p.m. to noon almost daily.

Lime, a base, eradicates the slightly acidic character of most lake water required by lake life, Campbell said.

Of course, the chemicals would be harmless in small enough quantities, but Farnkoph said Bon Tempe, which produces about 12 million gallons of water a day for Southern Marin in the summer, also produces about 36 cubic yards — a ton and a half according to a soil expert — of chemical-bearing sludge each day.

According to Ryder, project supervisor for construction of the plant, about 25 per cent of that sludge flowing into the lake are treatment chemicals, the major portion of that alum, which is a claylike substance occurring in nature.

Campbell pointed out symptoms that this sludge seriously affects the environment of the lake. In addition to a chalky color which indicates silt, there is red algae — not a natural phenomenon in lakes and associated with oxygenless water, he said.

Fish and Game supervisor Vestel said he would not drink water with such algae in it because it is dangerous.

The sludge which flows in during the night also turns the surroundings white, Campbell said. This means salamanders, frogs and other previously camouflaged life stand out clearly and are eliminated by predators, according to Campbell.

However, the most obvious sign that the lake is being tampered with is the lack of growing things, Campbell said. Such a body of water should be rich in green algae and floating plants but, Campbell said, "the lake is barren of most floating and emergent plants, has little or no bottom substrata and few living things." This also indicates a lack of oxygen, he said, and fish require oxygen to live.

Seeger said in 1968 when the lake was dry that the sludge was non-toxic and did not create any problems in the lake. Warden Giddings said at the same time the district would not be allowed to dump backwash into the lake when it was refilled, but the district has done so anyway.

Why is the water district fouling the lake? Ryder said that in 1958, it was considered the correct means of disposing of the sludge. It is certainly the less expensive way, Seeger and Campbell agreed.

"Ultimately, it is a matter of economics," Campbell said. "Phoenix Lake is a very handy sewer. It's cheaper than building a sludge drying plant; it is cheaper than hauling it away," he said.

There is no question, Campbell said, that the chemicals now flowing into Phoenix Lake are required for water treatment. The question is whether they should be allowed in the lake.

He recommended that the water district construct a sludge drying facility and the district may be forced to. Not only does the night-time dumping violate the Fish and Game Code, it also may violate regulations of the Bay Area Water Quality Control Board.

The sludge ingredients eventually escape the lake and flow into the bay through Phoenix and Corte Madera creeks.

The water quality control board can prohibit waste discharges and levy a $6000-a-day fine against offenders.

Four Million Mourners Bid President Nasser Good-Bye

crowd waited. Great roars met every helicopter that flew overhead. Finally when troops lost control mounted police came in.

Five thousand soldiers had marched toward the square where the wagon waited and then the gun carriage raced into the square behind the horses, the crowd scattering before their hooves. The wailing and the shouting was deafening.

And throughout was the steady shout of "Nasser; Nasser; Nasser;" It was by shouting his name that Egyptians in 1967 encouraged him to rescind his resignation as president after the disastrous war with Israel.

There were other shouts from the crowd:

"Gamal, we will continue the struggle;"

"Soldiers, cross the canal and heed the advice of Gamal!"

At the mosque the black shrouded body of Nasser was borne to the grave by his revolutionary companions from whose midst the next ruler of Egypt may emerge. Dr. Mohammed al-Fahham, the grand Sheikh of Al Azar, officiated at the funeral and chanted verses from the Koran.

The funeral procession took three hours. Describing its final stages, the Middle East News Agency said:

"People went out of their minds as they saw the hearse approaching the mosque. They broke into hysterial sobs. Many collapsed."

Cairo Radio's announcer repeatedly shouted, "Allah Akbar" (God is greater) as the son of a peasant postman went to his grave.

Policemen and troops manning barricades dropped their rifles and collapsed, tears running down their faces, as the mourners overwhelmed them with sheer numbers.

"All attempts to maintain an official aspect of the procession failed as masses joined high-ranking mourners in a scene the like of which the world has never witnessed," the Middle East News Agency said.

"Observers are unanimous the procession is the biggest the Arab nation has ever witnessed."

Along with paintings, craft work and jewelry will be sold.

FIRES

1,000 men had a 24,000-acre fire 88 per cent contained, although it still was described as "burning open."

Firemen, hoping for higher humidity and fearing winds, surrounded the 120-mile perimeter of the largest brush fire in state history in Cleveland National Forest near San Diego.

Near Los Angeles, a smouldering brush fire that was all but contained broke loose again today driven by a warming Santa Ana wind in the Lytle Creek area north of San Bernardino. A forest service spokesman said there was a "slopover" this morning that swept over about 500 acres in the San Bernardino Mountains and pushed the total blackened area there to 9,000 acres.

The spokesman said the winds from the northeast were blowing at 30 miles an hour and pushing the fire downhill which he considered dangerous.

There was no immediate outlook for containment of the breakout which was being fought by 600 firefighters on a mile of open fireline.

State and local agencies have, meanwhile, initiated emergency crash programs to head off floods and mudslides over fire-ravaged Southern California, but some officials predict the charred areas will be at the mercy of winter rains.

A series of conferences began Tuesday and Wednesday throughout the state to plan programs of mudslide and flood control.

NIXON

Nasser's death. They met in the Adriatic stone and marble federal government building on the Sava River.

White House officials said Nixon sought Tito's advice on getting Arab-Israeli peace negotiations moving despite confusion following Nasser's death.

Nixon also was said to have stressed that the United States wanted only to ensure that the people of the Middle East could live their own lives without foreign influence.

After their meeting, Nixon had a glass of red wine with a lemon twist. Noticing the amber-colored liquid in Tito's glass, he asked, "Are you having a Scotch?"

"When you get old, whisky is much better for the blood than milk," Tito replied.

Tito flew ahead to welcome Nixon when he landed in Zagreb, the Croatian capital, and was at the steps of the federal government building when Nixon—who had paused along the way to shake hands with friendly Yugoslavs—arrived for the talks.

While their husbands met, the two first ladies visited a modern educational and recreational "pioneer center" for children in Belgrade.

Development Tax Report Corrected

A tax on development in Tiburon being considered by the city council would be a one-time levy on new construction, not a new property tax as reported by an article in Tuesday's Independent-Journal.

The tax would be $125 for each residential unit in a single-family or more restrictive zone, $100 for residential units in any other zone and 15 cents per square foot of gross floor area in commercial units. The tax would provide funds for public improvements.

The council will hold first reading on an ordinance establishing the proposed levy when it meets Oct. 13 at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

Doctor Arrested In Dope Violation

OAKLAND (UPI) — Police have arrested a 60-year-old physician on narcotics charges for the third time in nine months.

Five vice squad officers raided Dr. Nathan Mann's office Wednesday after an undercover policeman bought illegal drugs from the doctor earlier this week.

The raid turned up an estimated $500,000 worth of dangerous drugs. The doctor had to be forcibly restrained after he kicked one officer and bit two others, police said.

SCHOOLS

public schools as does Alabama, and that in California alone some districts spend five times as much per pupil as others. Even in large school districts such as Los Angeles and Detroit, he said, rich schools are better funded than poor ones.

Levin said the federal government would have to begin insisting on greater equality in school spending and full accountability if it wants to insure all children an equal chance.

"Many of us will have to grapple with our values if we are to support a system that puts the children of rich and poor on the same starting line in life's competition," Levin said.

"This is a tough prospect to accept for those who have always taken their inherent advantages as God-given and any attempt to eliminate such advantages as inspired by Satan.

"It is this crisis of values which will determine the ultimate outcome of our quest for equal educational opportunities."

tin since the shootout, the judge said:

"In no sense could court proceedings at San Quentin be regarded as secret hearings. They have produced much larger audiences than would attend at the Hall of Justice."

Finally, the judges concluded that holding jury trials at San Quentin might lull officials into feeling that all court security problems had been dealt with.

"Security problems are not confined to San Quentin cases," Judge Wilson said.

"With the steps that have been taken, and which we hope will be taken in the future by the county, we feel that adequate courtroom security can be achieved at the Hall of Justice . . ."

None of these reasons apply to hearing routine proceedings at the prison, Judge Wilson said. "All decisions (such as arraignments, trial settings and hearing pleas) are made by a judge accustomed to these procedures and not likely to be affected by the fact that he may be holding court on the prison grounds."

He also said that once the nature of these proceedings is understood, he didn't think "such sessions could possibly be regarded as an excuse for protest."

The judge cited the cooperation of prison officials and the sheriff's department in taking judges and court personnel to San Quentin.

He said the theft occurred Saturday while he was absent from the theater's control room, leaving it unlocked for a few minutes.

Agency Selects Apollo 15 Site

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Space Agency today selected an area on the moon near a winding canyon and the rugged Apennine mountains as the landing site for next July's Apollo 15 mission.

Astronauts David R. Scott and James B. Irwin will use a new moon car to carry out the surface exploration while commanding module pilot Alfred M. Worden remains in lunar orbit. They are scheduled for launch July 25 from Cape Kennedy.

The landing area, called Hadley-Apennines, is the most northern site on the moon considered for an Apollo expedition. It is 465 miles north of the lunar equator and is on the eastern edge of the Sea of Rains.

Although the precise touchdown point has not yet been selected, the Space Agency said Scott and Irwin will be targeted for a spot that will enable them to use the moon car to explore both the canyon and the nearby front of the Apennine mountains.

The canyon is called Hadley Rille. It is 600 feet deep, one half mile wide and 60 miles long and resembles a dry river bed or an arroyo of the southwestern United States. Project officials expect the astronauts to drive to its rim and possibly climb down part of the canyon wall.

Scientists have said the astronauts by going there, should be able to answer once and for all whether the canyons on the moon were formed by water or some other fluid.

The astronauts also will be able to sample material from the Apennine mountains, study the material that filled the nearby Sea of Rains and examine several dome-like features in the area that may have been formed by volcanism.

The landing site was selected by a committee headed by Apollo Program Director Rocco A. Petrone. The decision was based on the recommendation of leading lunar scientists who consider Hadley-Apennines one of the most scientifically interesting areas on the moon.

Also in the running for the Apollo 15 landing site was an area of volcanic domes farther west in the Ocean of Storms.

10 Pct. Hike In Benefits Is Advanced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee tentatively approved today a 10 per cent across the board increase in Social Security benefit, coupled with a $100 a month minimum.

Meeting in closed session, the committee voted to double the increase in Social Security benefits approved by the House earlier this year.

The Committee, on a motion by Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., approved, 8 to 5, the 10 per cent across the board increase in benefits effective next Jan. 1.

Then, on a motion by Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., the committee voted 7 to 4 for a $100 a month minimum benefit.

The present minimum benefit is $64. The House-passed bill would raise that to $67.20.

The additional increase in benefits and the raising of the minimum would cost an estimated $3.7 billion a year.

$104 Million From Korean Smokers

Each smoker consumed 14 cigarettes a day on the average. The number of smokers was placed at 8,110,000 ora bout 35 per cent of the population.

AMA Journal Review Hits Second Sex Book

CHICAGO (UPI)—A review in the Journal of the American Medical Association criticizes Masters and Johnson's "Human Sexual Inadequacy" as being repetitive and unreadable and ignoring psychological forces.

"This reviewer cannot resist asking: can faulty and inadequate sex truly be corrected in this joyless way, and ignoring the psychological forces at work?" Dr. Natalie Shainess of New York wrote in the Sept. 21 edition of the journal.

The review concerns itself with the second book by Dr. William H. Masters and Virginia E. Johnson, in which they describe treatment techniques used at their clinic in St. Louis. "Human Sexual Inadequacy" was published earlier this year.

Masters and Mrs. Johnson published an earlier work, "Human Sexual Response," in which they describe laboratory observations of bodily changes during sexual stimulation.

Dr. Shainess says the book would occupy only one third of its space if it were not so repetitive and "the language is somewhat simpler than its earlier companion piece, "Human Sexual Response," but it is still virtually unreadable."

"Reading the book is an incredibly laborious task," Dr. Shainess wrote. "One begins to feel as if on a merry-go-round as phrases and ideas are met with over and over again."

The reviewer applauds the introduction of case histories into the text saying "here the book comes to life," but she adds, "however, these histories do not relate to the treatment techniques described and therefore, like the references, they are superfluous."

Dr. Shainess refers to women surrogates provided by the Masters and Johnson clinic for treatment of single male patients as "apparently a superbreed."

If the female partners are "fully sexually responsive, confident, understanding and compassionate," she asks, "why are they not busy with their own confident, fully responsive men?"

WHAT? SAFETY FIRST?

While painting a church steeple at St. Joseph Roman Catholic Church in Natrona, Pa., this workman had to perform a balancing act any circus promoter might envy. The National Safety Council would probably shudder, however, at the ropes lashing the ladder sections together beneath his feet.

Precautions Listed Against Botulism

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Precautions against botulism should be taken during the fall harvest season, according to Louis F. Saylor, state public health director.

"Home-canned vegetables, meats and other products with little or no acidity must be properly processed to eliminate the possibility of botulism, a poison-producing organism which can cause paralysis and death," said Saylor.

"A Stockton man died from botulism and his sister became ill last June after eating improperly home-canned olives," he said.

Several tips on home canning, recommended by the University of California agricultural extension service, should be heeded in preventing botulism. They are:

For canning, use only fresh, firm and crisp vegetables that have been thoroughly washed. Use meat, poultry and fish that are sound.

Can as soon as possible after picking.

For canning all low-acid fruits and vegetables use a pressure cooker and process for the prescribed time.

Boil home-canned foods for at least 10 minutes, longer for higher altitudes; greens and cream-style corn for 20 minutes. Add water as necessary for proper boiling.

Never use sour or rancid food.

Botulism is an extremely dangerous poison, usually fatal, according to the extension service.

To Decide Stand

A special meeting of the Richardson Bay Sanitary District board has been slated for Monday at 8 p.m. at the Trestle Glen plant 500 Tiburon Boulevard, Tiburon, to decide the position of the board toward a single Southern Marin sanitary district, according to board president Douglas de la Fontaine.

Tourism Study To Be Discussed

The City-County Planning Council will meet tomorrow to discuss the balanced transportation program, housing, and a study to tourism as a prop to Marin's economy.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the planning commission chambers at the Civic Center.

The 24-member council will also discuss changes in the quorum rule because a 13-member quorum is difficult to meet.

Valuables Offered

A little bookkeeping can make the burglar's lot an unhappy one, members of the Marin County Deputy Sheriff's Association claimed today.

The bookkeeping simply involves making a permanent list of any valuables that a burglar might covet.

The deputies' association has had printed 5,000 personal property record sheets for free distribution to Marin residents. On the forms are spaces for listing vehicles and boats, bicycles, guns, TV sets and stereo players, fine art works, credit cards and most other types of valuables.

The forms warn that failure to keep records of identification numbers on TV sets, cameras and the like often makes the difference whether or not stolen property can be traced and the burglar punished.

The record forms are available at the Marin County sheriff's office or from any deputy.

Larkspur author Mary Lou Stribling will speak Oct. 15 at 10:30 a.m. at the Larkspur Library.

Report Says State Should Plan For Atomic Plants

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A just-issued legislative committee report credits California's electric utilities with the foresight to avoid brownouts and prolonged power outages that have plagued other sections of the country, particularly the Northeast.

But the report also says that in order for electricity supply to stay ahead of demand, atomic power plants must be planned and their sites selected for the needs of the next 20 years.

The committee is the Joint Committee on Atomic Development and Space, chaired by Assemblyman John V. Briggs, R-Fullerton. Other members are Sens. Ralph C. Dills, vice chairman, John Nejedly and James E. Whetmore; and Assemblymen Walter W. Powers and Paul Priolo.

The committee report says that "hydroelectric projects can no longer be counted upon to provide enough energy and that fossil fuels in California are either nonexistent, in diminishing supply, or contribute unwanted combustion products to an already overburdened fresh air resource."

Cotati To Consider Subdivision Law

Marin Homeowners Federation To Help Boys' Club Drive

The North Marin Federation of Homeowners Associations will start a month long drive Saturday to help the Novato Boys' Club membership campaign, according to president Gurthrie R. Greene.

The member organizations of the federation represent more than 3,000 homes in the Novato area, Greene said. These organizations work for the betterment of their areas and the city in general, he said.

Greene said that a boys club was needed in Novato and felt that the member organizations would do much to boost the club.

David Milano, president of the Novato Boys' Club, said he was sure that the North Marin federation's campaign would be a big boost for the club.

The club has received 160 pledges of $2 per month for a year, Milano said.

"Our goal is 3,000 such memberships," he said.

New Law Aimed At Giant Mudslides

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A bill signed into law two weeks ago will guarantee state funds to prevent disastrous mudslides and flooding in the wake of California brush fires.

The bill, AB 1469, by Assemblyman Harvey Johnson, D-El Monte, allows the water resources director to declare an emergency because of fire damage to watershed lands.

The governor then may declare a disaster, and this decision then triggers a requirement that the finance director allocate funds to help prevent winter flooding.

This could include immediate work on reforestation in the burned-over areas or equipment and planning to aid local governments in preparing for the winter onslaught.

Johnson said that in the past, residents and local governments in stricken areas could only hope for state aid to cope with the fire-caused flooding.

"Although nothing will ever repay the victims of these terrible fires for their suffering, the new law at least should greatly alleviate the dire peril brought about when winter rains come months after such blazes," Johnson said.

Other candidates' nights will be Oct. 13, when Assemblyman William T. Bagley will appear, and on Oct. 20, when State Senate candidate Michael R. Peevey will speak.

WARM YUGOSLAV GREETING

President Richard Nixon is kissed on the cheek by an enthusiastic Yugoslav in Belgrade. Nixon made this unannounced handshaking foray last night shortly before ending his two-day stay in the city. Forest Says Addiction Is Health Issue

Joseph A. Forest, Democratic nominee for state Assembly, has called for revision of drug laws to improve medical and psychological treatment of addicts.

Forest, speaking Monday night at the Kent Woodlands home of Roger Kent, said that such a revision was the only way to "reduce the growing rash of burglaries committed by addicts to support their habit. The addict without means must steal daily in ever increasing amounts to support his addiction," Forest said.

The $10-a-person dinner for Forest and former Gov. Edmund G. Brown was attended by about 100 persons and netted about $800, reported George J. Silvestri Jr. of Novato, treasurer of Forest's campaign.

Forest said that of 433 bookings at the Marin County jail in a recent month, 52 per cent were for drug or alcohol abuses. "These are not so much criminal problems as they are health problems which cannot be solved by penal sanctions," Forest said, according to a press release.

Brown urged the crowd to support Forest "because we need idealistic, energetic, dedicated young men like Joe to fight the forces of reaction in the Reagan administration."

OPERA REVIEW

Sensational New Carmen Welcomed

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

SAN FRANCISCO — Many things added up to a memorable performance of Bizet's masterpiece "Carmen" at the Opera House last night.

These ingredients were a sensational new Carmen, a very strong Don Jose and Escamillo, an appealing Micaela and superlative conducting by the French Maestro, Jean Perisson.

Heralded as one of the most talked about young singers in Europe today, mezzo soprano Brigitte Fassbaender of the Munich Opera achieved a triumph as Carmen in her American debut.

Her Carmen is not a primitive, spitfire gypsty, but a beguiling, sexy enchantress, whose strong voice can smoulder with passion or explode in rage. She looks the part to perfection and moves with great freedom and grace.

At first, tenor Guy Chauvet as her soldier-lover Don Jose seemed wooden and dull, but that was really part of the character then. In the final stabbing scene, his powerful, virile voice and dramatic skill in depicting fury and despair were electrifying. His exemplary French diction was one of his best points.

Alerted by the marvelously rich quality of his big bass voice in his San Frncisco Opera debut last week in a minor role in "Tosca," Belgian singer Jose Van Dam as the bull-fighter Escamillo more than fulfilled my expectations. His handsome looks and masterful personality made Carmen's infatuation highly logical.

Of special interest to Marin opera lovers was soprano Jane Marsh, who grew up in Mill Valley, in her third role with the San Francisco Opera, that of Micaela, Don Jose's country girl sweetheart. She sang with the same soaring lyricism and warm, glowing tone as before, especially in the lovely aria "Je Dis Que Rien Ne M'Epouvante," but toward the end of Act III there was a hint of the dramatic soprano she can become in both her voice and acting.

One of the high points of Act III in the tavern was the skillful timing and splendid singing in the patter quintet sung by Carmen and a quartet composed of two more gypsy girls, soprano Shigemi Matsumoto as Frasquita and mezzo Sheila Nadler as Mercedes, with tenor Howard Fried and baritone Raymond Manton as the smugglers El Remendado and El Dancairo.

Clifford Grant made a dashing Zuniga, Don Jose's captain, with his ringing bass voice and military bearing.

A major part of the credit for the high musical quality of the whole production was due to Perisson's conducting of the orchestra with French clarity, ebullience and feeling for enhancing dramatic values.

The chorus lacked vitality in Act I but more than made up for it thereafter, especially in the final act, and the San Francisco Boys Chorus added color and motion to the street scene in the first act.

Stage direction by Lotfi Mansouri was lively and well planned, and sets were as effective as ones used in previous productions of the opera.

Peevey Raps Reagan Cuts In Education

I-J Special Report

NAPA — Michael R. Peevey of San Rafael, Democratic nominee for State Senate, has claimed that the Reagan administartion has cut state aid to elementary and secondary education from 45 to 33 per cent.

Peevey, speaking Tuesday at a reception in a Napa home, claimed that the state's share "would be even lower were it not for the strenuous efforts of the Democrats in the Assembly and the state Senate."

Peevey said the the Reagan administration had a "blind, negative attitude" toward education. "Clearly what we need in California is a return to recognition that education is the most important function of our state government," he said.

Peevey pledged that, if elected, he would work to increase the state's share to 50 per cent.

Marin Citians Turned Off, Alquist Learns

A Marin City campaign appearance scheduled yesterday by state Sen. Alfred E. Alquist of San Jose, Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, was canceled by his Marin chairman because she belatedly decided he would get a poor reception in the community.

Ruth Lederman of Kentfield, chairman of Aluist's Marin campaign, told the Independent-Journal that she had canceled the 4 p.m. appearance in the community's commercial area because "we were told that people are turned off politically in Marin City."

The handshakind tour instead was held in San Rafael on Fourth Street, she said. The San Rafael tour laster longer than expected, rMs. Lederman reported, thus forcing cancellation of the second scheduled appeacance, at 5 p.m. at the Corte Madera Shopping Center.

Advance publicity for the Marin City and Corte Madera apperances had been distributed last week, and published in the I-J. Mrs. Lederman said she changed her mind about the Marin City appearance on Monday after checking with several persons in the community.

Alquist also addressed about 65 persons last night at Mrs. Lederman's home.

Youth Arrested In Guard Murder

RICHMOND (UPI) — Police investigating the sniper slaying of Paul E. Brown, a plant guard, conducted ballistic tests on a rifle they seized while arresting a youth who said he was on leave from the Marine Corps.

Under arrest is Willie J. Turner Jr., 18, but police gave few details except to say he was taken into custody Tuesday at a home in north Richmond.

He was booked for investigation of murder, possession of an illegal weapon and stolen property.

The gun is an M16, the civilian version of the AR15, which is being used in Vietnam.

Transit System Color Design Plan

Walter Landor and Associates will present their color design program for the Golden Gate Bridge District's transit system at 9 a.m. tomorrow in district offices at the toll plaza.

The presentation of the program, to be used on the district's buses and ferries, will be made to the joint transportation and legislation-public relations committee.

The committee also is to consider hiring a public relations consultant to promote the district's pending long-range transit plan.

Man Borrows Car, Then Steals Away

Kenneth Kuskie of 391 Bolinas Road, Fairfax, told Petaluma police he had loaned his car to a Petaluma man and believed the borrower had driven it out of the country.

Police said the 1969 Chevrolet had been loaned on Sept. 22 to David Lee Johnson, 25, for a one-day trip to San Francisco.

Kuskie said he had been contacted by a bank in Memphis, Tenn. about the use of his credit cards and later received a report that Johnson was in El Paso, Tex. and may be going into Mexico.

Petaluma Sgt. William Reed said the Federal Bureau of Investigation would be asked to investigate the theft.

New Rules Sought On Eyeglasses

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) Wednesday proposed a ban on breakable eye glasses.

A proposed regulation would require that prescription glasses and sunglasses be made of shatterproof laminated glass, heat tempered glass or plastic.

The FDA said only about one fourth of the prescription glasses worn by Americans are impact resistant and that an estimated 120,000 injuries occur each year from breakage.

The agency said that use of safety glass would increase prescription eyeglass prices by about $3 per lens.

The FDA said it would allow 30 days for comments on the proposed regulation. It said it then "anticipates publishing final regulations which will make the sale of soft-glass eye lenses a violation of the food, drug, and cosmetic act."

The proposed regulation would cover all glasses except contact lenses and glasses prescribed in cases where the doctor felt impact resistant lenses "would not meet the visual requirements of a particular patient," the FDA said.

ON BELGRADE TOUR

First Ladies Visit Children's Center

BELGRADE (UPI) — While their husbands discussed Middle East politics, the American and Yugoslav first ladies visited a children's center today but could not escape photographers. The children became aggressive picture takers.

The scene was a modern educational and recreational "pioneer center" in Belgrade where Pat Nixon and Jovanka Broz Tito were greeted by a trumpet fanfare, chants and rhythmic clapping.

Mrs. Tito, speaking fluent English, pointed out features of the center for 7-to 14-year-old Pioneers, a Communist equivalent of the Scouts. Mrs. Nixon exclaimed "How darling" when she saw girls in black leotards in a dancing class and spoke to 9-year-olds in a language class.

When the wives walked into a photography class, the children whirled on them with still and movie cameras.

Mrs. Tito chuckled heartily and Mrs. Nixon smiled in mock dismay when the children dashed after them, joining the scramble of press photographers. The youngsters held their own, dodging into front-line positions to the amusement of the first ladies.

The first ladies accompanied their husbands on a quick afternoon visit to Zagreb, the Croatian capital, and Tito's birthplace at Kumrovec.

Earlier, Mrs. Nixon entertained Yugoslav women journalists over morning coffee. They asked her about her husband, complimented her on her figure and came away saying, "isn't she wonderful."

Mrs. Nixon stressed the importance of work—"if young people are busy and have to work for their money, they don't get into trouble."

She added: "I work today to help my husband. I work as long as he does, but I don't know if I accomplish as much."

At a state dinner at the White Palace Wednesday night, Mrs. Nixon and President Tito, who has relied on an interpreter during his talks with Nixon, engaged in lively conversation in English.

Six Cities Get Safety Plaques

Six Marin cities received plaques last night from the California State Automobile Association for pedestrian safety.

Sausalito led the list with no pedestrian deaths for the 15th consecutive year, with San Anselmo closely behind having had none for 14 years.

Novato received its award for the ninth consecutive year, never recording a pedestrian fatality since it was incorporated.

Mill Valley and Larkspur received awards for the fifth consecutive year without fatalities and Corte Madera a fourth-year award.

Jack Craemer, editor and publisher of the Independent-Journal and an association director, presented the plaques to mayors and police chiefs at a meeting of the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen in Belvedere.

Craemer reported that in recent years there has been a downward trend in pedestrian fatalities.

Director Wins Nude Scene Case

QUINCY, Mass. (UPI)—Otto Preminger was acquitted Wednesday on a charge of desecrating the cemetery where he filmed a nude scene.

The nude scene, filmed in Braintree's blue hill cemetery in 1969, featured actress Lisa Minelli in the movie, "Tell Me That You Love Me, Junie Moon."

A Randolph woman whose husband is buried in the cemetery filed the charges in district court. Preminger's attorneys had sought to handle the case in the courts without the director present, but officials refused. He was in court for the decision.

Senate Prepares Legislation To Halt Health Overcharges

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate is preparing legislation aimed at preventing doctors, hospitals and nursing homes from raking in unearned money from Medicaid and Medicare overcharges.

The provision was adopted Wednesday by the Senate Finance Committee as an amendment to the House-passed Social Security bill. It would set up a medical panel to seek out abuses .

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, sponsored the amendment based on an 18-month investigatioon by the committee.

That investigation showed widespread instances of:

—Doctors charging for services they did not administer.

—Hospitals allowing interns and residents to give treatment while paments went to staff doctors.

—Nursing homes overcharging.

—Unneeded medicines and inoculations given patients.

—Doctors billing twice for the same service.

The Bennett amendment would establish professional standard review organizations to oversee Medicare and Medicaid practices in areas with at least 300 doctors.

The so-called "peer" panels would be composed of doctors who would hire, for example, doctors to audit the work of other doctors, dentists to check dentists and therapistst o check therapists.

The Bennett amendment was adopted by voice vote in executive session Wednesday and technically is subject to reconsideration before the bill is reported out of the committee.

The Social Security bill unlikely will be passed before next month's elections because committee Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., wants to include it with Presidnt Nixon's welfare reform bill that guarantees an annual income of $1,600.

Long said he had to adjourn the meeting Wednesday when its members, apparently more intent on the elections at home than working on Capitol Hill, "just disappeared" from the committee room.

Miller Calls Health Plan A 'Gimmick'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Democratic leader John J. Miller has labeled a "rigged political gimmick" the Reagan Administration's tentative plan to have private insurance firms take over the Medi-Cal program.

"The governor's proposal is to turn over the care of the poor, the elderly and the dispossessed in California to insurance companies whose sole purpose is to make a profit," the Berkeley lawmaker said Wednesday in a statement.

Under the proposal, announced Tuesday, the state would get out of the business of administering the $1.2 billion program for the needy. The plan would require legislative approval.

Dr. Earl W. Brian, chief administrator of Medi-Cal, is heading a 16-member commission studying the possibility of scrapping the state-administered Medi-Cal and replacing it with privately financed health insurance.

Miller said the announcement of the proposal was a "campaign gimmick hastily put together as a means of betraying the honest efforts of the 16-man State Health Care Study Commission which was appointed some three months ago."

Gov. Ronald Reagan has made the cost of Medi-Cal an issue in his re-election campaign, asserting that some recipients get more tax-paid health care than many persons can provide for themselves.

Marine's Sense Of Delicacy Offended

COSTA MESA, Calif. (UPI) —Marine Cpl. Clarence E. Rogers entered the only nude entertainment bar in this community Wednesday and captured the two performers, Jacquelynn Featherly, 25, and Cheri Fleming, 22.

He placed the girls under citizens arrest for indecent exposure, claiming their on-stage antics offended his sense of delicacy. Police booked the girls on Rogers' complaint.

Wallet Is Stolen With $212 In Cash

Theft of a wallet containing $212 in cash and traveler's checks, plus credit cards, has been reported to San Rafael police by Stephanie Sue Matthews, 22, of Portland, Ore.

She said the wallet was taken from her purse in her room at the Holiday Inn Saturday evening while she was attending a meeting. She did not report it missing until she searched unsuccessfully for it yesterday while checking out of the motel.

Russ Protests Anti-Soviet Incidents, Threatens U.S.

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union today sent a formal protest to the United States against anti-Soviet violence by "Zionist extremists" in America.

The Soviets demanded U. S. authorites take steps to stop the violence or else risk "unfavorable consequences in relations between our two states."

U. S. Embassy officials in Moscow said the embassy minister-counselor, Boris H. Klosson, was summoned to the Foreign Ministry during the morning to be handed the note. It was then transmitted through State Department channels to Washington.

The note referred to attacks on Soviet trade and diplomatic offices and disruption of performances by Soviet musical and dance groups. One of the latest such incidents was the explosion of a tear gas bomb in a Chicago theater where the Moiseyev dance ensemble was performing.

Most of the actions have been carried out by groups protesting Soviet refusal to permit Jews to migrate to Israel, or protesting Soviet support for the Arab states in the Middle East.

The note singled out the Jewish Defense League, "whose provocative sorties create obstacles to the discharge of official functions by institutions of the U.S.S.R. in the United States and endanger the personal security of Soviet diplomats and their representatives.

The Soviet note said violence has been directed against the Soviet Embassy in Washington, the Soviet Mission at the United Nations, offices of the state airline, Aeroflot, and the state tourist agency, Intourist, and Amtorg, the trade representation in the United States.

Only Three Blacks Found Among Top Firms' Leaders

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Although the nation's top 50 corporations have 3,182 senior officers and directors, only three of them are black, according to a joint survey by the local Race Relations Information Center and the Community News Service of New York.

Survey coordinator John Egerton said the list of corporations studied in the survey was taken from the top of Fortune magazine's annual listing of 750 corporate giants.

The firms were asked if their senior executives and board members, listed in this year's edition of POR's Register of Corporations, included any blacks.

The Race Relations Information Center is an "essentilaly journalistic" group financed through the Ford Foundation while the Community News Service is affiliated with the New School for Social Research.

"In checking the top 50 corporations," Egerton said," we found that none of their senior executives — not a single one — and only three members of the boards of directors are black."

Three Arrested In Bank Robbery

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Three young men, including the son of a bank executive, were arrested Wednesday in connection with a $4,800 robbery of the Bank of America's Noe Valley branch.

The arrests followed a search of the home of Gerald R. Stonum, 18. Police said they found $3,550, including marked money from the bank.

Police also said they found evidence to identify Lawrence M. Lochner, 17, and Jackson L. Hertogs, 17, as "principals" in the robbery.

Lochner, the son of a United California Bank branch manager, and Hertogs, the son of a San Francisco attorney, were turned over to juvenile authorities. Stonum was booked for robbery.

Old Adobe Board To Discuss Meeting

A proposal for a joint meeting with the Petaluma City Council and planning commission will be considered at the Old Adobe School District trustees' meeting at 7:45 p.m. today.

The school board has said it would like the meeting to discuss subdivisions planned in the district and city-school district cooperation in the placement of schools and parks.

Off-Season Fees Start At Park

Reduced off-season fees for overnight camping are in effect at Samuel P. Taylor State Park, near Lagunitas, the State Parks and Recreation Department has announced.

Available at the park are $10 ticket books good for 10 nights of camping, a rate of $1 a night, as compared to the regular fee of $3 a night.

Campers have to purchase the 10-ticket book to gain the reduced fee, otherwise they will have to pay the $3 a night fee.

There would be no saving for campers at Mount Tamalpais State Park since the regular fee is $1 a night.

The reduced rate ticket books will be in effect through Feb. 28 at all state parks except the desert parks.

SCHOOL ELECTIONS

Redwood Going 'Vote-A-Matic'

The days of political bossism and ballot box stuffing may have come to an end today at Redwood High School, as members of the freshman class lined up to cast their ballots on "vote-a-matic" equipment borrowed from the county.

The horse play which usually surrounds school elections has now given way to a learning experience, according to Kirk A. Pessner, a senior and this year's voting commissioner at the school.

"Elections in the past have been kind of a mockery — stuffing the ballot boxes and that sort of thing," said Pressner, who dreamed up the idea of using the machines and saw it through.

"And this is a learning experience for the students," he continued. "If the voting age is ever lowered to 18, then we will know what the procedure is."

Up for election this year at the school are 11 candidates for four freshmen student body positions.

Running for president are Justin Brightbill, Mark Fagley, Bredan Lapperd and Evelyn Nakagawa, while for vice president are Kathy Keilmen, Kellie Oneal, Peter Oser, and Lisa Ridge.

Only two candidates are running for treasurer, Laura Listug and Nancy Lowenshal.

Carol Goepp is running unopposed for secretary.

The election was to take place today and tomorrow during the noon hour.

"We expect to have the results at least a couple hours earlier by using the equipment," he continued. "It used to take us until 5:30 p.m. or so to count the ballots but we hope to have them counted by 3 p.m. Friday."

A phone call to the county elections office yesterday found an elections officer as enthusiastic about the experiment as Pessner.

"I think its a great idea," said Peter Meyer. "Other schools have thought about it on occasion, but no one has followed through on it until Kirk Pessner."

He said the cost to the county amounts to nothing more than letting the students use the machines which would be just stored anyway.

"I gave them some sample ballots which were given to us by salesman," he continued, "and the counting will be done on a school district sorter."

He said he would lend the machines to any school because "we get a great benefit from the voter education."

Other freshmen classes in the Tamalpais School District, while not using the machines, have also scheduled class elections.

Tamalpais High School will hold its election on Wednesday with a deadline for candidate filings set for tomorrow.

Sir Francis Drake High School was to hold its election today with results due this afternoon.

Running for president are Kevin Fradelizio and Maria Zaharoff, while for vice president are Cheryl Arends, Kathy Hamm, Theresa Scheppelman and Jean Yjord.

For treasurer are Cindy Adkins and Diane Olson, while for secretary are Kathy Davlin and Martha Lewis.

Burroughs Takes Over Computing

IBM is out, and Burroughs Corp. equipment has taken over the computing program for the county, Data Processing Chief Joseph B. Leach announced today.

"We released the International Business Machines 360/30 the first of September and are now running live material on the Burroughs B-2500," said Leach. "As with all new programs, we'll have some bugs to iron out, but everything ought to be running smoothly in a month or two."

Under a lease purchase agreement with Burroughs, the county pays $9,400 per month for the rental of all equipment, as compared with $10,443 per month paid to IBM.

During the conversion period, which started last January, Burroughs sent its equipment and men, and converted the programs used in the IBM machines to fit the Burroughs equipment, all at Burroughs expense.

"There was no out-of-pocket cost to the county," said Leach.

The new Burroughs equipment has greater capacity (90,000 memory units) than the IBM 360 (65,000 memory units) and can run more than one job at a time, explained Leach.

"On the old machine, we were running three shifts a day, six or seven days a week, but immediately after the conversion, we were down to two shifts, five days a week."

Leach said that increased capacity provided by the Burroughs equipment will meet increasing demands for data processing by various county departments. For example, his staff is now studying how best the computer can be used to replace manual clerical work in municipal court and in the sheriff's office.

Reds Say U.S.-Viet Tie A Peace Rejection

PARIS (UPI) —A Communist spokesman said today they considered Ambassador David K. E. Bruce's refusal to ditch the Saigon government a rejection of the Viet Cong peace plan.

Before the session began, both North Vietnam and the Viet Cong called on the United States to accept their latest peace offer as the only way to end the Vietnam War speedily.

One part of the plan called for the United States to dismiss the top three officials of the Saigon government. Bruce told them today the United States considered their dismissal demands as "unreasonable."

Bruce, who will confer with President Nixon on Sunday in Ireland on his failure so far to unfreeze the peace talks deadlock, told North Vietnam's negotiator and the Viet Cong foreign minister, Madame Nguyen Thi Binh:

"Let me merely remark, that it is unreasonable to demand the ouster of the president, the vice president and the prime minister of the Republic of Vietnam before you will negotiate seriously with that government."

Bruce added, "It is as if having agreed to the participation of the government of the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam and the so-called Provisional Revolutionary Government (of the Viet Cong) in these meetings we were now to say that the leadership of your side must be removed before we would be willing to negotiate seriously with you. That would be an unreasonable demand and a breach of our agreement."

Bruce urged the Communists to enter into "meaningful negotiations."

Bruce also repeated a charge he made last week that Hanoi and the Viet Cong "seek to use American prisoners of war and their anguished families as hostages in an attempt to gain your political objectives. The American people will not accept the use of our men as political pawns."

Bruce was responding to a Communist eight-point "peace initiative" presented Sept. 17. He said he has continued to study the Communist proposal. "I have seen nothing which leads me to revise my opinion that your fundamental demands seem unchanged," he said. "You have given no clarification of your proposals that indicate you have modified the demands and preconditions you have been insisting on for the past 20 months."

"The real question now is, are you prepared to enter into meaningful negotiations with all the parties represented here in which both the proposals you have made as well as our proposals would be discussed?" Bruce said.

"Our side stands ready for such talks."

Luna 16 Is 72nd Soviet Satellite

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI)—Luna 16, the Russian unmanned spacecraft which traveled to the moon, picked up lunar rock samples and then returned to earth, was the 72nd satellite launched this year by the Soviet Union, U.S. space officials said today.

Spokesmen at the Aerospace Defense Command Headquarters said the Soviets now have placed 2,061 man-made objects in space since they first launched the space era with Sputnik I on Oct. 4, 1957.

The United States has placed 2,427 objects in space and all other countries have launched 67 satellites.

Day Says Key Issue To Be Area Growth

Richard Day, Southern Sonoma candidate for supervisor, said today that the areas's "unplanned and uncontrolled growth" and his opponent's role in the growth process would be a key issue in the Nov. 3 election campaign.

In remarks prepared for a coffee meeting today at the home of Rod Hug, 1341 Glenwood Drive, Petaluma, Day identified his opponent, Philip L. Joerger, as a "land speculator" and city councilman and claimed that "both in his private and public activities, Phil Jerger has shown no interest in curtailing the drastic growth problems that now affect east Petaluma."

"Thanks to the 'growth at any cost' philosophy supported by my opponent, many Petalumans can look forward to continued double session schools, cross-town bussing of the children and totally inadequate neighborhood recreational space and facilities," Day said.

"It is vital," the attorney said, "that the citizens of this area have representation on the board of supervisors whose concern extends beyond the interests of land speculators, developers and subdividers."

Day said he has frequently shown his interest in planning and conservation and currently serves on the board of directors of three conservation organizations including Sonoma County Organization for a Planned Environment (SCOPE), California's Organized to acquire Access to State Tidelands (COASST) and the recently created environment center.

Woman Claims Denial Into Nursing Program

A Mill Valley woman claims she has been refused readmittance to the College of Marin's registered nursing program because she is a Negro and because she disagreed with the program's teaching methods.

Doris Thomas, 40, who has 20 years experience as a vocational nurse, said she has appealed to the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare to investigate the college for possible violation of the equal education provisions of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

Two student groups at the college have sided with Mrs. Thomas. Tony Romero of the Third World Liberation Front called the readmittance refusal a "clear case of institutional racism."

Romero's group and the Black Students Union say they have given the college until November, when the state's accreditation team will visit the Kentfield campus and the college has slated a tax increase election, to readmit Mrs. Thomas or face "affirmative action."

The college admits dropping Mrs. Thomas from the program, but said she "seemed not to appear to believe in the program" and cited personal problems she encountered and her mode of dress.

A college report issue Wednesday said Mrs. Thomas experienced a "difficulty in understanding and accepting a basic theory of nursing education."

"While I was in the program, I disagreed with the theories the instructors were using," she said. "To them it was a case of the old cliche, 'Another one of those smart niggers.' "

Mrs. Thomas was admitted to the program last fall, but failed two courses and was dropped.

In discussions with the nursing staff, she was advised to continue her nursing studies in the spring and retake the failed courses this year.

She said it was her understanding that she would be readmitted to the program if she successfully passed the spring semester courses which she did.

However, her application for readmittance this fall was rejected in May.

Fugitive Makes Appearance In Court On Various Charges

Former convict Tobert Wayne Kitzmiller, 34, of Fairfax, captured after a bullet-punctured chase Tuesday in Tamalpais Valley, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a variety of charges.

He was accused of two burglaries in 1969 and a count of possessing stolen property last April, but no charge was filed yesterday in connection with Tuesday's events. It was expected new charges might be filed today by the district attorney's office.

His companion, Gary Lee Miller, 24, of no known address, was released from Marin County Jail to be turned over to Los Angeles and Nebraska authorities by whom he is wanted on drug and embezzlement charges.

Kitzmiller also appeared yesterday in Marin Superior Court on a case in which he is charged with threatening a woman friend, Joan B. Carrillo, 33, in her San Rafael apartment July 30. He is accused of four offenses stemming from the fracas in which he allegedly threatened her with a sawed-off rifle.

In this case his bail was raised to $5,000 and the matter continued to next Wednesday.

He was to appear again today in Municipal Court on the cases charging burglaries in Inverness in October 1969 and Fairfax in July 1969 and with possessing stolen property in Sausalito in April.

Bail on each of these cases yesterday was set at $5,000, bringing his total Marin bail to $20,000. Kitzmiller is also wanted by Sonoma and San Francisco County authorities.

He and Miller were captured after officers shot Kitzmiller in the shoulder during a chase from the Fireside Motel to Laurel and Marin avenues in Tamalpais Valley.

Boys Reprimanded For Grass Fire

Two 14-year-old Terra Linda boys were reprimanded and released to their parents after starting a grass fire yesterday with a homemade firecracker, San Rafael police said today.

The blaze at the western end of Freitas Parkway burned 100 square feet at 4:30 p.m. but did no damage, San Rafael firemen reported.

Police said the boys admitted trying to set off a firecracker made of black powder stuffed into a cardboard tube. When it spouted fire instead of exploding, they tried to stamp out the grass blaze, but became frightened and ran away. They later confessed to causing the blaze, police said.

The first automatic transmission was introduced by Oldsmobile in 1937.

Pilots To Race For United Fund

Snoopy and his arch rival, the Red Baron, will begin a cross-country air race at noon tomorrow at Santa Rosa to publicize United Crusade campaigns in 22 cities.

At each leg of the race, the losing pilot will donate $500 to the United Crusade agency in that city. The pilots expect to arrive in New York City on Oct. 25.

Rollan Rea, president of the Petaluma United Crusade, will be on hand to accept a $500 donation to the Sonoma County United Crusade.

Supervisors Back College Propositions

The College of Marin's tax and bond measures (Propositions B and C) on the Nov. 3 ballot have won unanimous backing from the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

On a motion by Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and a second by William A. Gnoss, the supervisors voted 4 to 0 Tuesday to support both propositions. Chairman John F. McInnis was absent because he is on vacation for three more weeks.

Dr. John A. Grasham, superintendent-president of the college, explained that the measures are needed to open and oprate a second campus in Novato, complete the Kentfield campus to its capacity, and provide operational funds.

Proposition B would replace the current 35-cent tax rate levy, which is limited to capital improvement and construction use, with a 25-cent tax for general purposes.

Propostion C asks for a $16.9 million bond issue to open phase one of the north Marin campus. The bonds would be repaid over a 25-year period.

Passage of both measures will bring no increase in the local tax, said Dr. Grasham. The 16.9 million bond issue will bring $8.2 million in state and federal matching funds.

Reminder On Secrecy Act For Schools

Marin County School Boards Association members were advised last night to think twice before going into "executive session."

The advice came from Douglas J. Maloney, county counsel; Richard V. Godino, his assistant, and two Independent-Journal editors, Bryce W. Anderson and Robert M. Strebeigh, at a meeting of the association at the county schools office in Corte Madera. Vice President John W. Boyd of the Larkspur board presided.

Maloney pointed out that public bodies such as school boards must first determine that the reason for a closed session is one of the few permissible under the Ralph M. Brown Act, California's anti-secrecy law. But he suggested they should go farther and ask themselves whether it would be for the public good to have the discussion in closed session rather than before the public.

Anderson held that the annual closed sessions for "evaluation of teachers" do not fall within the closed-session provisions of the act, and suggeteds open discussion might result in better the act, and suggested open disstances where school boards' actions in secrecy have given rise to public suspicion.

Judge Backs Plan For Job Finding

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A Superior Court judge has rejected a move to block a Reagan Administration experiment to determine whether private employment agencies can find jobs for welfare recipients.

Judge George E. Paras Wednesday ruled against the California State Employes Association (CSEA), which contended the test program violates the state constitution and is a misuse of federal funds. CSEA had sought an injunction against the Department of Human Resources Development.

The state employes' group contended that finding jobs for welfare recipients should be left in the hands of state civil servants who are trained to handle the complex problems of hardcore unemployed.

A Greater Adversary Role For Press Urged

It is important to democracy for journalists to confront public officials in "an adversary way," Professor William L. Rivers of the Department of Communication at Stanford University, asserted last night.

Speaking before the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen, Rivers advocated that the public be properly informed and the failures of journalists and government be remedied.

He emphasized the need for the public to be informed before decisions are made by citing the move in 1963 to send large numbers of troops into Vietnam.

Would the United States be in the "morass" it's in now in Vietnam if reporters had been present when President John F. Kennedy's advisers talked about going into Vietnam with other than advisory forces, possibly up to 300,000-350,000 troops?," Rivers asked.

"Can you imagine if the voters had been included in the debate about the possibility . . . can you imagine we would have gotten into the morass we're in now?"

Rivers spoke of the faults of government officials and journalists, which he contended inhibit the truth before it reaches the people.

Reporters, being human, are likely to be biased through the process of selective perception and selective retention, he said.

"Through selective perception we see what we want to see and through selective retention, we retain what we want to retain," Rivers explained.

In places where there are groups of reporters, such as Washington, D.C., there is a "problem of the elite," where "you see reporters leaning upon each other."

For example, he said, James Reston, N.Y. Times writer, "one of the elite" is plagiarized and pirated. The result is instead of individual probes by reporters, there are "clusters of people leaning on one another."

Concerning government officials, Rivers said they have paid tribute to a free press since the start of this nation, but have never been able to live with it. "The enmity of the government and the press is as old as the United States," he declared.

Reporters must recognize that public officials are human and don't like to admit their errors publicly or be questioned closely.

Mill Valley Mayor George E. Wickham noted that violation of the Ralph M. Brown Act, governing secret meetings of public bodies, is considered "bad," and asked Rivers to compare this with "biased reporting or reporting only one side of an issue."

Rivers replied: "I think they're equally bad."

Whether officials confer in secret or journalists make mistakes or fail to inform the public, the end result is the same, Rivers contended. "Democracy can't work properly."

Rivers said that every President has managed the news, including Abraham Lincoln who held his Emancipation Proclamation for two months, before releasing it. "He decided to release it when the Union side was winning," Rivers said.

He described President Richard M. Nixon as having "perhaps the most astute approach," to news management, noting that the President goes on the air "directly" without being interviewed by Washington correspondents, without being questioned.

Under this method, he said, there is no adversary, and "there is a need for an adversary, for someone to question," Rivers contended.

Despite the faults of journalists and government, the system is better than relying on "word of mouth," he said.

About 75 persons attended the session at the San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere.

More Open Balloting Is Proposed

The Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen last night introduced a proposed change in its bylaws which would eliminate secret balloting for a chairman and appointments to various agencies.

The council has voted openly in the past on issues, but has had secret ballots on the appointments and chairman election.

Under the proposed change, the votes would be by written ballot with each city identified.

San Rafael City Councilman Harry A. Barbier objected, saying he was for a secret ballot, while Ross Councilman Ralph C. Walker backed an open ballot saying he couldn't imagine any occasion where a public official should be able to vote in secret.

The proposed amendment will be before the council for adoption at its next meeting, Oct. 21, in Corte Madera, next host city. Last night's meeting was at San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere.

San Rafael Councilman John A. Miskimen suggested that rather than vote by cities, the councilmen consider voting individually, under the "one-man, one-vote" concept.

San Rafael was the lone city to vote against the by-law amendment providing a written ballot with cities identified.

The council makes appointments to such agencies as the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District Board, the Marin County Transit District, and executive board of the Association of Bay Area Governments, and recommends to supervisors persons for appointment to the Golden Gate Bridge District.

The Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen Also:

CHAIRMAN — Received as nominees for the post of chairman for 1970-71 Robert B. Simmons of Corte Madera and James F. Reed of San Anselmo; and as nominees for the city manager seat on the Centralized Police Services Council, City Mgr. William L. Cavalli of Belvedere and City Mgr. James H. McCown of San Rafael, with voting to be held at the council's Oct. 21 session.

LEASH LAW — Heard a suggestion from Mill Valley that cities consider seeking an amendment to the countywide animal control ordinance which would provide for a "leash law" in commercial areas.

POLICE SERVICES — Heard a report from Marin County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell on the status of the proposal to form police services districts in unincorporated areas, whereby residents in thos areas would pay for extra police services they required, rather than have cities share the costs. The council endorsed the formation of the districts.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned until Oct. 21 in Corte Madera, place and time not set.

Jewish Hostages Win Race For Holy Days

NEW YORK (UPI)—For Trans World Airlines and three of the last five hostages released by Palestinian guerrillas, it was a race with the sun.

The Jewish New Year, Rosh Hashanah, began at 6:40 p.m. Wednesday and Orthodox law requires the observer to be in his home before sundown. The three Jewish hostages, including two rabbis, made it—with help.

U.S. Customs agents boarded the TWA plane, which had flown from Athens, to hastily clear Rabbi Abraham Harari-Rafoul, 35, his brother, Rabbi Joseph Harari-Rafoul, 33, and Dr. Gerald Berkowitz, 31, so they could get to their homes. The plane landed at 5:45 p.m.

The brothers then hurried to a waiting New York City police car which was escorted by a Transit Authority patrol car to their homes.

Berkowitz, a chemistry professor, held a 20-minute news conference. At the urging of relatives, he then hurried to a waiting police car with his wife and 2-year-old daughter and was taken to the home of his brother-in-law in White Plains, N.Y., a New York City suburb.

Robert N. Schwartz, 48, of Washington, D.C., and James Woods, 38, of Prairie Village, Kan.—both Defense Department employees stationed in Bangkok—were the other two hostages on the returning TWA plane. A sixth and last hostage, James Hollingsworth, 43, of Sacramento, Calif., a State Department employe stationed in Algiers, flew from Amman, Jordan, to Berlin, where his wife awaited him. Schwartz and Woods flew from New York to Washington last evening.

Schwartz, before leaving, told newsmen the guerrillas "were not interested in us at all as persons who had special work or knowledge." He said the six hostages were kept in a house in Irid and that the Jordanian army "shelled and strafed the town without any particular care."

Bomb Explodes

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—A bomb was thrown at an army and police patrol early today near a cemetery on the edge of the Roman Catholic Bogside district, police said.

Eating Woodcocks May Be Harmful

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Audubon Society says woodcocks are so full of DDT that eating them may be hazardous to human health.

Charles H. Callison, society executive vice president, said Wednesday he sent letters to Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Elliot L. Richardson and Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel, saying he recommended a ban on hunting the bird, sometimes called a "timberdoodle," along the Atlantic flyway.

Callison said Canada banned all hunting of the bird recently when tests showed they averaged 65 parts of DDT per million. Both Canadian and United States governments permit only 7 parts a million in the fat of hogs, cattle and sheep. One of the birds tested contained 773 parts a million, he said.

Woodcock hunting season opened today in many areas.

Temporary Order To Block Fire Strike

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Superior Court Judge William Gallagher Wednesday issued a temporary restraining order prohibiting city firemen from going on strike.

The order, which will be in effect until an Oct. 15 hearing, was obtained by the city of Sacramento. Gallagher based his decision on the city's argument that a public employes' strike is illegal and that firemen must remain on the job to protect lives and property in the city.

Cesar Chavez Signs First Contract With Tomato Firm

SALINAS (UPI) — Cesar Chavez' farm union has signed its first contract with a tomato firm, Brown and Hill of King City.

The pact, announced Wednesday, is also the first the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee has signed since it came to term Aug. 30 with Inter Harvest, Inc., a lettuce grower.

Pay under the contract will be somewhat higher than specified in pacts the Teamsters Union hold with some other growers.

Field hands will receive 20 cents for picking a 24-pound bucket of tomatoes, instead of 18 cents. Some other jobs in the fields will pay $2.50 an hour, or 25 cents more than in the Teamster pact.

The union said it also is negotiating with The Meyer Tomato Company, the state's largest harvester of green tomatoes.

After a 10-day interruption, talks were resumed Wednesday with Freshpict Foods, a lettuce firm, and with a group of strawberry growers, the union added.

Hoover Offers Ways To Stem Crime Wave

WASHINGTON (UPI) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says only "an aroused citizenry and swift and certain punishment by the courts" can stem a spreading wave of murders of policemen.

"When a law enforcement officer dies at the hands of a killer, part of our system of law dies with him," Hoover said in the monthly FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin. "When a policeman is assaulted or slain, the criminal significance of the incident extends far beyond the victim officer. It extends to the door of every law-abiding citizen."

This 'Goldilocks' Steals TV, Too

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—Police were looking for a modern Goldilocks today.

They said Carmi Burton reported to police Wednesday somebody had made porridge on his tove and rested in his bed while he was away.

But there ws one switch from the old children's fable. Burton's chairs were all in good shape, but the TV set was missing.

COAAST To Elect Board Of Directors

A new board of directors will be elected at the meeting of Californians Organized to Acquire Access to State Tidelands (COAAST) on Monday at 8 p.m. in the faculty lounge at Santa Rosa Junior College.

Charles E. Hinkle, acting president, said current conservation issues will be reviewed after the election. New members will be accepted at the meeting.

Back From Snorkeling Off A South Pacific Island

By MOLLY MARIN

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Jacobs of Tiburon returned Monday from their first trip to Moorea and Bora Bora. They shopped in Papeete, but stayed on the smaller islands because of the friendliness of the people.

They took the seven-minute plane ride from Papeete to Moorea on the "Tahiti Missile," a two-engine Otter and "practically helped fly the plane," says Mrs. Jacobs. They stayed at the Club Mediterranee and were entertained by the top tamaraa dancers.

On the beautiful island of Bora Bora, they snorkeled among abundant tropical fish, rode bikes on the dirt road and took a ride in a glass-bottom boat.

"We had more fun at the opening of a native school," says Mrs. Jacobs. "We learned the tamaraa by dancing with the Tahitians and were served the local beer at the party. It was fun to dance with such fabulous dancers! The dance floors are outdoors, a cement slab laid on the sand."

Their main impression was the kindness and friendliness of the islanders.

MR. AND MRS. Gary P. Anderson of Concord are parents of their first child, a son, Eric, born Sept. 22 in Concord. The baby is the first grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sherman Clark of San Rafael. Mr. Clark is a native of Marin County as are his parents, Mrs. Carl Wesley Clark of San Rafael, the baby's great grandmother, and the late Dr. Clark.

The infant's mother is the former Charlotte Clark, a graduate of San Rafael High School and College of Marin. His paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Anderson of San Francisco.

JUDGE ROBERT B. Arkell has returned to his home in Longview, Wash., following a visit with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Arkell of Corte Madera.

A COCKTAIL party tonight at the Tiburon home of Mrs. Thomas K. Drohan will mark the kick-off of the annual membership drive of the Marin Regional Council of the San Francisco Symphony Foundation. Mrs. Drohan is president of the council, whose drive will start Monday and continue through Nov. 9.

HAIVNG MANY unusual and exciting experiences on their year-long tour of Europe are Dana Corliss and her friend, Elina Halstrom of oMnterey Park, according to Dana's mother, Mrs. Dale Corliss of Mill Valley.

Dana, who was graduated from Tamalpais High School in June, and Elina left on Aug. 14. So far they have visited Frankfurt, Germany; the Netherlands, where they saw the E. T. Hoppes of Mill Valley, who are in Amsterdam for three years; Calais, France; and London, England.

At present they are in Ireland. Both accomplished horsewomen, they attended the International Horse Show in Dublin. They wanted to ride in a fox hunt, and were able to arrange to work as grooms and organize the office of the famed Padjy Ryan, master of the Scarteen Hounds at Knocklong, County Limerick , Ireland, who invited them to participate.

They are now riding in hunts three times a week. At the end of their first hunt Dana was awarded the fox's tail.

The girl plan to winter in Spain and return to Ireland in the spring. Mrs. Corliss is planning to join Dana then and visit some of her favorite places with her.

WORLD TRAVELERS and yachtsmen, Mr. and Mrs. Coulter McKeever of San Rafael celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sept. 22. They are planning a two-month stay in Mexico, where they go once or twice a year and will take a four-month world cruise later this year. (Independent-Journal photo)

Consumer Protection Series Is Offered

Six weekly lectures on "Consumer Protection in the '70's" are scheduled this fall at the University of California Extension Center, 55 Laguna Street in San Francisco.

James R. McCall, Deputy Attorney General in the Consumer Fraud and Antitrust Section of the state Attorney General's office, will conduct the program on Wednesdays from 7 to 9 p.m., beginning Oct. 14. Lectures cover the history of consumer protection; major federal and state statutes including the Unruh, Rees-Levering, Truth-in-Lending, and Truth-in-Packaging acts; consumer protection and the poor, and actions individuals can take in registering complaints and seeking legislative reform.

Also scheduled this fall is an extension program on "Better Health through Better Nutrition," which meets on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to noon, Oct. 3, 17 and 31, on the U.C. Berkeley campus. Discussions cover diet as a key factor in daily health, the effect of diet on physical and mental development and changes in metabolism during various stages of life. Participants may attend individual lectures or enroll for the series. Mildred Bennett, U.C. lecturer in nutrition, will be assisted by guest lecturers in medical, dental and other health science fields.

"Mushrooms" — their identification, distribution, structure, and economic significance in the Bay region — will be examined in an extension course taught by Harry D. Thiers, San Francisco State College professor of biology. The class offers lectures, demonstrations, field trips and practice in identifying common species by the use of taxonomic keys. It meets Mondays from 7 to 9 p.m., starting Oct. 26 at extension's San Francisco Center.

California's wealth of useful wild plants will also be examined in the course "Indian Plants/Survival Foods" which meets Thursdays from 7 to 10 p.m. beginning Oct. 29 at the San Francisco center. Participants will learn to identify important food, medicinal and dye plants, collect them and prepare them for use under the direction of the instructor John L. Kipping, naturalist with the Strybing Arboretum.

Further information and enrollment forms are available from U.C. extension offices in San Francisco and Berkeley.

Sesame Street Day Camps Held Successful In New York City

NEW YORK (UPI) — An experiment in the early education of pre-school children by teen-agers took the form of Sesame Street Day Camps in New York City.

The experiment set out to prepare youngsters for public schools and to improve attitudes and academic skills of teachers.

Some 1,500 pre-schoolers of all raves and 240 teen-age instructors participated. The teachers, all members of the Neighborhood Youth Corps, were trained by the Children's Television Workshop, producer of "Sesame Street."

THE DAY camp curriculum consisted of daily viewing of Sesame Street, follow-up lessons to reinforce the material learned from the show, field trips and food periods. The classes met five days a week from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., with recesses.

The project was funded by New York City's Youth Services Agency through a $68,000 federal grant.

Both the city agency and the Workshop now are studying young children and others involved.

Although about 17 public school buildings and makeshift sites were used for the camps, the largest, with an enrollment of 150, was at Andrew Jackson High School in Queens.

PAULA ROOKS, the 19-year-old director of the camp there, felt the experiment was successful.

"This was what we needed for our young children, especially in the black community," she said. Andrew Jackson High School is located in a predominantly black and Puerto Rican neighborhood.

Miss Rooks, a sophomore at Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va., admitted that in the beginning she really didn't think she would be able to work with such small children.

"But I found out I could, and I loved it," she said. "I really learned a lot from the kids."

She said the major problem was a lack of proper facilities.

"We really needed more room and equipment," she said. "We had the children and the teachers."

One of the teen-age teachers, Mireille Christophe, 16, agreed on th success of the camp.

"Some of the kids really didn't know anything," she said, "not even their names. But when camp was over they knew that and a lot more.

"I HAD one little boy about six years old who took almost a week to learn to recognize the letter 'A'. But by the time camp ended, he knew that and more than half the alphabet."

Miss Christopher said she enjoyed working with the children.

"I wanted them to think of me as a friend as well as a teacher," she said.

The teen-age instructors were paid $40 a week.

Alan Dummett, 15 and a student at the New York High School of Art and Design, worked as a special tutor, giving individual help to those who needed it.

"I really think the camp helped the kids," he said. "It will be easier for them when they enter regular school because of the summer classroom experience. Everything won't be totally new."

DUMMETT SAID the program even helped him.

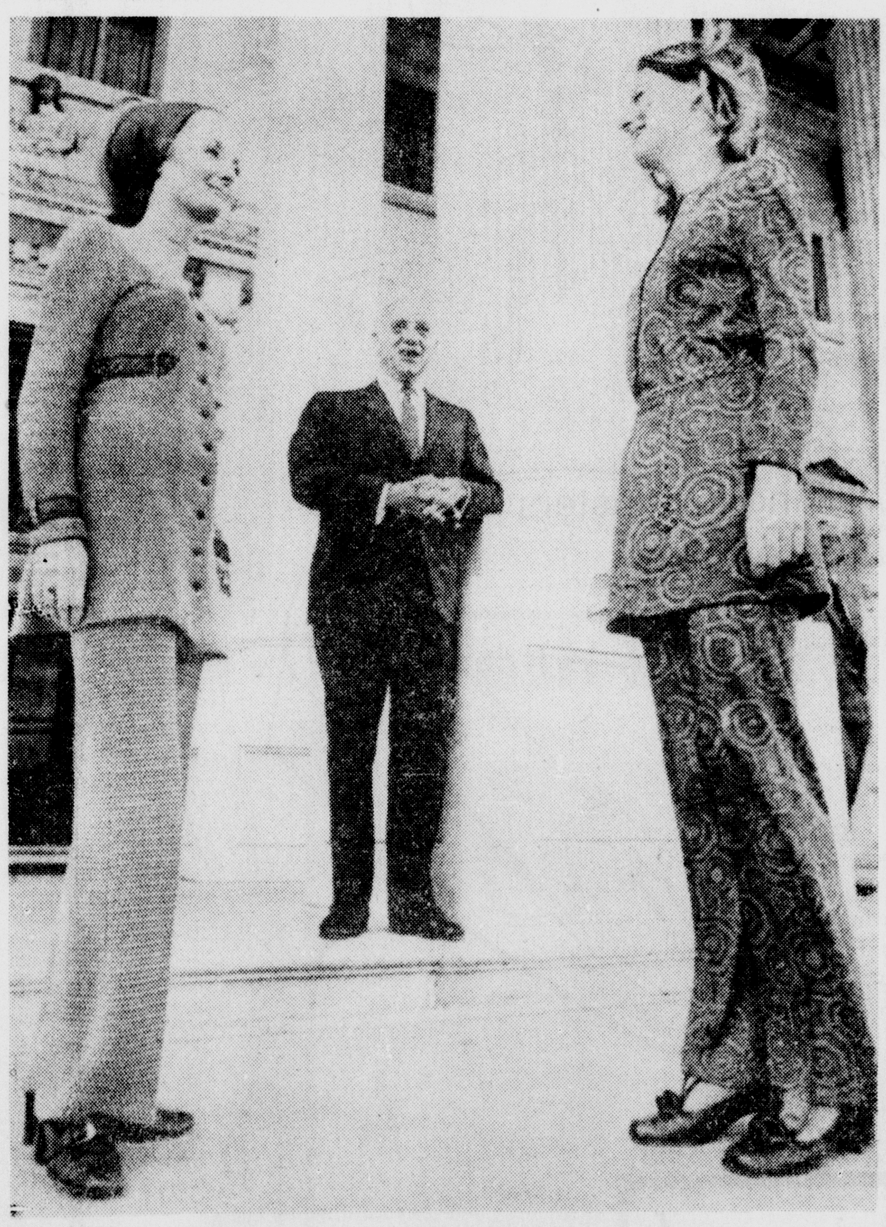
"I'm starting to understand little kids better," he said. "Before I didn't have any patience, but now I'm much better."

Those who sponsored and participated in the day camp program said they hoped to see it continued year-round in New York and even extended on a national basis.

John Nolan, who directed the program for the Youth Services Agency, said he was optimistic that some of the campus would be extended throughout the year. He said, however, that because of the lack of funds, the camps would have to be sponsored by community organizations.

"The federal money for the summer has all been used," he said.

Extension of the summer program next year, especially on a national basis, will depend on government and foundation grants.



SENATE COMPROMISE

Sen. Jacob Javits (D-N.Y.) is a foe of the midi-skirt. "They are limiting and tend to hobble women," he says. To show his dislike he is approving the wearing of pantsuits to work by members of his staff. Javits is shown with staff members, from left, Paula Schmidt of Milwaukee, Wis., and Kim Durney of Berkeley. (UPI Telephoto)

Even Fashion World Wonders Who Will Wear The Pants

CHICAGO (UPI) — Since more and more women are wearing pants, designers have tried to get American men into skirts. All of this has made the fashion world even more confusing than usual.

According to Encyclopaedia Britannica, anthropologists and historians have exercised great ingenuity in explaining the difference between skirts and trousers. The distinction may be simply this — if the garment doesn't surround the legs individually, it's a skirt.

Throughout history the popularity of skirts for women has been attributed to the woman's more sheltered life. But the subject becomes confusing when it is considered that Turkish women, with extremely sheltered lives, have traditionally worn trousers and hardy mountain men, such as the Scots and the Greeks, went in for skirts.

Climate differences could dispel some of the confusion, at least historically, with skirts in the tropics favored by both sexes while nearer the Arctic Circle both sexes choose pants.

Traditionally it's been skirts for the women and pants for the men in most of the places between the jungles and the icebergs.

Coulter McKeevers Married 50 Years

A reception at the St. Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco marked the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Coulter McKeever of San Rafael.

Married Sept. 22, 1920, Coulter McKeever and Janet Wilhoit went to Santa Barbara to marry in a church neither of them now remember the name of in order "to avoid a large celebration" involved with having a wedding in the Bay Area where they both lived.

They had met three years earlier at a famous benefit, according to Mr. McKeever, called the Red Star Ball which was given to raise money to buy horses for the Calvary in World War I. He had just joined the Navy and would soon go to San Pedro for officers' training.

Born in Stockton, Mrs. McKeever, attended Castilleja School for Girls in Palo Alto.

Coulter McKeever, a graduate of Fordham University in New York and native of New York City came to San Francisco to help establish a West Coast office of what is now the McCann-Erickson Advertising Agency. In 1930 he went to work for William R. Hearst's "American Weekly" Sunday supplement magazine and became advertising manager until retiring in 1954.

He was asked to return several times to help rehabilitate the magazine which was discontinued in the mid-60s.

The McKeevers lived in Hillsborough until moving to Marin six years ago.

Traveling plays a big part in their lives, and they will soon leave for two months in Mazatlan, Mexico, where they stay at the Balboa Club. Later in the year they plan to take a cruise around the world.

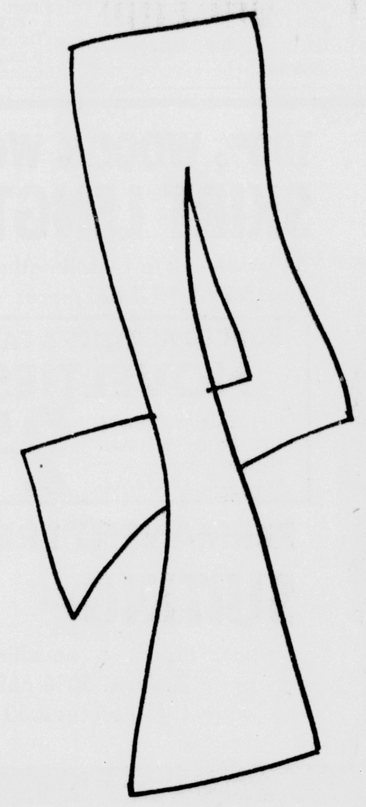
The trip will be one of several cruises and world travels.

"We've been every place in the world but Red China," Mr. McKeever said. "We've been in all the parts of Africa, South America, Australia and the Congo." They travel about three or four months a year.

They also cruise the waters of the Bay Area and Delta region in their 55-foot twin diesel cruiser "La Reina," which is berthed at the Marin Yacht Club. It is one of several boats the McKeevers have owned, which have included a 70 footer "the Safari" which they bought in Washington, D.C., and cruised down the East Coast through the Panama Canal and back home to San Francisco. They were delayed twice on the six-week trip by a hurricane in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and with a breakdown in the Panama Canal.

The McKeevers have two daughters, six grandchildren and one great grandchild. Mrs. Jerome Adams of Sausalito and her husband are the parents of Coulter and Peter Adams and Mrs. Dale Walwork of Ross who has a daughter, Jennifer. The McKeevers other daughter, Mrs. Kerry Mulligan of St. Helena, is the mother of Kirk, Geoffrey and Kathy Mulligan.

The McKeevers are also members of the St. Francis Yacht Club, and he is a member of the Stock Exchange Club. She does volunteer work at the Ross Hospital and has volunteered at Napa State Hospital and Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco.



Smartest put-on in a generation

It's not who wears the pants any more. It's what pants women want to wear, where. For pants now fit any occasion and every woman who believes in liberating the legs. There's no one look, either. Pants have taken exciting strides into new, imaginative fabrics . . . and they're walking away with color! Formal, cocktailesque, casual - you can be anything in pants today. But with pants, as with all fashions, we like to believe there's only one "you." And that's where we like to start . . . with your size, your color, your style, all marked "you." A wonderful put-on, anytime.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

'I Wish Adults Would Stop Generalizing And Talk To Us.'

DEAR HELEN:

It seems that too many adults classify kids into two divisions: dirty hippie, and clean-cut teen.

I'd like to point out that many hippies are cleaner morally and physically than the short-hairs. Of course there are the weirdos, freaks, or crazies who aren't really hippies, just as the big operators aren't really clean-cuts: They only look that way. If our elders would judge kids by how they act and what they believe in, not by looks, there would be a lot smaller generation gap.

A real hippie is a person who has a philosophy of love and peace. He's liable to flip the peace sign to a perfect stranger and say "Hang on," just because it's the friendly thing to do. He can have long hair, beads, a beard, or he can look straight, but he's a kind of idealist. He may smoke pot but he doesn't usually go the drug route all the way. He's quite often the brightest guy in the class — and the one who may go farthest in things that really matter.

Maybe he doesn't always get the Big C for Cleanliness but that's his thing, sometimes a personal protest against people who put too much emphasis on television commercial-type appearances and not enough on what's inside.

Whether bearded, haired, bell-bottomed, leathered or straight, our appearance or odor do not change our mentality. (Consider Samson — it wasn't until he got his long hair cut that he became a pansy.)

We're only gross-outs if we act that way. I wish adults would stop generalizing and start talking to us. You'd be surprised how well we communicate with the few who do. — PEACE — ON

DEAR PEACE:

I'll drink to that.

For a long time now I've noticed the so-called hippie types communicate best in class room discussions, remain afterwards to talk — and (like you) write some of most thoughtful letters.

Also: They're most helpful in directing me around campus. When I visit a new school and get lost (as I usually do) it's almost always a long-hair or bearded one who sees my predicament and straightens me out. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I know you don't use much poetry, but this, I think, is sorta special — a friend wrote it and I think it shows the side of a teen-age girl we sometimes forget exists.

A new born life just brought into the world,
I must be a girl: I'm dressed in pink!
Gurgled syllables answered by love,
A seed just planted in the ground.
A sunburned, freckle-faced girl
Dressed in dungarees and a baseball cap, I shout,
"Strike Three, Hey Dad, it's your turn at bat!"
This seed has grown its roots and is stemming up toward the sky.
Nail polish, curlers, and teen magazines are
The essential elements in my existence.
"Hey Mom, guess who's going to the prom?"
A bud appears: Shy, foretelling beauty.
Walking down the aisle, I see the man I love,
His eyes reach out to welcome me.
Because of him, I am a woman.
A red rose, in full bloom, smiles confidently at the world. — E.S.

Hope you liked it, Helen. I, too, am a teen-age girl. — MARY

DEAR MARY:

I do, I do! — H.

Good Supply Of Meats But Vegetables Poor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that food shoppers this weekend will find a wide variety of meats and poultry in good supply, but only a small variety of fruits and vegetables.

Meat counters will offer beef rib, round and chuck roasts and a choice of beef steaks. In pork there are good supplies of bacon and Boston butts. Some markets will also feature hams, roasts and picnics. Broiler-fryers will also be in good supply, and some markets will feature turkeys.

VEGETABLE BINS will offer good supplies of potatoes, onions, cabbage, peppers and carrots. In fruits, apples will be in best supply.

The Department of the Interior reports good supplies of canned salmon, fish sticks and portions and canned tuna.

Foods listed in USDA's plentiful foods list for October shoppers include fresh apples, canned applesauce, apple juice, pork, broiler-fryers, dry beans, canned peaches, canned salmon, onions, eggs, potatoes and dried prunes.

IN WEST COAST markets this week fresh and smoked pork prices are lower. In Portland pork loins are as much as 10 cents a pound lower and Boston butts are as much as 7 cents lower.

Beef loins are 2 to 5 cents a pound lower in Los Angeles and Portland.

Large size eggs and poultry are lower in all markets.

Among the fruits and vegetables in best supply are apples, bananas, grapes, watermelons, cabbage, carrots, onions, bell peppers and potatoes.

Seafood buys to watch for in the West, according to the U.S. Department of Interior, are halibut, salmon, rockfish, sole and oysters.

Food Canning Popular Again

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Canning fruits and vegetables has become popular again, says a home economist.

Ethel Diedrichsen, University of Nebraska extension food and nutrition specialist, said there are several factors in the upsurge in home canning. These include the rising cost of living, the preference for canned food over frozen food and the sense of accomplishment felt by the homemaker when she surveys the results.

WILLIAM K. BLEYLE wed Cynthia E. Swendeman in a ceremony at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard B. Bleyle of San Anselmo, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Swendeman of Mill Valley are the bride's parents. The newlyweds are living in Fairfax.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Reagan Has Learned Job; Let's Keep Him On It

Four years ago, the Independent-Journal gave a sort of back-hand endorsement to Ronald Reagan's candidacy for governor.

What we said was, in about so many words, that we had enough of Edmund G. Brown, so why not try somebody else?

Now, Jesse M. Unruh is going about the state saying we have had enough of Ronald Reagan, so why not try somebody else — namely, Jesse M. Unruh?

NO THANKS, Jess.

We have beaten few drums for Governor Reagan during his nearly four years in the statehouse. But he has — except for a few months when he became infatuated with the idea of being nominated for President — worked hard and faithfully at the job to which he was elected.

He has learned a lot on the job. The Governor Reagan of 1970 is a much more able state executive than was the Governor Reagan of 1966. He has swept out many of the "bright boys" who were his early advisers, and replaced them with men of higher calibre and greater ability. He has learned to work with the legislature instead of against it. And he has been consistent.

He has fought consistently — though with limited success — to hold down state expenditures, to make some sort of sense out of the rampant bureaucracy that rules from Sacramento. His early efforts were naive and ineffectual. But here and there, he has begun to make some headway. This is encouraging.

His appointments have been mostly good ones — his latest choice of Henry J. Broderick as Marin County Superior Court judge being a case in point.

HE HAS BEEN conscientious. Unlike nearly all his predecessors in recent times, he has personally acted on every bill passed by the legislature, either signing or vetoing it. There have been no piles of bills becoming law without the governor's signature, as in the Pat Brown days.

Although accused of being a "friend of the rich," he has backed legislation to equalize the tax load, and to improve distribution of funds which the state parcels out to counties and local districts.

Although charged with being "against the schools," he has each year asked for increased funds for both the elementary-secondary and higher education. Once he pushed through legislation to give the school districts a special state tax bonus so they could reduce property taxes. It wasn't his fault that most of the districts used the money to raise salaries instead of cutting taxes.

Although damned out of hand by Unruh and others just about every time he opened his mouth, Governor Reagan has stuck to his guns for his principles.

THE SAME CANNOT be said of Jesse M. Unruh. In this year's legislative session, instead of using his power and influence to unite the Assembly Democrats in working out sensible tax and budget bill comprises, he chose to absent himself campaigning. Last year he held up the budget and the legislature's adjournment in spoiled boy antics.

Ronald Reagan has grown in office. The onetime "Big Daddy" has shrunk in political stature while he shrunk in poundage.

No thanks, Jess. We don't think we should change governors this year. Ronald Reagan has served his apprenticeship. Let's keep him on the job, now that he knows the ropes.

Scranton Commission Report Gives President Crucial Choice

WASHINGTON — As the advance political barrage began, designed to shoot down the report of the Commission on Campus Unrest before it had been written, the chairman, William W. Scranton, was asked a pertinent question: Why did the President give you this thankless task?

"I think it was because he knew," Scranton replied, "that I want no public office, whether elective or appointive."

In short, he was expendable, and the clamor that has greeted the report from both the right and the left on this most-divisive issue proves his ofrthrightness and his courage.

JUST BEFORE the report was released and shortly before President Nixon took off for Europe, Scranton and the President had a solemn confrontation.

The chairman of the commission urged Mr. Nixon to read the report without the prejudice of those White House advisers already engaged in blunting, if not nullifying, its findings. The President replied that he would take it with him and read every word. He promised that when he returned he would call Scranton in and discuss his own part in carrying out the recommendations of the report.

This will be the test. For the report concludes in almost so many words that the President's failure to supply moral leadership has contributed immeasurably to widening the breach between the "youth culture," as the report puts it, and the established order. The test will not be an easy one, since a lot of Republicans, led by Vice-President Spiro Agnew, are running against the young, the long hairs, those who opt out with eccentric dress and manner.

COMING IN the midst of the congressional campaign, the report offers one of those momentous either/or choices that for the historian of the future will be a bench mark showing which way America was to move. It can be in the direction of irreparable division, as the report warns. The small minority of extremists shouting obscenities on the fringe of Agnew's meetings are contributing their generous share of divisiveness.

Or the nation with leadership from the President can move to bind up the wounds of the past — the wounds of Kent State and Jackson State College — restore unity to the campuses and, in a larger context, close the gap between the generations. This course would mean foregoing the exploitation of hatred and division for votes in a critical campaign.

THE HARVEST of votes the exploiters hope to reap is the reason why weeks ago the attack was launched to repudiate the report. Scranton traces the origins of that attack to the presence on the commission's staff of John van de Kamp.

Van de Kamp, formerly with the office of the United States district attorney in Los Angeles, was an administrator with no responsibility for the content of the report. But he was the democratic opponent of Barry Goldwater Jr. in the race for a House seat in April, 1969, in Orange County. No matter how restricted his function, Van de Kamp's appointment, Scranton came to believe, was a red flag to the Goldwater faction of the party.

This in a curious way repeats recent history and points up again the still-unresolved struggle for the soul of the Republican party. In 1964 Scranton challenged Barry Goldwater for the presidential nomination in San Francisco. His challenge was belated, uncertain, and he never had a prayer in that convention so dominated by the righteous and indignant right.

During the brief skirmish in San Francisco a Scranton staff member released a statement under Scranton's name saying the unsayable — namely, that Goldwater couldn't be elected President.

No matter that this was proved disastrously right. It may have been all the more reason to deny forgiveness.

The fact that the President named Scranton chairman in the first instance was an act of courage. He can now show whether this was just another report to be filed and forgotten or whether it is a signpost to reconciliation.

No Course Open To Sheriff's Deputies

Re your article, "Why Hire an Attorney?" (Sept. 26):

Perhaps the author could suggest an alternative action!

The deputy sheriffs have been treated unfairly and dismissed. It is supposedly illegal to strike! A work shut-down is judged harshly. Negotiations didn't do the deputy sheriffs any good. What would you have us do?

True it will cost a large sum to obtain good legal advice, but maybe in the future we will find a "legal" way to be represented at the negotiation table, for what we, and many taxpayers in the county feel, are just wages.

Need For Spaying Clinic Increases

I have, with growing apprehension, been reading your "Pets" column. Never before have there been so many free animals offered. The present is bad enough; but what of next spring! . . .

The law which will require humane societies to demand spaying of female animals adopted will not begin to solve the problem. The proportion of animals placed in new homes as compared to those destroyed must be very small. The babies abandoned by owners or placed in irresponsible homes must be enormous.

If our spaying plan had been given the support it warranted when it was proposed, many animals would not now be leading a precarious existence or have already met death.

Under the plan now being used in Las Vegas and by several California organizations, the veterinarians are paid by the organization and the animal owner pays back what he can afford — sometimes in installments.

The apathy of the people , not opoposition of the veterinarians, has caused the delay in putting a spaying program into effect in this county . . .

With the proper financial support a spaying program such as the ones now successful in Las Vegas and San Francisco could be put into effect here.

Unless something is done before next spring, when the humane society may be forced to hire more animal control personnel and enlarge the shelter as well as the incinerator, it will be no satisfaction to me to say "I told you so."

Salary Correct; Job Title Wrong

In your newspaper of Sept. 24 you list me under Department of Agriculture as a senior inspector at $11,808 per year — with the top senior inspector position at $12,096. The position title is incorrect — but the salary is correct. What I object to is the fact that this is not only an incorrect statement, but a deceptive one. My job title is assistant agricultural commissioner and, as such, I am responsible for the supervision of our office staff in the various functions of the department.

The result of your listing omits the very essence of the argument made some weeks ago to the board of supervisors by management personnel, to the effect that some supervisory employees are being paid less than those employees over which they had supervisory responsibilities, as a result of the recent pay raise granted to all non-management members of the Marin County Employees Association. As you know, the board admitted a lack of information, and rectified the error to some extent later by granting similar raises effective Jan. 1, 1971.

You have an advantage that we employees of the county do not have —the means of widespread dissemination of information — and that poses the problem of a need for accurate reporting of factual information. I would urge that a careful transcription of the public record as listed in the Marin County Budget for fiscal year 1970-71 be made in future in your newspaper in order to avoid inaccuracies.

Thanks To Many For Fire Battle

We would like to thank Louis R. Robinette, a former policeman, for acting quickly and wisely when he spotted the arsonist that set fire to the dry grass on Los Ranchitos Road north of Glenside Way about 2:30 p.m. last Friday.

We would also like to thank the Marin County firemen, the San Rafael firemen, the Kentfield firemen, the residents of the area, and the hundreds of volunteers, including the so-called "hippie types" for doing all they could to put out the fire as quickly as possible.

We live at 65 Los Ranchitos Road. The fire spread as far north as our property line. Without the kind of people mentioned above, our house would probably not be here now.

How About Peek At Welfare Rolls?

The annual salaries of the Civil Service employees of Marin Coupnty are considered to be a matter of public record and as such were recently printed in the Independent-Journal.

Fine and dandy.

Now, how about an accounting of each welfare recipient by name and amount received? Surely the taxpaying citizenry is entitled to a peek at both side of his coin!

The real eye-opener was a count of 210 employees to fulfill the duties of the Public Social Services Department. Of these, 65 persons or one third of the department receive salaries in excess of $10,000 a year!

A county with a total population of little over 200,000 requires a department of 201 employees to handle the case-load of welfare recipients? Hm. . .

Southern California Fire Disasters Show Need For Preventive Work

By HENRY MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — One can feel sorry for the Californians hit by the tremendous fires in Southern California. But when people insist on building plush homes in brush-filled canyons, which are fire traps to begin with, taxpayers begin to wonder whether the same pattern is going to be followed from now until eternity.
fire won't strike, there at least

The pattern is two-fold. First, expensive homes are built on expensive land. Second, fire prevention is considered as something not very important, due to the fact it might happen once in awhile, but "it can't happen here."

Driving in the hills back of Santa Barbara several years ago, this writer was astounded at the moneyed residences vulnerable to disastrous fire possibilities, which could have been averted with a little judicious cleaning up. While there never is any guarantee that is the possibility of lessening the damage it can do by providing less fuel.

FIRE IS ALWAYS imminent, but there is a difference between inviting the flames, providing the fuel on which they feed, and reducing the danger as much as possible by fire preventive measures.

Some years ago, soil conservation groups started studies as to how tinder-like brush could be eliminated from the foothills and some of the desert areas of California, and grass substituted to provide grazing for increase in the food supply of the state.

Since that time, a program has been undertaken in Texas of considerable extent, where brush was bulldozed out, chopped up and used to replenish the land, which then was planted to grass. Reports came back that this program has worked satisfactorily in some areas.

Experiments along the same lines have been made in California, but so far, the idea appears to have been forgotten with the disintegration of the old soil conservation programs.

Brush of various kinds takes over when soil is depleted, robs what soil is left of moisture. The weather does the rest, whether the fires are started by natural or unnatural causes.

THE ELIMINATION of brush is a long and expensive operation but if the program were pursued in the populated areas, some advantage would accrue to the public, and much more advantage to the home owners in the brush-infested areas.

So we have an explosive situation that while it might not be cured completely, could at least be curtailed.

Election Year In Brazil Has Little Meaning

By DANIEL A. DROSDOFF

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)— This is, theoretically, a big election year in Brazil. But no one would ever know it.

Twenty-two state governorships will be decided Saturday. On Nov. 15 the voters will chose two-thirds of the federal senate, the entire chamber of deputies, all mayors, state assemblymen and city councilmen.

Apathy is the watchword. Excitement is nil. Campaigning is light, colorless and formal. Candidates run for office as if they were just going through the motions. Criticism of the government is either nonexistant or muted.

THE REASON is that for the past six years the political kingmaker in Brazil has been the military. It all goes back to 1964 when the army seized power to "throw out the rascals," — meaning all politicians, not just those of one party.

Since 1964 a long series of presidential decrees has relegated the nation's traditional political institutions to a minor role.

The politicking that is permitted, especially involving the congress, is tightly controlled. The gubernatorial elections Saturday are indirect. The governorships will be filled by votes from the state assemblies.

The elections on Nov. 15 will be by popular vote. But only 60 per cent of Brazil's 45 million adults will be able to vote because of the literacy requirement.

ONLY TWO political parties are allowed to function, the progovernment National Renovating Alliance (ARENA) and the National Democratic Movement (MDB), the official opposition.

It is a foregone conclusion that the progovernment party will sweep nearly all of the governorships and heavy majorities in the state legislatures, congress and city councils.

This is due to the peculiar structure of ARENA. The army formed the party with a shotgun marriage between the two largest political parties in Brazil, the middle-of-the-road Social Democratic Party (PSD) and the conservative National Democratic Union (UDN). This was just about like forming one party in the United States based on a fusion of Republicans and Democrats.

The opposition was formed primarily by the old Brizalian Workers Party (PTB), which can muster a majority now in only one state, Guanabara, where Rio de Janeiro is located. It is the one state where the MBD will win the governorship. It will be unopposed.

CANDIDATES for the governorships have been handpicked by President Emilio Garrastazu Medici, titular chief of ARENA as well as head of state.

Medici, in turn, was handpicked by the military high command to take the place of ailing president Arthur da Costa Silva in 1969.

Both the progovernment and opposition candidates must be screened by the SNI, the National Information Service, something akin to the U.S. FBI and CIA combined.

Never Appoint A Commission Without Writing Report First

WASHINGTON — There's probably nothing more embarrassing for the President of the United States than to appoint a commission to investigate a serious situation in the country, and discover he's part of the problem.

This seems to have happened with the President's Commission on Campus Unrest, and the White House is taking it very hard. There is even some talk of a presidential commission to investigate unrest on presidential commissions.

A SPOKESMAN for this group, Harvey Troglodyte, told me:

"It's a terrible thing for this country, not to mention the fall elections, when a presidential commission blames the President and his administration for what's going on in the United States."

"It sounds like another Pearl Harbor," I said, trying to ingratiate myself to him.

"We're not going to let it happen again," Troglodyte said. "If we can't have a presidential commission that supports the President we'll do away with presidential commissions for good."

"That's a very serious step," I said.

"IT'S NOT our fault. The President appointed the commission on campus unrest in good faith. He told them to get to the bottom of the student crisis and give him the answers to the hard questions that confront us all. He told Governor Scranton to let the chips fall where they may. Instead of doing that, the Scranton report found the Vietnamese war, the President's decision to go into Cambodia and the rhetoric of his administration partly responsible for campus unrest."

"But that isn't what the President wanted to hear," I protested.

"You can say that again," Troglodyte said. "Just because you tell a commission it has carte blanche to find out what is wrong in this country, the commission doesn't have a license to attack the administration."

"What are you going to do about it?"

"WE HAVE several plans in mind. For one thing. We're seriously thinking of writing the report first and then appointing a presidential commission to sign it."

"That would eliminate a lot of soreheads," I agreed.

"It would also save the commission a lot of time and money. We know what should go into those reports. They have to start from scratch."

"It doesn't matter how you do it as long as you arrive at the truth," I agreed.

"THE PURPOSE of a presidential commission has been misunderstood by a vast number of Americans."

"What is its main function?" I asked.

"When the President announces he is appointing a presidential commission to study something, he is saying to the American people he is very concerned, and he is asking for answers to questions that all Americans are entitled to know."

"That's well put," I said "What else?"

"THAT'S IT," Troglodyte said. "By the time the commission has come up with the answers, the President is counting on the problem to have gone away.

"By attacking the administration, all the Scranton Commission has done is keep the 'campus unrest' issue alive."

"Governor Scranton should have known better," I said.

"We should have," Troglodyte said. "One of the rules of politics is, 'Never ask for whom the bell tolls during an election year.'"

$15 Million Transit Study Bill Approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress has sent to president Nixon's desk legislation providing $15 million for a one-year extension of a government study on high-speed ground transportation.

Among the projects being worked on in the study are a subway train that could travel 500 miles an hour and an air cushion train that could go 300 m.p.h.

Minor Draw Bridge Rule Change Eyed

The Coast Guard has proposed minor changes in the navigation safety rules for the Black Point and Haystack Landing railroad draw bridges on the Petaluma River.

The proposed change would provide that two hours' notice be given the Southern Pacific Railroad to obtain a bridge attendant for the Haystack Landing span near Petaluma instead of, as at present, leaving the span unattended and open, except for passage of trains.

At present, a bell must be tolled continuously in foggy weather when either span is left open. Under the proposed new rule, the railroad must sound two long horn blasts each minute when the Black Point span is closed during foggy weather. The horn would signal the bridge's opening with three long blasts, remaining silent while the span is open.

Public comments on the changes should be received in writing at Coast Guard Twelfth District headquarters, 630 Sansome Street, San Francisco, before Oct. 28, the Coast Guard said yesterday.

Abrams Is Well After Illness

SAIGON (UPI) — Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, U.S. military commander in Vietnam, spent a quiet night and was in good condition at the 3rd Field Hospital in Saigon, American military spokesmen said today.

Abrams, 57, was hospitalized Wednesday after becoming dizzy at a military ceremony in Vung Tau, 40 miles southeast of Saigon.

Spokesman said Abrams apparently had been ill for about five days with a virus and slight lung inflammation.

Quake, Tidal Wave

MANILA (UPI)—An earthquake rocked the island of Basco off the northern coast of the Philippines Wednesday, setting off a minor tidal wave and a series of aftershocks. Several houses were destroyed but there were no reports of casualties.

Tables Turned, Consumer Group Accused Of Ducking A Key Issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's largest consumer coalition, itself often critical of selfish economic interests, was accused today of ducking a key consumer issue in deference to labor unions which provide much of its financial support.

The group, the Consumer Federation of America (CFA), denied improper motives but acknowledged it had taken no position on the issue — a proposed trade bill to limit imports of textiles, shoes and possible other goods. The measure is supported by the AFL-CIO.

Virginia H. Knauer, President Nixon's consumer affairs adviser, has called it "the most significant anticonsumer legislation now in the Congress." She said the quotas would lead to "higher prices, fewer product choices, reduced competition, and a limited supply of imported products."

The measure still is awaiting House action. If passed it would go to the Senate and there was speculation the entire matter might be put off until the next session of Congress.

CFA, a federation of 160 local, state, regional, and national organizations, has lobbied hard for buyer "class action" rights and other legislation designed to benefit consumers, But three officials octive in a coalition of business, civic and other groups opposing import quotas said the CFA had spurned pleas to help fight the trade bill.

The three — a government official, a Washington lobbyist and a New York public affairs consultant — were questioned by UPI. The government official and the lobbyist asked not to be identified.

All three cited labor pressure and money as a reason for CFA's silence on the trade issue. The lobbyist said CFA officials acknowledged this privately.

Erma Angevine, CFA executive director, said "labor has never asked us to take a stand."

"We've never taken a position because the trade bill just never came up. It didn't come up at our recent annual meeting and it has never been debated."

Mrs. Angevine said she did not present the trade issue to the convention because she "wanted to concentrate on class action," — referring to a bill which would let one consumer sue in behalf of everyone defrauded by the same shoddy product or deceptive sales pitch.

She said CFA gets roughly one third of its financial support from organized labor, but none directly from the AFL-CIO.

FCC Relents On Telex Messages

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Communications Commission has stayed a requirement that the Western Union Telegraph Co. provide Telex customers with direct access to international messages.

Western Union asked for the stay claiming it was financially unfeasible to provide the service. Extension of the international service for Telex subscribers was a condition for approval of Western Union's purchase of the Teletypewriter Exchange Service (TWX) from the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. last July 29.

The commission in a statement Wednesday said it was staying the requirement pending the outcome of a separate proceeding in which Western Union has been directed to show cause why Telex customers should not get the international message service.

ART REVIEW

Too Many Facets For Top Product

By LAURA DEVENDORF

While always informative, a show which displays many media in which an artist works seldom does justice to his best product. Such is the case with Mill Valley artist Maggie Hazell-Rosen, whose paintings, prints and drawings are displayed through Oct. 22 at the Marin Fellowship of Unitarians, 340 Channing Way, San Rafael.

The paintings and prints rob space from her drawings, which are engrossing enough to beg for a much more extended showing. These drawn figures and faces have an immediacy which could only come from the fact that first, the artist is exceedingly skillful and knows just what she is doing and second, that she takes them only to a point and then leaves them alone, never returning to rework the pure raw line with which she has described them.

The faces Miss Hazell-Rosen draws are distinct in their particular mood or personality — whether dreamy, brooding or direct. Her nudes dwell more on fluid form, filling and dissecting space with confident lines, little shading and with volume unstated but assumed. The closer you look, the more vital, varied and beautiful each stroke of line becomes. And while the overall feeling is classical, the drawings always remain casual enough to seem thoroughly contemporary and real.

Miss Hazell-Rosen's paintings do not offer this same absorbing content. Usually, they are hazy blurs of pastel color, sometimes having windblown hyphen patterns scattered across the surface. And while a few add more definition, they also resist the urge to see more deeply into them.

The artist's prints say more. Often layered like tissue or botanical cross sections, their cells of blues, magenta, orange and purple add to their dark mystery and give them added substance.

While unrelated, each phase of Miss Hazell-Rosen's work is thought out and consistent in itself. However, rare is the artist who can manage to work equal magic through several media.

Usually, there is one in which he seems most at ease and in which he most completely loses and expresses himself. In Miss Hazell-Rosen's case that magic is in her drawings and we only wish this show treated us more extensively to them.

Former Manager Is Arraigned

James W. Ramsay, 27, former night manager for the Deck House Restaurant in Sausalito, has been arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of embezzling from his employer.

He is to return to court Oct. 13 to enter a plea.

Charges of embezzlement and grand theft against Ramsay were filed Monday by the district attorney's office.

Children Enjoy Outdoor Study

By C. P. McCARTHY

LOMA MAR—There was one charge of mistreatment yesterday at the Marin County school's outdoor education camp here in San Mateo County.

A Martin Luther King School student wanted it "put in the newspaper" that he was being mistreated.

The boy had been tossed out of a science class because he was fooling around and he was not allowed to swim in the afternoon.

He claimed that Ernest White, camp director, was "mean to little boys" and he charged that his Martin Luther King teacher, who imposed the no swimming penalty, had a "monkey face."

Both student and teacher were white and there was no chance of race entering the picture.

Prior to the arrival of 78 Martin Luther King students, at the camp Monday, there had been charges that black students from Marin City had been mistreated at the camp in 1968.

The only complaint students could come up with on the third day of the five-day visit was one common to school children everywhere: too much like school.

"I thought we came here to get away from school," said one youngster. "It seems we just get more of it."

Another youngster disagreed, however, saying "It's not like regular school. You don't have to learn math."

The education theme of the camp this year is "Spaceship Earth." White explained that the aim was to get the students to look at earth as a self-contained ecological system. From there, the view could be broken down into smaller ecological systems such as the redwood forest in which 101-acre Redwood Glen Camp is nestled.

Subject matter included marine biology, identification of plant life, weather and atmosphere, with the forest and ocean beach serving as classrooms.

Other than the young man who lost his swimming privileges yesterday, students said they were enjoying the camp and claimed they were learning.

King teachers and three Marin City residents, who volunteered to accompany the students after the mistreatment charges were aired two weeks ago, agreed they had seen nothing to substantiate the charges.

The camp is leased by the county schools office from the Baptist Church. White said that in addition to the Sausalito, San Rafael and Mill Valley school districts, non-Marin districts, such as San Francisco, contract with Marin County schools office to send youngsters to the camp.

The students sleep in cabins, each with indoor toilet facilities, scattered along a hillside. Meals are served in a large modern dining room hall overlooking the swimming pool.

The young people assist with KP, which White said stood for kitchen privilege, and each table, seating eight, has one youngster designated "host" and another designated "hopper."

The host's primary responsibility is to tell the hopper to get more food for the table.

Yesterday, the students at White's table made him hopper. Following lunch, he told the whole group that because he was made to hop they were all going to be punished by having to go swimming at 3 p..m instead of at 3:30.

The punishment was greeted with cheers.

Court Fines Skinnydippers

Nude swimming cases kept the West Marin Judicial District Court busy yesterday.

One of four Berkeley residents, John Sekorn, was cited by Stinson Beach State Park rangers for allegedly swimming in the nude Sept. 23. He was found guilty by Judge David R. Baty, fined $35 and placed on 30 days' probation.

His three companions, Carol S. Woodworth, William Patterson and James Hare, are to appear in Marin Municipal Court at a date still to be set, according to court clerk Stella Phillipscheck.

Cathy McEver, 22, of Shrewsbury, N.J., and Steven Goldstein, 25, of Akron, Ohio, pleaded no contest to a citation issued Sept. 25 at the park. Judge Baty fined each $35 and ordered 60 days probation.

Anthony deMarco, 27, of San Francisco, was transferred to Marin Municipal Court on a citation issued Sept. 20 at the park.

Brian Zingler, 31, of San Francisco, also cited Sept. 20, pleaded innocent and will stand trial Oct. 7 in the West Marin court.

Civic Council Asks For Land Lease Policy

Marin Munciipal Water District should announce its policy on the leasing of its watershed lands to groups like hunting clubs and the Meadow Club.

This was the consensus reached last night at a meeting of the Marin Council for Civic Affairs at the Civic Center.

Chairman George Ellman said he will draft a letter to the water district, asking for a policy on water district land leases, how rentals are set, and whether rates are different for groups like the Girl Scouts as opposed to private organizations like gun clubs.

Among lessees of water district land are the Redwood Gun Club, which leases 850 acres near White's Hill for $350 per year, and Big Trees Camp Hunting Club, which leases 5,000 acres near Kent Lake for $625 per year.

Eugene A. Miller, newly elected member of the water district board, spoke to the council last night, explaining the $11.5 million bond issue which the water district wants approved on Nov. 3. The money would be used to make improvements and replace old lines.

The council for civic affairs endorsed the bond issue.

Next meeting of the council will be held at 8 p.m. Oct. 28 at the civic center.

Lions To Hold White Cane Days

The Lions Club Annual White Cane Days will be observed in Petaluma tomorrow and Saturday.

Members of the Adobe Lions Club will be collecting on the east side of Petaluma while the Petaluma Lions Club will collect in the downtown area assisted by youngsters from the Shamrock 4-H Club who rear dogs for Marin County's Guide Dogs for the Blind.

Contributions last year permitted five blind youngsters to attend the Enchanted Hills Camp in Napa County.

Youth Asked To 'Turn On' To Politics

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Peter H. Behr of Mill Valley, Republican nominee for state Senate, yesterday challenged student leaders to "turn off" violence and unlawful dissent and "turn on to the power and proven promise of the political system.

"It isn't that politics has been tried and found wanting," Behr said, "It's simply that politics hasn't been tried."

Behr addressed a gathering of more than 500 high school editors and student body leaders from schools throughout the Bay Area. The meeting, at the Mark Hopkins Hotel, was sponsored by two San Francisco radio stations.

Behr insisted that the way to get across changes within the system was through "positive and persistent participation in the established political processes."

He cited his own experience with the Save Our Seashore campaign as evidence of citizens' political power. "The President listened and acted when we presented him with over 500,000 signatures on behalf of the Point Reyes Seashore," Behr said.

"Your legislators and your executive officers will always respond to a show of voter strength, presented to them in a positive, orderly manner. The secret," Behr said, "is to have the perseverance to mount an entire campaign, not just a single event."

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Richard Pigg, 23 today asked the San Mateo County Superior Court to change his name to MacDonald.

"In recent years the word pig has become the source of embarrassment," he explained.

THE PUBLIC PAYROLL

Salary Schedules For Marin's Fire Districts

Salaries of public employees have been the subject of strong debate this year in budget sessions throughout Marin, at meetings of the board of supervisors, at meetings of city councils and of school district and special district boards.

Employees and their representatives, pleading for large pay increases, cited the rising cost of living and often argued that more money was paid in other counties, cities or districts for similar work.

Few employees got as much as they requested. Most local agencies granted more than they were willing at the outset.

The 1970-71 payrolls of all local agencies in Marin as of the start of the new fiscal year, July 1, are being published by the Independent-Journal during the next few weeks as a complete accounting of what is now paid public employees and as a basis of comparison from agency to agency.

Military Team Probe Charges 14 Air Cadets Smoking Pot

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (UPI)—Military investigators are probing charges that 14 cadets at the Air Force Academy have been experimenting with drugs such as marijuana and LSD, school spokesmen said Wednesday.

Col. James F. Sunderman, director of information, said the investigation was being carried out by regular Air Force officials assigned to the school.

"There is no academy-wide investigation of drug abuse underway or planned," Sunderman said. He said the investigation stems from "reports brought to light last week through the cadet chain of command."

The colonel noted that the investigation involved only 14 of the academy's 4,100 students.

Sixteen cadets have been dismissed for possession of marijuana since 1955 when the acaedmy opened.

Art Forger Sells, Copies, Own Work

NEW YORK (UPI)—Works by David Stein, a "master art forger" who has turned honest, went on sale Wednesday.

Stein claimed that he sold more than $1 million of fake paintings while working as an art dealer here. His imitations of Picasso, Matisse, Chagall, Braque and Miro that are on sale with his own signature were painted in a French prison where he is serving a term for counterfeiting paintings.

The sale began despite the objections of state Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz that Stein's name could be removed and the pictures sold as originals.

Developer Buys MGM Studio Lot

CULVER CITY, Calif. (UPI) —The 68-acre backlot of Metro-Goldwyn Mayer Studio, where scores of motion pictures ranging from grade B westerns to million dollar extravaganzas were filmed, was sold Wednesday for $7.25 million.

The property was purchased by Levitt and Sons and will be developed into a $60 million apartment house complex.

Earlier this year, the studio auctioned off costumes and props from 3,000 films. James T. Aubrey Jr., MGM president, said the sale "will not hinder future movie making." He said that it was to divest MGM of real estate and other assets not essential to production.

Policeman Slain Without Warning

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — A 27-year-old patrolman on the police force's Canine Corps was shot to death about midnight Wednesday when one of two men he stopped to question raised a shotgun to his neck and fired it, police said.

Jomn Burke, a two-year veteran of the force, was shot without warning at point blank range, police said.

A DRY, HOT MONTH AHEAD

Rainmakers take note: if there's any rain this month in Marin, it will be your doing. The 30-day forecast, based on information supplied by the U.S. Weather Bureau, calls for temperatures above normal and precipitation below normal. Last October San Rafael registered 4.73 inches of rain — all of it coming on or after the 15th of the month. On that day, a 3.43-inch rain fell. Daytime temperatures averaged 74.6 degrees with overnight lows averaging 49.8 degrees.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Van Dellen

Harmless microorganisms are added to many foods to make them more palatable or less resistant to spoilage. Cheese from milk is a good example. Other microbes in food may have an adverse effect upon health ranging from a mild diarrhea to death. As a rule, common molds and yeasts are not associated with food-borne diseases. There are, however, exceptions.

Aspergillus flavus is a mold that forms on peanuts, Brazil nuts, pecans, corn and cottonseed due to current storage and distribution practices. These fungi form aflatoxin, a carcinogenic substance capable of porducing liver tumors in animals. In England in 1960, 1,000,000 turkeys died from a mysterious disease that later proved to have been caused by moldy peanuts containing aflatoxins.

THE TOXICITY of aflatoxins varies considerably in different animals. We know that the poison affects the liver and, we suspect, but have no proof, that it produces liver cancer in man. Our Food and Drug Administration and the Department of Agriculture are taking no chances. These bureaus keep a watchful eye on peanut processors and apply certain restrictions whenever this mold is seen on peanuts or a positive test for aflatoxins is obtained. Through the Peanut Marketing Agreement, the consumer is protected.

According to Reo E. Duggan of the FDA, the hazard is not confined to the direct consumption of foods that contain aflatoxins. The poison may be carried over into the tissues and milk of animals and passed along in foods.

AT PRESENT, prevention of the mold is difficult because peanuts are continually exposed to conditions conducive to fungal growth. The government's program is aimed at the early detection of contaminated lots before they are mixed and diluted with other lots.

SPRAYED GRAPES

A. K. writes: Are grapes sprayed with a solution that causes cancer?

REPLY

Many chemicals are carcinogenic, in that they are capable of causing cancer in mice or rats, when rubbed into the skin. I doubt if the same effect would occur in humans from eating fruits that have been sprayed, because insecticides are removed by washing the fruit. In some instances, the FDA forbids spraying of foods days or weeks before they are harvested.

CATARACT AND AGE

Mr. T. writes: I am 74 years old and have had a cataract for five years. People tell me I'm too old to have it removed. I would like to know about this as I'm getting one in the other eye.

REPLY

There is no age limit for this operation, provided you are basically healthy, and do not have other eye defects that contribute to blindness.

POISONOUS MUSHROOMS

P. N. writes: Does eating poisonous mushrooms lead to vomiting?

REPLY

Yes, and the upchucking may be violent and excessive. The outcome depends upon the types of mushrooms ingested. In some instance the mortality rate goes as high as 50 per cent.

SURGERY DURING PREGNANCY

S. P. wirtes: Is it safe for a pregnant woman to have her varicose veins stripped?

REPLY

Yes, but operations of these types usually are done after the baby is born.

Film Festival Slated For Fine Arts Palace

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Palace of Fine Arts and Sciences, built for a 1915 fair and reconstructed at a cost of $7 million, will be the setting for the 14th annual San Francisco International Film Festival.

Claude Jarman, the festival's executive director who announced the Oct. 21 through Nov. 1 schedule Wednesday, said the move would mean a "reshuffling" of finances.

Last year the festival was held in the Masonic Auditorium atop Nob Hill, which seats 2,300 compared to the Palace's 1,000 seats.

Many of the faces on the program will be familier—actor Paul Newman, actress Rosalind Russell and filmmakers Francois Truffaut, Satyajit Ray and Luis Bunuel.

Jarman and program director Albert Johnson said the 12 days of nearly non-stop movies would be highlighted by the afternoon "craft of cinema" series in which directors and performers appear personally and answer questions following a retrospective of their works.

Starting the 23 evening features will be the premiere of "The Great White Hope," based on Howard Sackler's Pulitzer Prize winning play about boxer Jack Johnson.

The last of the featured pictures will be Bunuel's "Tristana."

Other evening features include Truffaut's "The Wild Child;" Pier Paolo Pasolini's "Media," starring Maria Callas in a non-singing role; "Puzzle of a Downfall Child," starring Faye Dunaway; Claude Sautet's "The Things of Life," with Romy Schneider; Claude Chabrol's "Le Boucher;" "Bloomfield," directed by and starring Richard Harris; and Ray's "Days and Nights in the Forest."

Johnson said most are either "prize winning films from European festivals or films having their premieres here."

Stanford Students Warned: No Refunds

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—Registering students are being warned that if campus violence should close Stanford University, tuition and other payments won't be refunded.

In a booklet to all students, the school also declared this week it was doing "everything possible" to avoid such a closing.

TV REVIEW

KQED 'Mix' Is Innovation In Television

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—As all visitors know, even a temporary trip to San Francisco is good for the soul. So perhaps it is only logical that the handsome city by the bay should produce a television series celebrating life in the notably disheveled year of 1970.

The name of the program is "The San Francisco Mix." In brief, it is an hour electronic montage of human experiences we all share — each week exploring, individually, such subjects as worshipping, eating, courting, dying, playing and dressing—and so on for half a year.

And it will have its debut next week, coast to coast, on about 190 stations of the noncommercial Public Broadcast Service network.

Originating the show will be San Francisco's KQED, regarded in the industry as one of the nation's most exciting, innovative and "with-it" video stations. Among its achievements is the nationally famous "Newsroom" program, a local nightly offering of informal, in-depth and frequently critical reportage in which a corps of astute newsmen discuss the day's events, city-room style, in a most human manner.

As it happens, the general manager of KQED, Richard Moore, is also executive proucer of "The San Francisco Mix," which he says is a try "to uncover what we share in common as members of the human family.

"Television," he notes, "has developed the problem-oriented program to a high degree, so much so that we tend to see human beings not as human beings but as symbols for large abstractions such as the generation gap, hard hats versus hippies, rock versus classical music, doves versus hawks, etc. The 'Mix' will concentrate on the human being in his unikueness, rather than as representative of an idea or a broad scale problem."

Adds producer Zev Putterman: "Agnew's comment about the Eastern elite is right. There is a universe going on that we forget about. We must get to people who are not like us."

The premiere "MIX" broadcast deals with "joining—coming together." At its best, it has the tone of a sort of adult "Sesame Street"—a primer on life-styles for post-schoolers, complete with four amusing people who offer definitions of key words we really ought to know the meaning of. There is splendidly hip photography, music and animation.

The whole approach is cool in the best modern sense, and the result is quite a good show. It has flaws—such as a blood-bank sequence with a too-obvious point and unclear execution. But it is the potential of the series that registers most. We see, for instance, a charming impromptu sequence in which a Chinese-American and a bearded fellow discuss their different faical features. We watch exuberant gospel singing at a black church, and visit a county fair, and see Chinatown.

But above all—whether we are watching a middleaged couple dance in a ballroom, or see an angry street film, or a pair of classical pianists—we sense a simple, all-embracing affection and compassion for the human condition, no matter how trivial or absurd or extreme. And that is what the "Mix" is really trying to be all about.

In its better moments, the show is wholly impressionistic video. And, says Mr. Moore: "What we are beginning to learn is, that what communicates on television is not data nor analysis, not packages of facts or numbers, but gesture, tone, rhythm, symbol, temperature. And just as green fields sell cigarettes and a frozen face can lose an election—at least until it is coached into a semblance of mobility—this ammunition of communication can be put to proper human uses . . .

"We have talked too long about our intentions and not enough about that transactional event that occurs between the viewer and his set."

U.S. Steel's Architect Is Picketed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The prestigious architectural firm of Skidmore, Owings and Merrill has been picketed by protestors angered over the firm's role in designing the 550-foot tall U.S. Steel complex proposed for the city waterfront.

The score of protestors Wednesday accused the firm of "architectural complicity in the destruction of the urban environment."

They handed out leaflets and silver-frosted heart-shaped cookies which they said symbolized the firm's "hearts of steel."

The protestors said they oppose the proposed complex because it "promises to rob San Francisco of one of its greatest amenities—visual and physical access to the waterfront."

Chuck Bassett, a partner in the firm and principal designer of the proposed structure, came down and had an extended friendly talk with the demonstrators.

"But I don't think anybody changed their opinions," Bassett said. "We have studied this thing very carefully and we are convinced we are giving the city a marvelous urban addition in an appropriate location."

Baby Girl Born To Natalie Wood

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Actress Natalie Wood has given birth to a baby girl, it was announced today by Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

A hospital spokesman said the child was born Tuesday and both mother and daughter are "doing fine."

Miss Wood is married to English actor-director Richard Gregson. It was her first child.

By DAVID EINSTEIN

One of the fiercest if not the oldest of Marin County high school football rivalries will serve to kickoff the 1970 Marin County Athletic League season tomorrow afternoon when the Redwood Giants, who are low on veterans, host the Tamalpais Indians, who are low on players, at 4 o'clock in the first of three league games this weekend.

San Rafael hosts Novato tomorrow night, and on Saturday night, Terra Linda and Drake clash at San Rafael in what could be one of the most important games of the year. Both games start at 8 o'clock.

The first game of the MCAL season will be played tomorrow, not today as incorrectly reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

In other games involving Marin and Sonoma county teams, Petaluma opens the North Bay I League season at home against Vallejo tomorrow night at 8, and Saturday afternoon Marin Catholic hosts Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park, and San Rafael Military Academy entertains Ione, both games beginning at two o'clock.

The key to the Tam-Redwood game will be whether Tam Indian coach Mike Davlin can juggle his lineup enough to keep eight players from dropping dead from exhaustion. That's how many he'll have going both ways, because the Tam roster numbers only 28, two of whom are injured.

The Indians, who stomped Skyline of Oakland, 35-18 after losing their opener to Salesian of Richmond, 13-9, would be solid favorites but for the fact that they will be playing without the services of starting fullback Mark Costello and tackle Van Westerbeke. Both suffered knee injuries in the Skyline game and will miss at least two league games.

Davlin believes it will be a pretty even, low scoring game. "Their defense is unpredictable, you don't know what kind of formation they'll be in at any given time," he said.

The loss of Costello will especially hurt the Tam offense, in which he played a prominent role as inside runner and blocking back. "If we had him our chances would be a lot better," Davlin said.

The Indians' offense will center around the running of Clifford Hall and Bill Washington, a pair of speedburning halfbacks, but junior quarterback Pat Locey has shown he can throw when he has to. Last week he tossed two touchdown passes to another junior, split end Greg Biber.

Redwood has a problem of depth, too, but in experience rather than numbers. According to assistant coach Jess Payan, only four players on the starting offense and five on defense had ever started in a varsity game before this year.

Against Tam the Giants will go with the offense that gave them their only touchdown in two exhibition games — the passing of quarterback Bob Brown.

"We're really going to put the ball in the air," head coach Phil Roark said yesterday. "Brown's getting a little confidence in himself and in our front line."

The Giants lost to Sacred Heart of San Francisco, 7-0, and then to Encinal of Alameda, 15-7, but in the final quarter of that game Brown directed Redwood ona 63-yard touchdown march that culminated with a 12-yard screen pass to fullback Andy Anixter.

Roark reports that his entire club is healthy and that, "Our kids are really up for the game. We've had one of our best weeks of practice."

Anixter is completely recovered from a bruised knee that had been bothering him, and guards Gary Shunk and Steve Green have shaken off the bronchitis that kept them on the bench last week.

Roark, unlike Davlin, foresees a high scoring game, hopefully with his team getting most of the points.

A Banner Year For Al Murray

Allan B. Murray of San Rafael, president of the San Francisco Giants Boosters Club, has had quite a year.

First, he went to Japan without a visa to arrange the Boosters' spring training junket in the Orient. Allan — the tour leader — was detained three embarrassing days in Hong Kong.

Then, serving as an advance man for the club's trip to Cincinnati this summer, he somehow wound up in Savannah, Ga. by getting on the wrong plane.

ALLAN MURRAY

He is about to be sued by one prospective Booster who claims he defamed her character. She asked about "Niggers" in Murray's club and he said the only color barrier was a yellow streak down the spine, "... which leaves you out lady." He laughed: "How can she sue me for defamation of character when she has none."

"A law suit is the least of my worries," said Murray yesterday as he looked back on the 1970 season that saw his Boosters travel to such places as Japan, Phoenix, San Diego, Los Angeles, Atlanta, Cincinnati, New York and Montreal.

"This year we were snowed out (in Montreal), rained out (in Atlanta), kicked out (in Cincinnati where the Boosters tickets were lost), frozen out (in Japan) and pooped out in Atlanta where we spent nine hours during a doubleheader that was interrupted five times by rain).

Will Try For Blackout In 1971

"Next year," said Murray, "I'll see to it that we're blacked out. I'm going to schedule a night game at Chicago's Wrigley Field."

Murray, as tour leader, is subject to numerous requests by his flock, many of whom are in their advanced years. "The Boosters still lead the National League in canes, crutches and wheelchairs," said Murray.

One lady approached the sweltering Murray and gushed: "My Gawd, Allan, can't you do SOMETHING about this?"

"Well, let me think about it a few minutes," replied the leader who does many things but has not yet acquired Godlike powers.

Another eldery dowager, fretful of the wave of highjacks, asked Murray: "Allan, can you get us some winter schedules for Cuba?"

Murray himself got into two embarrassing jams this season. The first time was when he went to Japan and forgot a small item like a visa.

Strange Accents In Cincinnati

Then, en route to arrange the trip in Cincinnati, he debarked at Chicago for a quick drink during a brief layover, got back on the wrong plane and didn't realize it until he landed in Savannah, Ga., a far piece from Cincinnati.

"I didn't realize it until we landed and people started calling me 'ya' all' I thought, 'Gee, I didn't know people talked like that in Cincinnati.'"

All in all, it was an exciting and eventful year for the man who started the boosters club with 30 members in 1968 and now has 1,700 persons on the roster.

Perry To Hurl Finale

HOUSTON (UPI)—If things go right tonight, the San Francisco Giants can record their sixth straight second place finish in the National League.

The Giants, who will pitch 23-game winner Gaylord Perry against the Houston Astros, need a victory, coupled with a San Diego win over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

NO MAKE-UP

That would give San Francisco an 87-75 season-ending record, compared to 86-75 for Los Angeles. The National League office has ruled that the Dodgers will not make up a rainout against the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Giants failed to move up Wednesday night, losing to the Astros, 4-3, on a ninth inning single by Johnny Edwards which scored Denis Menke with the winning run.

The win extended Houston's winning streak to six straight and clinched fourth place in the NL West.

The Giants built up a 3-1 lead with single runs in the first, fifth and sixth, but Houston scored twice in the sixth to tie it up.

RUNS

Consecutive singles by Tito Fuentes, Willie Mays and Willie McCovey provided San Francisco with its first run. Bobby Bonds hit his 26th home run in the fifth and the Giants got their final run in the sixth on back-to-back doubles by Dick Dietz and Ken Henderson.

Don McMahon, who had entered in relief of starter Juan Marichal, took the loss, his fifth against nine wins.

SPORT IS GROWING FAST

Champs Say Marin Needs Public Handball Courts

By RALPH CHATOIAN

There are no public handball facilities in Marin County and if you talk to Stan Clawson or Frank Elias of San Rafael they'll be the first to tell you it's a crying shame.

And if they sound somewhat prejudiced it is only because they form Northern California's No. 1 Masters Division handball team.

In masters competition, one partner has to be over 45 and the other over 40. Clawson, who lives at 479 Blackstone Drive, is 46, and Elias, of 71 Coleman Drive, is 44. Both are members of the Central San Francisco YMCA and South End Rowing Club of San Francisco, and do their handball playing at both clubs.

"It's really a shame we don't have any handball courts in Marin County," said Clawson, owner of diamond Chemical Co., a San Francisco carpet and drapery cleaning business. "It's a good activity for young people for so many reasons."

"We sure need facilities in Marin," said Elias, an assistant regional director for Labor Management Service Administration in San Francisco. "Handball is growing so fast it is just amazing."

Clawson, father of three, has competed in tournament handball for 10 years and Elias, who has six children, for six. They have competed together in doubles for the past three years.

In addition to winning the Northern California masters title at San Jose this year, they were runners-up in the state championships at Hollywood and western regionals at San Francisco's Olympic Club. They finished third this year in the nationals at Los Angeles and were second last year.

They usually work out about three times a week, usually after work, for about one or two hours a crack.

"Right before a tournament we might increase it to four times a week," said Elias about practice. "That will get you just sharp enough for a tournament."

For Clawson, it was natural for him to get involved in handball for his father, Rennie, won the Utah State and Rocky Mountain titles 16 striaght years.

"He was unbeatable on his home court in Salt Lake," Clawson said. "He would take on national champions and beat them." By the age of 10, Stan was already playing handball. He and his family have been living in Marin County for the last 12 years.

Elias started playing handball to keep physically fit. Before long the native Californian was improving to the point of tournament play.

"Handball is a great sport," said Elias. "There is a lot of violent activity to keep you in shape and it doesn't take a great deal of time. Because of no nearby facilities, his six children, ranging in age from 10 to 18, play no handball, but do some track and cross-country running.

The two men point out there are two handball facilities in Marin County, both private. There's Hamilton Field's courts, open only to servicemen, and the courts at San Marin, open to residents and members.

"Marin County is very backward in sports facilities," Clawson complained. "Handball is the up and coming sport, even in colleges. They hope to get it in the Olympics in 1972. You would think a county such as this would have facilities for handball."

Someday, fellas, maybe someday.

Weaver Signs With Orioles

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Earl Weaver today signed his 1971 contract to manage the Baltimore Orioles for another season.

Harry Dalton, director of player personnel, said the pact contained a salary increase but he refused to divulge the terms.

It is the 16th contract as manager in the Orioles' organization for the 40-year-old skipper. In 15 years of piloting teams in the majors and minors, Weaver has guided his teams to first or second-place finishes 11 times.

POSSIBLE STRIKE

Umps Want More Pay

NEW YORK (UPI) — Major League umpires are hinting at the possibility of a strike before Saturday's opening games of the Championship Playoffs.

Augie Donatelli, a 20-year-veteran umpire in the National League, avoided the use of the word "serike" Wednesday and indicated, "we haven't made any statements to that effect, but you can read between the lines."

WANT RAISE

The basic issue is money. The umpires received $2,500 per man for covering playoffs last year and $6,500 for the World Series. They are asking $5,000 for playoffs and $10,000 for the series.

"We intend asking for $5,000 and $10,000", said Donatelli, a member of the National League Umpires Board of Directors. "We believe they owe us that much. We have always accepted their terms and we have always come up short. We intend to go a little further this time and we hope they're a little more generous."

Donatelli added that the leagues had offered umpires a raise for post-season work but called the offer, "inadequate."

CLOSED DOORS

The league presidents, Joe Cronin of the American and Charles "Chub" Feeney of the National held a three-hour closed door meeting at Shea Stadium Wednesday with baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and refused to comment on the situation.

"We did not hold the meeting to discuss the umpire problem," said Kuhn. "We met to go over general policies involving the playoffs and the World Series. The umpires' situation did come up at the meeting but I can't comment on that right now. It definitely is a problem but I just can't discuss it at the present time."

MEET FRIDAY

Donatelli said the umpires will mee twith their attorney, John Reynolds in Chicago Friday at the Umpires Annual Meeting. He said the umpires' demands would be made at that time.

"This is no threat to league officials," said Donatelli, "but we do believe we should get more money. The players get it and we're out there everyday too."

The anticipation of an umpiring problem apparently has been present for some time. It was learned Wednesday that several minor league umpires had been contacted by the leagues to act as strikebreakers in the event of a walkout Saturday.

Van Dillen And Ulrich Are Tennis Dropouts

BERKELEY (UPI) — Erik Van Dillen and Denmark's Torben Ulrich have withdrawn from the $32,000 Pacific Coast International Tennis Open but for different reasons.

Van Dillen, the promising youngster from San Mateo who turned pro recently, experienced a sharp pain in his side and defaulted to Clark Graebner on Wednesday.

Ulrich apparently was feeling the effects of the recent wave of warm weather and the sharp play of his opponent. Ulrich retired from his match with Tom Gorman of Seattle after dropping the first set 3-6.

BARRY OUT

All of the favorites advanced in impressive fashion with the exception of tournament chairman Barry McKay of Ross. He got by Bill Brown of Omaha 6-3, 4-6, 6-3 in the first round but then fell before Ray Ruffels of Australia 6-3, 7-6.

The tournament's top two seeds, Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., and Arthur Ashe, also advanced. Richey defeated South Africa's Ray Moore in straight 6-2 sets while Ashe ousted Haroon Rahim of Pakistan and UCLA 6-4, 6-2.

It was a long and fruitful day for Bob Lutz of Los Angeles. He downed Berkeley's Bob Alloo 7-5, 4-6, 6-2 in the opening round and came back a short while later to eliminate Australia's Terry Addison 7-6, 4-6, 6-3.

SELLOUT

Billie Jean King proved that interest in women's tennis is far from waning by disposing of Eliza Pande of Palo Alto 6-4, 6-3 before a sellout crowd of 1,100 at the Golden Gate Center in San Francisco. The day before about 200 fewer fans turned out to watsh Ashe win his first match.

Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, the second-seeded woman, downed Esme Emanuel of South Africa 6-2, 6-3. In a match continued from Tuesday, San Francisco's Marcelyn Louie defeated Kristy Pigeon of Danville 7-6, 6-7, 6-4.

Other U.S. Davis Cup players who advanced were Stan Smith of Pasadena and Charles Pasarell of Stanford. Smith turned back Patricio Cornejo of Pure limestone water. Part of the Beam family art for 175 years.

Baker Beam and Booker are out on Beam's own fresh-water lake, collecting a water sample. Sweet, soft, and iron-free, it's as much a part of the Beam formula as the measures of choice grains. Together, Booker and Baker represent the sixth generation of the only Kentucky family that's made the same Bourbon since 1795.

So when you sip Jim Beam, savor its quality and its light taste. That's what we mean when we say it's a 175-year-old family art.

Reds, Orioles Are Favored

By U. P. International

STATELINE, Nev. — The Cincinnati Reds and Baltimore Orioles have been installed as favorites for the baseball playoffs this weekend.

Harrah's Tahoe Racebook listed the Reds as 10-13 favorites to beat Pittsburgh in the National League playoff and the Orioles 2-3 over Minnesota in the American League.

In other baseball news:

SAN DIEGO — Cuban born Preston Gomez, 47, will return as manager of the San Diego Padres next season with the same coaching staff, the club announced Wednesday.

"I'm pleased to be back," Gomez said. "I've been reading how many times I've been fired."

General manager Eddie Leishman said, "There was no point this season when Gomez job was in jeopardy."

Terms of Gomez' one-year contract were not disclosed.

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Cardinals rounded out their 1971 coaching staff Wednesday by naming Ken Boyer hitting coach and Barney Schultz pitching coach. The two will replace Dick Sisler and Billy Muffett, whose contracts were not renewed.

Boyer, who spent 15 years in the majors, managed the Cardinals' AA Arkansas farm club to second place in the Texas League this year.

Football

MIAMI — In a surprise move announced Wednesday at a hastily called news conference, Charlie Tate resigned as head football coach and athletic director of the University of Miami.

Tate, gravel-voiced mentor of the Hurricanes for the past six seasons, said that he had regretfully determined to resign "after very careful and soul searching consideration."

There was some speculation that dissatisfaction among influential alumni with Tate's performance may have played a part in the colorful coach's resignation.

Boxing

SAN FRANCISCO — Promising local middleweight Nate Collins signed Wednesday for his biggest fight against former champion Emile Griffith at the Cow Palace Nov. 10. Collins, winner of his last seven fights, was overjoyed at the chance to fight Griffith, listed as the No. 1 contender to world middleweight champion Nino Benvenuti.

Tennis

VANCOUVER, B.C. — Roy Emerson, an Australian tennis player who now makes his home in Newport Beach, Calif., had to rely heavily on his many years of experience Wednesday to hold off up-and-coming Nicki Pilic of Yugoslavia in the $40,000 Rothman's International Indoor Championship.

Emerson, who was seeded fourth, outlasted his unseeded opponent in the two-hour marathon to emerge the victor by a 7-6, 1-6, 6-4, tally.

Golf

WILMINGTON, N.C. — Defending champion Dale Douglass is depending on some copper to help iron out his game during the Azalea Open golf tournament today. He will be wearing a copper bracelet to ward off a pain he used to have in his wrist.

"I had wrist trouble before I started wearing the bracelet, but since I started wearing it March 5, I haven't had any trouble with my wrist at all," said Douglas, who won the 1969 Azalea tournament with a 72-hole score of 275.

GOTEBORG, Sweden — Jean Geraiald of France shot a four-under-par 67 Wednesday to take the lead in the $40,000 Volvo Open golf tournament.

American Jack Nicklaus and Belgium's Donald Swaelans went around the 6,476-yard Delsjoe course in 68 to tie for second after the first round of the 72-hole tournament.

MADRID — French women golfers set out today to consolidate their first day four-stroke lead over the United States in the women's World Amateur golf championships. The French girls confidently strode into the lead with two under par scores and a third one-over-par round.

BOWLING TIPS

For the normal hook bowler, the ball should roll over the second lane arrow from the right to make a strike. You may have to adjust your starting position for consistent pocket hits, but never change your arrow target.

49ers' Depth Will Get Stiff Test

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Depth of the San Francisco 49ers could be put to a big test against the Falcons at Atlanta on Sunday.

At the moment, starters Charlie Krueger, Dick Witcher and Doug Cunningham are ailing but Sam Silas, rookies John Isenbarger and Preston Riley and Jimmy Thomas are standing in the wings.

Krueger, veteran defensive lineman, was hospitalized the first three days of this week and kept in traction to cure a muscle spasm. But Krueger figures a couple of days work will get him back in shape for the Falcons. If not, Silas will fill in.

Isenbarger was switched from running back to wide receiver to help out Riley who will fill in for Witcher. He suffered a shoulder separation in last week's win over Cleveland and will be out at least two weeks.

Cunningham will share one of the running back spots with Thomas after being slowed with bruises against the Browns.

But the 49ers should be in fairly good shape because Silas, Isenbarger, Riley and Thomas saw a great deal of action in the exhibition season.

BASIC RULE IGNORED — Boston pitcher, Mike Nagy, covering home plate in last night's final game of the season for the Red Sox, made a fundamental mistake by watching the runner (top photo), in this case Yankee pitcher Fritz Peterson, instead of the ball. So Nagy missed the throw from catcher Bob Montgomery, and Peterson was safe. The run led to a 4-3 New York win. (UPI Telephoto)

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

'Rinky Dink' Titles On Line

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

If, as the late Vince Lombardi said, second place is rinky dink, then both East and West rinky dink championships of the National League will be at stake tonight.

The New York Mets and Chicago Cubs, who had hoped to be battling it out for the East Division championship, meet with "only" second place at stake in tonight's final game of the regular season. Rinky Dink or not, second place is still worth approximately $1,200 a player . . .enough to pay the fuel bills through a long, cold winter.

Runner-up honors in the West will also be decided tonight when the Los Angeles Dodgers play at San Diego and the San Francisco Giants visit Houston. The Dodgers currently hold a half game lead over the Giants and will finish either a half game ahead or a half game behind since they will play one less game than San Froncisco. The unusual circumstance came about in August when a Dodger game in Philadelphia was rained out and never rescheduled since it would have no effect on firstp lace in either division.

The seven-hit shutout pitching of Bill Hands gave the Cubs a 2-0 victory over the Mets Wednesday and enabled Chicago to draw even with New York with identical records of 83-78. The Dodgers retained their half game lead for second place in the West despite dropping a 2-1 decision to San Diego since the Giants lost to Houston 4-3. In the only other NL games, Montreal beat Philadelphia 5-4 and St. Louis edged Pittsburgh 4-3. Atlanta and Cincinnati were idle.

In the American League, New York nipped Boston 4-3, Baltimore downed Washington 6-2, Minnesota beat Kansas City 6-4, Detroit shaded Cleveland 4-3, Milwaukee downed Oakland 4-1 and California tripped Chicago 5-1.

Novatan Loses At Senior Tennis

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)— Carl Bush of Downey, Calif., defeated Stephen Graves of Novato, 6-2, 2-6, 6-1 Wednesday to win the 70-over title at the National Seniors Hard Court tennis Championships.

He then teamed with Frank Roberts of Towsan, Md., to score a 6-1, 6-4 victory over the Pasadena, Calif., duo of Walter Westbrook and Edward Melvin in the 70-over doubles finals.

Kenneth Beer of Hillsborough, Calif., took the 65-69 crown with a 6-1, 4-6, 6-3 win over Ron Brandon of Anaheim, Calif.

In the 65-69 doubles finals, Marion Hawks of El Segundo, Calif., and Westbrook teamed to beat Wyn Morris of Henrietta, Okla., and Beer 6-4, 6-4.

UNDERDOG 49ERS

Raiders Rated Slim Choice Over Miami

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Oakland Raiders' high hopes for winning the National Football League's American Conference title looked a little dimmer Wednesday when they were made only a 3½-point favorite over the iMami Dolphins for Saturday's game.

Oakland opened the season with a loss to Cincinnati and then was tied by San Diego last week, and the oddsmakers remember that Miami gave the Raiders fits last year. Miami tied Oakland in their first meeting and then lost in the final minute on George Blanda's field goal in the second game.

The Pittsburgh Steelers' game with the Browns at Cleveland was the only other Saturday game, and no line was offered on it.

In professional games Sunday, the New York Jets were 14 points over the Buffalo Bills, the Houston Oilers four over the Cincinnati Bengals, the Washington Redskins 6½ over the Philadelphia Eagles, the Atlanta Falcons two over the San Francisco 49ers, the Dallas Cowboys four over the St. Louis Cardinals, the New Orleans Saints one over the New York Giants, the Minnesota Vikings eight over the Green Bay Packers and the Los Angeles Rams 12 over the San Diego Chargers.

There was no line offered on the Baltimore Colts' game against the Patriots at Boston and the Kansas City Chiefs' contest against the Broncos at Denver.

In Monday night's television game, the Detroit Lions were listed as an 11-point choice over the Chicago Bears. It is one of only four games where the home team is favored. The other home favorites are Atlanta, New Orleans and Los Angeles.

Ulla Britta Wins

SAN MATEO (UPI) — Ulla Britta ran away from the field and finished a four-and-a-half length victory Wednesday in the 23rd running of the $10,000 added Tanforan Lassie Stakes at Bay Meadows.

Amusing Anecdotes From An Old Coach

HOUSTON — It was a typical Touchdown Club luncheon with Bo Hagan, Rice's football coach, detailing logical reasons why the Owls are looking at California's Golden Bears with new found respect.

Hagan said he didn't have to give his Owls any pep talk for Saturday's session with the Bears. "They already have noted that Cal handled Indiana last week (56-14) like Texas handled them (56-15) the week before," said Hagan.

AND HAGAN also recalled that a week earlier Indiana lost a close one (16-9) to Colorado. "Everybody knows what the Buffs did to Penn State on TV last Saturday," said Hagan.

It was a succinct summation of the obvious and Hagan, knowing there was a featured speaker on the program, sat down. Houston's Touchdown Club members were grateful to Hagan for being brief. They pushed their chairs back and relaxed as Frank Howard strode to the rostrum.

HOWARD, NOW retired as Clemson's winningest football coach, never is at a loss for words or an anecdote. His first one was aimed at himself.

"A friend," he said, "once told me I shouldn't say 'ain't' as much as I do. So I went to the head of Clemson's English department. He asked me how many speeches I made a year and I told him about 2,000. He told me to keep talking any way I want because he had 65 English professors under him and they all were so concerned with grammar that between them they made about two speeches a year."

HAVING RIBBED himself, Howard then ribbed Baptists ("I hear they are adopting a more liberal attitude — two of them talked to each other in a liquor store the other day"); politicians ("Ted Kennedy now is in charge of a driver education program"); and, of course, Bear Bryant of Alabama.

"Bear's got a good thing going for him," said Howard. "They tutored him for two years to get him in school and now they can't get him out.

"He's in so good that he can hire a new president for the school and give him a one year, make good contract.

"I retired myself after 30 years at Clemson but it looks like Bear is at Alabama forever."

HOWARD SAID one trend in football never will disappear — "it's always seemed to me that those dumb boys run a little harder and a little faster than those smart guys."

He recalled one player he had who loved pizzas — "he wasn't very smart but he knew he liked pizzas. One night he went into a cafe and instead of ordering the three or four he was capable of eating, he ordered only one.

"The waiter asked him if he wanted it sliced into four or six pieces and the kid replied 'I don't think I can eat six."

AS ALWAYS, Howard closed on a serious note.

"Folks," he said, "you better keep supporting your favorite college football team or we're in serious trouble. To my knowledge, that's the last place where discipline is left. If we lose it there, it's gone forever."

Brodie Is Top Passer

NEW YORK (UPI)—John Brodie might be the man who can make a miracle this season for the San Francisco 49ers.

Brodie unloaded a 61-yard touchdown pass to Jimmy Thomas last week to beat Cleveland 34-31 and give San Francisco a 2-0 record in the National Football League's National Conference. In the game, he hit nine different receivers with 20 of 31 passes for 277 yards and three TDs and wound up at the top of the National Conference passing statistics.

37 OF 52

Replacing Los Angeles' Roman Gabriel at the top of the statistics, Brodie has 37 completions in 52 tries for 455 yards and four TDs. Gabriel is second with 31 completions in 54 tries for 387 yards and three touchdowns, and Bill Munson of Detroit is third, hitting on 20 of 33 for 200 yards and two touchdowns.

Larry Brown leads conference rushers for the Washington Redskins with 23 tries for 188 yards and two TDS, followed by MacArthur Lane of St. Louis with 35 carries for 177 yards and Dallas' Calvin Hill with 177 yards on 41 runs.

Ron Johnson of the New York Giants continues to lead receivers with 14 catches for 133 yards

SCORERS

Mel Farr with four touchdowns for 24 points and kicking specialist Errol Mann with 24 points on nine extra points and five of seven field goal tries have provided the punch for the surprising Detroit Lions to share the scoring lead.

Hour Of Decision For A's Finley

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland Athletics are on the brink of their best season in four decades but the feeling of security is hardly infectious.

A victory over the Milwaukee Brewers tonight would give Oakland its 89th victory of the season which is a plateau last reached in 1932 during the Connie Mack era in Philadelphia. That year the Athletics also finished second.

Owner Charles O. Finley is due in Oakland tonight to watch lefthander Vida Blue (2-0) wind up the 1970 season against Marty Pattin (14-12) of the Brewers. In his last appearance at the Oakland Coliseum, the hard-throwing Blue hurled a no-hitter at the Minnesota Twins who are 9 1-2 games ahead of the A's atop the American League West.

But Finley arrives amid an aura of rumor, wild speculation and downright unhappiness among several members of the A's.

The majority of the players feel manager John McNamara has done an excellent job this season and they would like to see him return. But this would seem to go against the executive grain of Finley who has had nearly a different manager every year since he bought the club in 1961.

Finley said he wouldn't make a decision on McNamara until the end of the season and that hour has arrived.

"All I know is what I read in the newspapers," McNamara repeated after Milwaukee defeated the A's 4-1 Wednesday night behind the pitching of Skip Lockwood and Ken Sanders, two former Athletic farmhands.

Reggie Jackson, the A's young slugging outfielder who had an off-year in 1970, seemed to capsule the situation when he commented:

"Nothing that happens in this organization surprises me. Nothing."

Vikes Trying To Get Mira From Eagles

ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — George Mira, former San Francisco 49er quarterback most recently owned by the Philadelphia team, may join the Minnesota Vikings if he can solve his contract problems with the Eagles.

Vikings Manager Jim Finks said Wednesday the Vikings were interested in Mira and had been in contact with him and his attorney for about two weeks over the telephone.

Mira reportedly had a two-year, no-cut contract for $50,000 with Philadelphia and although a team picking him up would not have to honor it, Philadelphia would have to pay the difference between it and any new salary he would receive.

The Vikings would plan to use him as a backup to Gary Cuozzo if he signs. The Vikings have no experienced man behind Cuozzo since Joe Kapp refused to sign his 1970 contract.

Gurney Hints Retirement

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI)— Dan Gurney, regarded as America's No. 1 road racer, may end his driving career in Sunday's Trans-Am sedan event here.

"I won't say this will be my last race but then again I have no plans for any others at the moment," the Southern California veteran said.

Gurney will pilot a Plymouth Barracuda in the Mission Bell 200 at the Riverside International Raceway.

COLLEGE NOTES

Marin Gridders Go To Paradise

College of Marin Tars' one consolation in their 29-7 loss to College of the Redwoods last week was that they didn't have to go to Eureka, home of the Corsairs, to get beaten. The game was played at Kentfield.

That advantage may be nullified this week when the Black and Gold journey nearly 200 miles to Paradise, Calif., for a game Saturday night against Butte College.

"We have a good chance this week," Tar coach Dick Read said yesterday, noting that Butte, like Marin, has suffered two straight losses.

The brightest spot in the Marin lineup is safety John Dohn, who intercepted three passes against College of the Redwoods. He now has nine thefts in his two year career, and with seven games left on the 1970 schedule, seems a good bet to erase Karl Stein's school record of 15.

MARIN'S CROSS COUNTRY team had the home course advantage it enjoyed last Sunday in defeating Laney and San Joaquin junior colleges when the Tars hosted Santa Rosa Junior College this afternoon. The last time Marin was beaten in the hills of Tamalpais was in 1968.

"We don't lose many meets up there," coach Tony Bailey said yesterday. "If our fellows run as well as they can, we should win it."

The Tar runners have been plagued by strange happenings lately, and hopefully things will go smoothly today. Last week, Sean O'Reilly lost his shoe in the ocean during a beach run at San Mateo.

Sunday something stranger occurred. Minutes before the race was to start, Marin runner Jay Neuhaus had to withdraw from the competition since, as a volunteer fireman, he had to answer an alarm siren that was blaring down in Kentfield.

MARIN'S WATER POLO team slugged it out with Diablo Valley Junior College on Tuesday, and the Tars lost, 11-7 at Kentfield. "They killed us in the second quarter, when they scored five times to our once," coach Bob Justice said.

Overall, however, Justice said he was pleased with the way the Marin boys played, especially since it was their first game of the season.

A thought for today: American statesman Daniel Webster said, "Thank God, I also am an American."

Nixon Approves Rec Study For Lake Tahoe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House has announced President Nixon's approval of legislation providing $50,000 for a one-year study on the feasibility of establishing a national lakeshore along Lake Tahoe in California and Nevada.

The new law calls for devising "alternative means of restoring and preserving the values inherent in the area under present ownership patterns" to protect the natural and recreational features of the famous lake.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Show This Column Next Time You Hear 'Play Second Hand Low'

Ever since you started to play bridge you've heard people advising one another to play "second hand low." That is, if declarer leads a card from his own hand or from the dummy, it is usually right to play low if you are next to act. It's all very correct, but you can get some attention if you clip out today's hand and show it the next time somebody sounds off about second hand low.

HEART LEAD

Declarer won the first trick in dummy with the ace of hearts and led a spade for a finesse. West won with the king of spades and continued the hearts, forcing South to ruff.

Now South was in trouble. If he drew trumps he would have only one trump left. And if he then led a diamond to drive out the king, back would come a heart to remove declarer's last trump. Whenever South next led diamonds, West would take the ace of diamonds and two good hearts.

South saw the problem when he ruffed the second heart. Instead of making his problem obvious to the defenders, South led a club to dummy's king and returned a low diamond from dummy.

FOLLOWS RULE

East followed the old rule, playing a low diamond in second position. A brilliant West might have refused the trick, but West actually took the kueen of diamonds with the ace. West then led a third heart, forcing South to ruff again.

South drew trumps, using up all of his trumps in the process, and then led diamonds, driving out the king. But now East was out of hearts. No matter what East returned, South could take the rest with high clubs and diamonds.

East should defeat the contract by stepping up with the king if diamonds when the suit is first led from dummy. East wins and can lead his third heart, forcing South to ruff for the second time. South may draw trumps and lead the diamonds, but West gets in with the ace of diamonds to cash his last two hearts.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ — 7 4 3
♥ — A 7 6 2
♦ — 7 6
♣ — K 9 8 5.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

Since you have only seven points, the combined count must be 23 to 25 points, with 26 points needed for game. Let your partner enjoy himself at a safe part-score contract.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Crime Protection Is A Growing Field

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am interested in investing in the crime protection industry. Would you comment on Baker Industries and name others in the field? B.W.

A. More and more, people are turning to private enterprise for public services. Crime protection is one phase of this accelerating trend; and business is booming for most companies in this field. It is estimated that private crime fighters took in more than $3 billion last year, nearly double the 1963 figure. One company president estimates that the market is growing at about 10 per cent annually. In fact, about the only "industry" growing faster is crime itself.

While much of the growth in the industry involves such traditional methods as uniformed guard services, the surge in security needs has nurtured dozens of ingenious new devices. Realizing the demand, Baker Industries, a long-established maker of fire-fighting chemicals and detection systems, has been stressing the service end of its protective security business since 1965. The company has acquried several firms which provide fire and burglary alarm surveillance plus several guard service companies.

The Wells Fargo Services Group, which accounted for 77.6 per cent of last year's revenues, offers services such as armored car pick-up and delivery of bank deposits and inter-bank deliveries of cash and securities, etc. Largely as a result of numerous acquisitions, revenues and earnings increased at compound annual rates of 47 per cent and 26 per cent respectively, over the past 4 years. However, because Baker generally uses its common stock for purchasing these firms, near-term earnings growth may be slowed due to the currently depressed price of Baker stock. Excluding any new acquisitions, it is estimated that Baker's profits should improve an average of 8 per cent yearly over the long term.

Although there are hundreds of small, privately owned companies in the field, there are far fewer publicly held firms. Some with varying stakes in crime prevention include: American District Telegraph, Bangor-Punta, Breeze Corp., Wm. J. Burns, Walter Kidde, Pinkerton's and Wackenhut Corp.

Market Close Shows Weak Trading Day

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market finished on a weak note Thursday, with demand restrained by the absence of Jewish traders observing the Rosh Hashonah holiday.

Turnover slowed to around 9,500,000 shares from 14,830,000 shares Wednesday.

Shortly before the final bell, the Dow Jones industrial average was off 1.23 at 759.45. Of the 1,555 issues crossing the tape, 673 declined and 596 gained.

Closing stocks included: AT&T 44 3-4 off 1-2; Chrysler 26 3-8 off 1-2; Ford 51 1-2 off 1-4; Gen El 84 1-4 off 1-4; Gen Motors 72 1-2 up 3-8; SoPac 31 1-2 up 3-8 and U. S. Steel 31 3-8 off 5-8.

Electronics ranged to more than a point in each direction, but other stock groups, including steels, motors, oils, and airlines, generally traded in narrowly irregular fashion.

Chemicals, aircrafts and conglomerates also traded narrowly in most instances.

Some analysts said demand for stocks was restrained by a Commerce Department report of a drop in factory orders in August following a rise in the previous month.

They also noted concern over third quarter corporate earnings and the new uncertainty in the Middle East developing after the death of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Prices were easier in routine trading on the American Stock Exchange.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Work Is Nearly Half Completed On Commerce Clearing House

The skyline over Quail Hill west of the Northgate Mall is starting to show the results of some 11 months of construction work on the $6 million western division headquarters for Commerce Clearing House.

Though it may not be evident from the floor of the valley, heavy construction on the company's 123,000-square foot office building has been about half completed. It involves such impressive features as building 110 concrete piers 30 feet deep, the use of 34 miles of reinforcing cable in each concrete floor and stretching them taut and locking in the tension for all time.

The first and second floors are built and columns are now going up for the third floor. From now on work should proceed much faster, according to CCH chief engineer James Marisco. The lower floor will be used for parking, telephone exchange, computer equipment room and other service facilities. Entrance and lobby is on the second floor which also will contain large dining areas and kitchen. Offices will start on the third floor.

A court open from the lower floor to the top of the building will have a landscaped pool and will be covered with a Rollamatic roof of the type used in the Seven Seas and La Petite Auberge restaurant patios, allowing it to be moved back to expose the court to the sky.

Tree planting and certain landscaping on the 84-acre property was started early, so plants will be well under way by occupancy time. Huge boulders uncovered in grading the land have been strewn over certain areas and have been sprayed with plant seed which eventually will provide natural and artistic cover. A 3.5-acre vineyard has also been planted and should bear grapes in another three years.

Condominiums and single family dwellings are not yet under construction, though their locations have been selected and plans should be submitted soon to the San Rafael Planning Commission for approval.

The view from the top of the hill is magnificent and Commerce Clearing House is to be congratulated for selecting the site for western headquarters and on doing so much to beautify the landscape.

Completion of the office building is scheduled for next June, with another 30 days or so required for the final touches, decorating and furnishing the offices. Look for the law and tax reports firm to move here from San Francisco in July or August.

LEGRANDE W. COLBY of Belvedere, manager of the San Francisco office of Salomon Brothers (investment firm), has been admitted as a limited partner of the company. He joined Salomon at New York in 1948 and moved to the San Francisco office four years later. He was named manager last year.

Colby Hawkins

JOHN A. (JACK) HAWKINS of San Rafael has been appointed vice president and resident manager of a new branch office just opened at 215 Leidesdorff Street, San Francisco by Butler and Co., Inc. of Sacramento. He was formerly with Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. and Earle V. Maynard and Co., San Francisco.

AT THE END OF JUNE there were 121,365 motor vehicles registered in Marin, 98,211 of these passenger automobiles. Trucks accounted for 11,249, trailers 7,323 and motorcycles 4,582.

THERE ARE NOW 110 airplanes based in the county, with an assessed valuation of over $1 million, according to the State Board of Equalization. This is an increase from 80 planes in 1966, valued at $371,000.

A DETECTION DEVICE GOES DING-A-LING

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The metal stays in a brassiere worn by Karen Longo of Chicago caused her nothing but trouble.

Miss Longo was boarding an airplane bound for Chicago here Tuesday when a metal detection meter used primarily to detect firearms hidden on passengers sounded off.

The FBI asked her to submit to a search. After being cleared, she boarded the plane.

But officials at Port Columbus Airport said Miss Lango by then was angry and mentioned that for all the trouble she had gone through, she should hijack the plane.

Again the lady was whisked off the jet and detained by the FBI. After talking with her, the authorities allowed her to continue her trip.

Rites Set For Prison Show Leader

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— A Masonic funeral will be conducted tomorrow for William A. (Bill) Van Ornum, 63, San Francisco, who has arranged the annual New Year talent show at San Quentin Prison for the past 25 years.

Van Ornum died Tuesday in the intensive care ward of the Santa Rosa General Hospital.

"His death will be a tremendous loss to the men in San Quentin Prison," said Associate Warden James Park.

"He arranged all of our New Year 'Show of tSars' for the past two decades and that was quite a job getting stars like Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong, Big Mamma Thornton, Redd Fox, Rhoda Martin and others like them to appear."

Van Ornum, a native Californian, was a member and past master of Jewel Lodge No. 374 and belonged to the Islam Temple. He was president of the Motion Picture Projectionist Union, Local 162.

He was survived by his wife, Florence. Burial will be at Woodlawn Memorial Park, Colma.

St. Francis Hotel Manager Retires

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Dan London, who at one time or another was innkeeper to Jean Harlow, General Douglas MacArthur, and the Shah of Iran, among others, retired Wednesday as managing director of the St. Francis and Sir Francis Drake Hotels.

London graduated from the University of Washington and joined a real estate and property management firm in Seattle.

"The real estate company sent me out to manage an apartment-hotel. The next thing I knew—that was in 1935—I was in San Francisco, where I always wanted to be, and assistant manager of the Sir Francis Drake.

In 1938, London took over the stewardship of the St. Francis, becoming one of the youngest managing directors in the United States.

Medicare Patients Will Pay First $60

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Social Security administration says the nation's 20.4 million elderly persons eligible for Medicare will have to pay the first $60 of their hospital bills starting in January, instead of the present first $52.

"The increase is mandatory under the law," a spokesman said. "It is a result of the long-term upward trend in hospital costs and in part, of course, the general inflation." When Medicare started in 1966 patients only had to pay the first $40 of their bill.
